Roosevelt Begins New England Trip; Landon on Pacific

President Off for Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut and Their 29 Electoral Votes by Train, Automobile.

Republican Accuses Chief Executive of Undermining Individual Liberty in Opening Western Drive in Los Angeles.

WINDUP IS SLATED IN MADISON SQUARE

Major Address Will Be Delivered at Worcester Tonight; Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania Omitted.

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Back on his campaign train after a two-day interlude at the White House, President Roosevelt sped northward tonight in quest of the 29 electoral votes of Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

His two-day dash through New England will begin about 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at Providence, R. I., and take the chief executive by motor and train into more than a score of cities.

Presidential aides said his speech tomorrow night at Worcester, Mass., would be the major one of this third campaign trip.

His departure from the capital life tonight followed a day crowded with conferences, ceremonies and work on the Worcester address.

After canceling an afternoon press conference he called in reporters to say he had no plans to start out after the New England trip on a swing through Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The President changed his mind about going to his Hyde Park, N. Y., home for a few days upon conclusion of his northeastern tour. He arranged instead to return to Washington late Thursday night.

Official business is expected to keep him in the capital over the week end. Monday he is scheduled to attend the dedication of a new chemistry building at Howard University, negro school here, and Tuesday night or Wednesday morning he is to board his special train for New York to participate in commemorating the 50th birthday of the Statue of Liberty.

TERMS INQUIRES POLITICAL CLUBS

Huge Relief Spending Employed To Force Legislators To Obey Administration, He Charges.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—(AP) Governor Alf M. Landon accused the New Deal of "undermining" individual liberty and "tampering" with basic democratic principles tonight in demanding that President Roosevelt be ousted in behalf of a "return to our constitution."

Before an open-air audience in the huge Los Angeles coliseum, the presidential nominee climaxed his west coast dash with an assertion that Roosevelt's re-election would be interpreted as an indorsement of policies Landon said had "abused" the power of government and threatened "our independence."

In his first major talk of his final campaign swing, the Kansan addressed a crowd estimated at 75,000 by Captain H. C. Brawster of the sheriff's office. The Coliseum seats 106,000.

"If we are to preserve our American form of government," the Republican candidate said, "this administration must be defeated."

The Kansan said congressional investigations "have budded and blossomed in unusual and rank profusion" during the Roosevelt administration. Some listeners interpreted his remarks as referring to the house investigation of Dr. F. E. Townsend's old-age pension movement, when the Governor said:

Political Probes.

"Recently, a congressional investigation has been carried on for what seems to be purely political ends. In this case the thinly veiled purpose apparently was to discredit a political movement which the controlling party wishes to crush."

Dr. Townsend has urged followers unable to vote for William Lemke, Union party presidential candidate, to support Landon.

Turning to New Deal relief spending, the nominee said:

"There is unmistakable evidence that these vast funds have been used to force congressmen and senators to support administration measures.

"There is also unmistakable evidence that they have been used to prevent criticism by officials and representatives of local communities. There is unmistakable evidence that these funds have been used in an attempt to prevent freedom of choice at the polls.

"Nothing can be more shameful than the way some of these federal funds have been distributed. Special groups and special localities have been singled out solely for political reasons. Relief funds have been used in an attempt to force our less fortunate fellow citizens to vote for the return of this administration to power. . . ."

34 Persons Drowned As 'Quake Sinks Ship

BATAVIA, Dutch East Indies, Oct. 20.—(UP)—The Netherlands steamer Van Der Wijk, carrying 250 passengers, listed suddenly in calm seas today and sank a few miles from Tandjong Pakis with the loss of 34 lives. A quake, to which Java seas occasionally are subject, was believed responsible for the disaster.

Captain B. C. Akkerman, who was saved, wirelessed in mid-afternoon that the ship was listing heavily. A moment later came an urgent SOS that the ship was sinking.

Seven Dornier flying boats, two Fokker naval bombers and several minesweepers were rushed to the scene. Survivors were struggling in the water or clinging to floating wreckage.

AGENCY PROPOSED TO CARRY THROUGH GRAND JURY WORK

Representative Proposed To Render Aid in Carrying Out Recommendations Made by Body.

By FRANK DRAKE.

Creation of a permanent representative for all Fulton grand juries was being considered by the current grand jury as a means of "carrying through" on constructive grand jury recommendations, authoritative sources revealed yesterday.

It is the first time a move to obtain the services of a permanent grand jury representative has been made in Fulton county, it was said.

Grand jurors feel the need of a representative or agency whose job it would be to keep interest alive in the recommendations made by grand juries, and who would be charged with the duty of presenting the recommendations and plans of the juries to the proper officials after the grand jury has gone out of office.

It was understood the matter has been discussed by the jurymen in the current panel and that the proposition has been suggested to the Fulton county commissioners.

Cost to Taxpayers.

Foreman Elmer L. Stanley said yesterday the only way taxpayers will be able to get the full value of the money paid for grand juries is the creation of a position such as a permanent grand jury representative.

"Grand juries spend much time doing a conscientious job of studying conditions and returning constructive recommendations, but usually nothing is ever done about the recommendations," he declared. "If the county will employ some efficient, intelligent person at a minimum salary and charge him with the duty of 'carrying through' on the recommendations of the various grand juries, then the money spent for the work of the investigating body will not be a loss."

The foreman said he was taking cognizance of the fact the county spends approximately $20,000 a year on the six grand juries, two of which are charged by law with investigating county affairs and all of which have the right by law to probe any matter that is referred to them or of which

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Next to the various national polls one of the most interesting sidelights on the presidential campaign is the unanimity with which the corps of newspaper writers accompanying President Roosevelt and Governor Alf M. Landon on their respective speaking tours over the country agree on the Democratic candidate's prospects for an easy victory.

It is safe to say that upwards of 90 per cent of them concede Mr. Roosevelt will be the winner by a wide margin. For the most part they are convinced his victory will approach landslide proportions. The very few who profess to see any hope for the Republican nominee are wary of giving him hardly more than a bare majority of the electoral college at the outside.

The President was told today by Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, that on the basis of reports received from the Democratic senatorial campaign committee and other party sources he stands to be re-elected next

Cobb Says: Idiots Are Watched Over

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 20.—It must indeed be true that Providence looks after idiots and drunkards. Else how could all such be able to get drivers' licenses?

I rode with a prize specimen yesterday. He seemed lucid enough until he got his foot on the gas. That was what fooled me. If ever I ride with him again, which heaven forbid, I shall carry a lily in my hand—just in case.

We had a set of overcoat buttons, the top off of a stop-signal, and part of a go-cart in our car when we arrived. So we didn't actually hit anybody, this being due, I think, to his holding dead on the mark instead of leading it by a few inches, as one should when one's target is moving. He hopes for better luck next time.

Yet there was no rush. There rarely is. And that's the funny part about an automaniac's reactions. It's the only funny part—the rest is tragedy.

P. S.—I caught a lift back on a road scraper. Never enjoyed a ride more.

'That's Amazing,' Comments Margaret Mitchell, Author of Best Seller.

By ALBERT C. LEITCH.

They used a high-speed camera yesterday on the spinning meter that indicates how many copies of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind" have been printed and the number caught by the camera was 656,000. That, of course, is a very temporary figure, for two printing plants are hard at it turning them out as fast as fast can.

By early neyt week the total will have reached 680,000, since orders are in for that number and, by that time, that figure will be out of date because orders have by no means stopped—and Christmas is coming.

Anyway, 656,000 copies of the book had been printed yesterday and the city editor said: "Call up Miss Mitchell and get an interview." So Miss Mitchell was called and the figure was read to her.

"That's Amazing."

"Oh, my goodness," she said. "That's amazing. I can scarcely believe it. Would you remind repeating that number?"

The number was repeated.

"And to think," said Miss Mitchell, "that once I was in high hopes I might sell 5,000 copies. I thought maybe the southern universities might be interested in the book and for that reason I hoped the sale might run as high as 5,000."

Then Miss Mitchell was informed that a highly fashionable new shade for women's wear had appeared—Scarlett green. Of course, almost everyone knows Miss Mitchell's chief character, Scarlett, had green eyes—therefore, the Scarlett green in wearing apparel.

"Oh, my goodness," said Miss Mitchell again. "You don't mean it, really?"

"Tell us," she was urged, "How about your fan mail?"

"Well," she said, "on some days, when it is real quiet, I don't receive over 50 letters a day. Then, there are other days when the mail is considerably heavier. I always know when a new printing of the book has come off the presses. About five days later my mail triples or quadruples."

Miss Mitchell revealed she had received fan mail from every state in the nation, many sections of Canada, Italy, England and Germany.

"Of course," she explained, "the mail from foreign countries is from English speaking persons. The book has not been translated into any foreign languages."

"When are you going to write a sequel to 'Gone With the Wind'?" she was asked.

"Oh, never," she replied very firm-

LANDON LABELED 'STATE SOCIALIST'

Ickes Says Kansan Advocated Commonwealth-Owned Utility System.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said tonight that Governor Landon last year was a "state socialist," advocating state-owned telephone and natural gas distribution systems.

In a nation-wide radio speech entitled "Is Landon Sincere?" Ickes read what he said was a letter to him from Landon February 7, 1935, suggesting loans to states for "public state-wide telephone systems."

A few months before that, Ickes said, Landon sent William Allen White to Washington with a secret proposal to spend $35,000,000 for construction of a natural gas pipe line as a state enterprise to "market that natural gas in competition with private industry."

Asserting Landon was now a self-proclaimed "champion of private initiative," Ickes asked:

How Does It Happen?

"How does it happen that the state socialist of 1935 is the Republican candidate for president in 1936 on a platform of uncontrolled private initiative? Is it possible that the Governor of Kansas was willing to tear his principles from the shallow soil in which they were rooted because of the greatest office in the world?"

The speech was broadcast under the auspices of the Progressive national committee, which sent to newspapers along with copies of the speech photostats of the purported letter, and photographs of Samuel Insull, Chicago utility operator, wearing a Landon button in his coat lapel.

The letter, on official state stationery, said:

"If you do not have the authority under the PWA to make loans to states for public state-wide telephone systems, may I suggest that it would be a sound public policy to obtain this authority."

After reading the letter, Ickes commented:

"There may be those unkind enough to think that, in the light of this letter, as a rugged individualist Governor Landon looks very much like a state socialist. On February 7, 1935, the man who now has the hardihood

COURT QUESTIONS HOPKINS ON BOOKS

WPA Chief Must Show Cause on Republican Demand for Statistics.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Contending WPA funds "are not being used solely for the purposes of relief," a group of New Jersey Republican leaders today obtained an order from the federal district court here requiring Harry L. Hopkins to show cause why his records should not be opened to them.

The Republicans, including Walter E. Edge, former United States ambassador to France, sought a writ of mandamus compelling the works progress administrator to make public the financial and operating details of every WPA project in the country.

In response to their petition, Justice Joseph W. Cox ordered Hopkins to show in his court next Monday why such a writ should not be issued.

Edge, chairman of the New Jersey Republican campaign committee, and the other petitioners contended WPA expenditures are "in part influenced by political considerations." They said the information they sought concerned the entire country.

The petitioning group included Henry W. Jeffers Sr., chairman of the New Jersey Republican state central committee, and Daniel E. Pomeroy, of Englewood, and Edna Conklin, of Hackensack, members of that committee.

Hopkins was reported to be in New York for a speaking engagement and aides declined comment.

Appended to the Republicans' petition was a letter from Hopkins, dated October 16, replying to a request for information. It said the "obvious object of your letter is to secure names and salaries of individuals' and refused to give out such information "for commercial or political purposes."

The petitioners argued the executive branch of the government had been using WPA records for political purposes "placing its own interpretation" on them and disclosing only such part of the records "as it chooses."

This, they contended, was inconsistent with a "free and informed vote" and constituted a "breach of trust."

'Let Edward and Wally Decide It,' Atlantans Say of Royal Romance

While yesterday, in England, Mrs. Ernest (Wally) Simpson was placed under the protection of a royal bodyguard, Atlantans, for the most part, declared they think no one else can better decide whether King Edward and Wally should marry than Edward and Wally themselves.

Wally was accompanied yesterday by Inspector David Storier, the king's personal bodyguard, when she made a secret departure from her Cumberland terrace home after she had spent the night there.

From one or two quarters here came expressions of doubt that England's "most eligible swain" will wed the daughter of a former Baltimore boarding house keeper, but on the whole, Mr., Mrs. and Miss Atlanta are interestingly awaiting developments and saying, in effect: "More power to love's sweet dream."

Leading doubter was Mayor Key. "I don't think he will marry her," quoth the mayor, a bit testily.

On the other hand, said Mayor Pro Tem. Ellis Barrett: "From my observation of King Edward, I think he will marry her if he makes up his mind he wants to."

A feminine viewpoint is that of

MADRID CHARGES PACT VIOLATIONS BY ITALY, GERMANY

New Accusations Add Fuel to Smoldering Anger of Russia and British Labor at Delay.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Spanish ambassador to London charged Germany and Italy anew today with meddling in the Spanish civil war to aid the Fascists.

His note was handed to Lord Plymouth, British chairman of the nonintervention committee, as Great Britain, harassed on two sides for swift action to avert a danger-laden crisis over neutrality in Spain, struggled to arrange a meeting of the body.

The Spanish note charged a large number of tanks and 100 flame throwers were landed at Cadiz, Spain, from Italy, October 15.

It charged also that a German ship, which the Spanish government said it believed was a destroyer, landed a cargo of war materials at Algeciras, Spain. Government officials suspected the munitions were principally anti-aircraft guns, the note said.

To Refuse Recognition.

Lord Plymouth, meanwhile, prodded Italy, Germany and Portugal to answer Russian charges they aided the Spanish Insurgents with war materials made contraband by the "hands-off Spain" accord.

Only if they responded, observers believed, could the committee be summoned to meet Russia's threat to bolt the pact unless prompt measures were taken to halt the alleged violations.

Russia will not recognize any new government in Spain if Madrid should be captured by the Insurgents, an authoritative source at Moscow said tonight.

Even if the incumbent president and cabinet should flee Spanish soil Russian recognition would not be affected, it was said by the spokesman, who cited the case of Belgium during the World War as a precedent.

Labor ranged its strength with Russia, demanding parliament be convened immediately to debate Spanish neutrality. Some observers believed immediate steps must be taken in face of both of labor's stand and mounting fears Russia might make good her threat to go to the aid of beleaguered Madrid.

HARTSFIELD SEES BATTLE TO FINISH

New Mayor Expects To Be Unpopular in Police, Budget Fights in 1937.

William B. Hartsfield confidently expects during his first year in office to earn the title of "the most unpopular mayor Atlanta has ever had," he told members of the Kiwanis Club yesterday at their noon-day luncheon.

"There's a crowd of them all ready to kick me, but I will carry out my promises. I'll fight them to the finish," he said.

The two big jobs that will keep him at work 24 hours a day, right from the start, he listed as:

1. Reorganizing and improving the efficiency of the police department.
2. Reducing the deficit.

Drew Heavy Applause.

Both programs drew heavy applause from the businessmen. Hartsfield spoke quietly as he described the jobs he has mapped out for himself, his manner indicating he is approaching his new task with calm assurance and a confident understanding of his problems. His speech won general approval.

"I shall carry out my promises, I said I would and I will. I will fight for the three years I have before me because I have no doubt as to what the people want. I shall lop off the pay roll every useless employe and I shall start right in as soon as I enter office. I shall try to impress on the members of city council the political wisdom of doing the unpopular thing now, so at the end of our terms we can see if we were right. I intend to work harder than I have ever worked before.

"I undoubtedly will be the most unpopular mayor the city has ever had—but three years from now, I want to be able to come before the people of Atlanta and show them a record of public improvements, such as they want now and such as they asked for in the recent election."

Prosecutor Accused Of Joining Terrorists

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—(AP)—An assistant state attorney general, asserting that Wayne County Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea had taken the oath of the Black Legion, intervened today in a common pleas court examination of 20 alleged night-riders charged with criminal syndicalism.

Chester P. O'Hara, representing the state, presented six affidavits in support of his statement. O'Hara is the Republican candidate for the office of prosecutor, to which McCrea seeks re-election.

Troops Are Joined By Civilian Workers To Defend Capital

STORES OF ARMS TAKEN FROM REDS

By The Associated Press.

WITH INSURGENT ARMIES, Spain, Oct. 20.—Motorized columns of Fascist Insurgents tonight swung the tips of their crescent-shaped line closer to Madrid.

The northwestern point of the Fascist half-moon rested on the heights commanding El Escorial, about 24 miles from Madrid.

The southern tip was driven toward Aranjuez, strategic rail center about the same distance due south of the government capital.

From El Escorial the arc of the Fascist advance swung in a southeasterly direction near Navalcarnero and through Illescas, bending around sharply to strike off at Aranjuez.

The two major objectives of the Insurgent military commanders were El Escorial and Navalcarnero, the only two strongly defended cities held by the government immediately outside Madrid.

Rebels Can See Madrid.

After battering government redoubts with artillery bombardments, the Fascists scaled the heights outside El Escorial, and with shaded eyes gazed on Madrid in the distance.

Sweating gun crews and horses dragged field pieces up to the newly won positions, and bombardment of El Escorial was begun.

Advances were steadily pushed forward to strengthen the lagging lines at Navas Del Marques and Robledo De Chavela.

Government counter-attacks around Chapineria were repulsed, the Fascists reported.

Some 3,000 Moroccan shock troops joined the Fascists' advance on Aranjuez in efforts to block off entirely the already-bombed railroad line from Aranjuez and Madrid to the east coast.

Recounting victories on all fronts, the Fascists' commanders were exuberant over the amount of arms and ammunition they said had been captured.

Terre Haute Vigilantes Balk Browder Speech

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 20.—(UP)—One hundred and fifty vigilantes tonight prevented Earl Browder, Communist presidential candidate, from entering the premises of radio station WBOW where he was scheduled to make an address at 11 p. m. (Atlanta time.)

Browder stepped from a taxicab, and was surrounded immediately by a group of men. The stairs leading to the station's studio on the second floor of the buiding were packed.

After arguing briefly with the group, composed largely of members of the American Legion, Browder stepped back into the cab and drove away in a shower of tomatoes and rotten eggs.

WAS NOT AWARE OF WAR'S TREND

Fact of Absence of President Fails To Dampen Ardor of Defenders; Discipline Is Forgotten.

By The Associated Press.

MADRID, Oct. 20.—Lashed to martial fury by the shrill exhortations of their womenfolk, Madrid's civilian workers marched to war tonight.

Laborers, factory workers in grimy overalls, sallow desk workers with ink-stained fingers—all poured from their buildings in answer to the pleas of frenzied women.

Clumsily but effectively they fell in with units of the regular militia marching off to give battle to the enemy whose cannonading could be heard plainly in the streets of Madrid.

Hands that had never held anything more lethal than a saw or a pen clutched cold rifles shoved at them by women, shouting themselves hoarse in the war hysteria which rolled over the once drowsy Spanish city.

Misled Until Now.

The mutter of a city at work rose to a roar today as a sudden shift of wind rolled the reverberations of artillery into the heart of the government capital.

A city accustomed to read daily reports of the valiant fight of its forces against the Insurgents suddenly awoke to the realization that the enemy was almost at the gates.

The booming of cannon on the battlefronts in the Madrid area rumbled over the rooftops—and was muted in the crescendo of thousands of terrified shouts.

The women were the first to hear and recognize the ominous sounds.

Through the market places they swarmed, churning the crowds with their market baskets.

"Come out!" they shouted. "Come out! Come out and fight for Spain!"

Desks and benches were deserted as men, old and young, fit and infirm,

Atlantan Is Named To Safety Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—C. O. Whitaker, Atlanta consulting engineer was named today by Secretary of Commerce Roper as the Georgia member of the National Accident Prevention Conference.

With one member named in each state, the group will undertake to obtain passage, by the respective states, of uniform motor vehicle laws, and will seek to secure passage by the respective legislatures of drivers' license laws in those states which have not already enacted a law of that type.

Whitaker will appoint a state-wide steering committee to seek passage of the drivers' license law at the next session of the Georgia legislature and will work for modification of the state's motor vehicle laws to conform with that of the other states.

LEMKE AND TOWNSEND OUST REV. G. L. K. SMITH

Divine Announces $1,500,000 Anti-Communist Group Plans.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Both the Union party and the Townsend organization issued formal statements tonight announcing they were severing relations with the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, who announced in New York the formation of a Nationalist movement.

Mr. Smith, one-time associate of the late Huey P. Long, joined the Townsend organization last June, when he was appointed to the national board of directors, and later followed its founder, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, in supporting William Lemke, presidential candidate of the Union party.

In a signed statement, Dr. Townsend set forth:

"The Townsend organization is American in its foundation and ideals and I do not propose to allow any person with dictatorship tendencies, whether they be under the guise of the New Deal or nationalization, to stampede the Townsend movement in whole or in part into even partial indorsement. . . .

"I do know, however, that nationalism and centralization are both definite trends toward Fascism. As a matter of principle, his (Smith's) connection with our national recovery organization must be automatically severed.

"Gerald Smith shall have no connection with our organization henceforth. This is definite and final.

"Smith is not my adviser or the adviser of the Townsend movement, as he claims. Gerald Smith is just a young fellow with a great gift for oratory. I felt that because of this gift he would be useful to the movement bearing my name."

John Nystul, national campaign manager for the Union party, said:

"I want it distinctly understood that Mr. Smith in no way represents the Union party or Mr. Lemke. Those of us who are striving for the election of William Lemke are committed irrevocably to the constitution of the United States and to those principles of real Americanism without which the republic must perish."

SMITH BARES PLAN FOR ANTI-RED LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith came back to New York tonight to announce the formation of a new $1,500,000 anti-Communism organization but vigorously denied it was "Fascist."

"I am no more of a Fascist than Abraham Lincoln," he asserted, "but I am more of an American than the Roosevelts, the Dubinskys and the Tugwells."

"There are three isms I am dead set against," Smith said, "Communism, Fascism and New Dealism."

Within a month, Smith said, he will announce in detail the plans and program of his Nationalist organization and name the financial leaders in the nation's major cities who, he asserted, were backing him.

Commenting on statements issued by Dr. Francis E. Townsend and John Nystul, of the Union party, Smith said:

"Their attacks on me will have no effect on the vote of my followers in November. I still hope they will vote for William Lemke, the Union party candidate for president."

Smith said he was holding up the details of his new organization until after the election "so it won't appear that it was created for political purposes."

He stated that the organization would be a "political pressure group like the American Legion, only it would take in everybody."

"We won't have storm troops any more than the Baptists have storm troops," he said.

VOTE CITY GAS PLANT.

PLANT CITY, Fla., Oct. 20.—(AP) A majority of the qualified freeholders in Plant City, voting today, authorized the city to issue $55,000 in revenue debenture bonds toward the cost of a municipal gas plant and distribution system. The vote was 229 for and 57 against.

Text of Governor Landon's Los Angeles Address

Six weeks ago, I went to the east coast—to Maine, on the eve of the state election. My purpose was to tell the people there how serious are the issues that face us.

Tonight, on the eve of the national election, I come to the Pacific coast for the same purpose. I come to talk about a serious issue—abuse of the power of government, and its threat to our liberty and our independence.

The Pacific coast was settled by men and women who possessed the pioneer qualities of self-reliance, courage and love of independence. Those who followed possessed the same qualities. In three-quarters of a century you have created on the shores of the Pacific a new economic empire. This has been done, and could only have been done, under a government which guaranteed economic freedom, political freedom and personal liberty.

For a century and a half, this freedom and this liberty has been protected under the charter of our government, the constitution.

CONSTITUTION BEING QUESTIONED

Today the usefulness of our constitution is being questioned. We have been told that it is out of date, that the very freedom it guarantees us is the cause of our present trouble. In my opinion, this reasoning is tragically wrong. The planned society, which is the alternative to representative government, is spreading rapidly throughout the world. We know only too well how it has worked out in actual practice. It has destroyed freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion. It has robbed the people of those great guarantees of personal liberty and human rights that we enjoy under the American system. I do not believe that a temporary depression is adequate reason for changing our whole form of government.

The men who drew our constitution knew and feared the tyranny of a centralized government over which they had no control. They were determined that in the creation of this new government that tyranny could never exist. So effective was their work that for a century and a half the American people have not known the meaning of tyranny. We have forgotten that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Too many are inclined to laugh at this truth as a horse and buggy bromide.

CITES WARNING BY WASHINGTON

We have forgotten that once the censor forbids us to speak as we please, once the government forbids us to worship as we wish, once the jailor enters our homes without warrant—it will be too late to protest. We will no longer be free.

George Washington warned us that we should ever be on our guard against attempts to "undermine what cannot be directly overthrown." Let us examine the record of the last four years in the light of that warning.

This administration came into power at a time of great national crisis. Unusual powers were granted to the chief executive. But when the crisis was over, the administration refused to give up its extraordinary powers. Instead, it asked for more. It seemed obsessed with the idea that it had a mandate to direct and control American business, American agriculture and American life.

TRIED TO DIRECT FARMER, BUSINESS

Recall a few of the things they tried to do.

They tried to tell our farmers how much they could plant and how much they could not plant.

They tried to tell our businessmen how much they could produce and under what conditions they could run their business.

They tried to tell labor who could and who could not represent them in negotiations with their employers.

Was this an undermining of our liberties? I think so. And the proof of it is, so many of our fellow citizens rebelled at these tactics that the administration was forced to abandon the subterfuge of voluntary co-operation. It cracked the whip on those individuals who refused to be led like sheep. It resented any criticism which recalled what American initiative and free enterprise had done for the country. And when the supreme court declared its methods unconstitutional, the administration actually attempted to bring the supreme court into disrepute.

Spokesmen of the administration made stump speeches and issued statements condemning the court. They ridiculed the justices. They said they were obstructing progress.

CHARGE ROOSEVELT JOINED IN ATTACK

Even the President joined in this undermining attack on men who were only doing their duty—men sworn to uphold the constitution of the United States. The President predicted disaster if his plans were held unconstitutional. They were held unconstitutional. Now he claims credit for the improvement that followed. He says, "We planned it that way."

Fortunately the supreme court had the prestige and the integrity to withstand the abuses that were heaped upon it. But for the private citizen it was not so easy. No private citizen likes to be held up to public scorn by public officials. His freedom to criticise—that is, his freedom of speech—is bought at a high price indeed when the integrity of his motives is questioned by his government. It is a little wonder that many fell into line.

For those who refused to be silenced by these methods, other intimidations were devised. Businessmen with government contracts were threatened with cancellation. Businessmen who wanted contracts were warned that they must toe the line. All businessmen, under the blue eagle, were faced with arbitrary enforcements of arbitrary interpretations of arbitrary rules—rules not made by congress but by some appointed subordinate sitting at a desk in Washington and fumbling with the business of the country.

SAYS LITTLE MAN SUFFERED MOST

But the irony of this abuse of the power of government was that the small businessman, in whose name the government had supposedly acted, was the very man who suffered most. He could not afford to keep a lawyer in Washington to inform him of the latest rules and regulations. He could not compete under the monopolistic conditions laid down by the codes.

In short, the whole plan acted as a millstone around the neck of the little fellow, and what did it do for the big fellow? It had the effect of strengthening his position—it fostered monopoly. In this it was a forerunner of this administration's most recent tax bill—the bill which makes it virtually impossible for the little fellow to accumulate the reserves necessary to his protection and growth.

As I said at Portland, Maine, on September 12:

"Government must protect the average man against aggressive exploitation by the strong. . . . Unless government is constantly on guard to defend competition against abuses, a free enterprise system tends to become an entanglement of vested interests and rigid prices.

"But the solution is not to abandon a free enterprise system for a system of government monopolies.

"The solution is to free the forces of competition—to stamp out unfair trade practices and monopoly. This will allow the American people to resume their steady march of progress."

LANDON QUOTES JUSTICE CARDOZO

One way of stamping out unfair trade practices and monopoly was pointed by Justice Cardozo in his concurring opinion in the NRA decision of the supreme court. The learned justice said:

"If codes of unfair competition are codes eliminating 'unfair' methods of competition ascertained upon inquiry to prevail in one industry or another, there is no unlawful delegation of legislative functions when the President is directed to inquire into such practices and denounce them when discovered. For many years a like power has been committed to the Federal Trade Commission with the approval of this court in a long series of decisions."

This is a very different method, as the learned justice also said, from that provided in the NRA codes, which were "delegation running riot."

Now let us consider the power of the public purse and how it can be abused.

The present administration has spent 25 billion dollars. Of this enormous sum, billions have been spent by the chief executive, practically at his own discretion.

The present chief executive has had placed at his disposal eight times as much discretionary spending power as was given to all of his predecessors together in 143 years of our history.

SAYS F. D. R. POWER CAN'T BE CALCULATED

The power that this has given to the chief executive cannot be calculated, and he has not hesitated to use it. Nor has he hesitated to take the next step in tampering with the basic principles of democracy. The executive branch is now refusing to make public the salaries paid the names on the pay rolls under blank check appropriations. There is unmistakable evidence that these vast funds have been used to force congressmen and senators to support administration measures. There is also unmistakable evidence that they have been used to prevent criticism by officials and representatives of local communities. There is unmistakable evidence that these funds have been used in an attempt to prevent freedom of choice at the polls. Nothing can be more shameful than the way some of these federal funds have been distributed. Special groups and special localities have been singled out solely for political reasons.

Relief funds have been used in an attempt to force our less fortunate fellow citizens to vote for the return of this administration to power.

SAYS RELIEF AIDES PLAYING FAVORITES

Does his undermine our freedom? I think so. We all know that under this administration, the managers of relief have played favorites—they have developed two classes of relief, common and preferred.

Let us not forget that abuse of the government's right to spend leads to abuse of the government's right to borrow. Abuse of the right to borrow is the first step to inflation and is a direct threat to all those who by thrift have accumulated savings.

An inherent part of government's power over the purse is the power to tax. When abused, it becomes the power to destroy. Many of the so-called revenue measures passed under this administration were not designed to raise revenue. They were designed to force the non-conformer into line, to threaten him with destructive and punitive taxation. They were an attempt to accomplish indirectly by taxation what could not be accomplished directly under the constitution.

The powers I have been discussing are for the most part clearly defined by the constitution or decisions of the supreme court. But there is one that has never been clearly defined. I speak of the congressional power of investigation. But even if the letter of the law is not clear, the spirit of the constitution is unmistakable. No legal hair splitting can hide the difference between an investigating committee that is trying to get information useful in the framing of laws and an investigating committee that is indulging in a fishing expedition into the private affairs of private citizens—a committee that is out to get the crooks and a committee that is out to get the critics.

INVESTIGATIONS CITED BY LANDON

In the last three and one-half years, congressional investigations have budded and blossomed in unusually rank profusion. No soil of real or fancied wrong-doing is so poor that it will not sprout a full-fledged investigation. They are too often carried on in fragrant disregard of the rights of citizens.

Witnesses have been brought before investigating committees and treated as criminals at the bar of justice. But with this difference: Their rights have not been respected as in our courts of law. For many of these investigating committees have acted as prosecuting attorney, jury and judge combined. The sentence they pass has too frequently been a reputation unjustly smeared before the public. Is this an undermining of our freedom? You know it is. It is a direct violation of the spirit of the bill of rights.

One congressional investigation, characterized as a fishing expedition, openly and flagrantly violated the constitutional restriction against unreasonable search and seizure. Great masses of private correspondence were taken. Reports state that the papers seized have been used for purposes having no connection with the alleged subject matter of the investigation.

And recently a congressional investigation has been carried on for what seems to be purely political ends. In this case the thinly veiled purpose apparently as to discredit a political movement which the controlling party wished to crush.

ALL INVESTIGATIONS ARE NOT AN ABUSE

It is obvious that all investigations are not an abuse of the power of government.

Congress does have great and wise powers of investigation.

But the existence of the power is no justification for its abuse. And abuse of it is contrary to the spirit of the bill of rights, even if it does not transgress the letter of the law. We must look to the spirit of the constitution if it is to fulfill its great purpose in protecting this people. We must look to the leadership and responsibility of congress to see that this spirit remains a living force.

In the last three and one-half years, this administration has led us far from the spirit of our constitution. It has led us far from the principles of the American form of government. That this has been deliberate there can be no doubt. A trusted official and close advisor of the chief executive has expressed in precise terms the processes this administration is following. He used these words: "We begin with small unnoted changes and end by not being able to resist vast and spectacular ones—at which time our systems of theory tumble unwept into the grave." We have every reason to believe that this administration would consider a return to power an indorsement of its policies. If we are to preserve our American form of government, this administration must be defeated.

SAYS ONLY SAFETY IS IN CONSTITUTION

Our only safety is to return to our constitution. For our constitution was the product of long experience in the practice of government. It reflects centuries of striving and of suffering by a people determined to be free.

When Washington first took his oath of office, the colony of Virginia already had 182 years of history, and the colony of Massachusetts 169. Indeed the greater number of the colonies were older than our government now is, under our constitution. The framers of our constitution were practical men. They were stern realists who knew the pleasing guises in which tyranny creeps upon the people. And they knew the bonds of despotism. Schooled in each, they saw through and behind the one. They foresaw and forestalled the other.

Yet even these men with all their personal knowledge of tyranny and its methods, with all their love for freedom, with all their experience in practical legislation, were unable to frame a document satisfactory to the people. In spite of all the safeguards against tyranny which they inserted in the body of the constitution, the people of the 13 original states were not satisfied. More safeguards were demanded.

AMENDMENTS ADDED AS SAFEGUARDS

These additional safeguards are contained in the first 10 amendments which are commonly called the bill of rights. They guarantee to the individual freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion, freedom from unlawful search and seizure. They guarantee the right to a trial by jury. And last, but by no means least, they reserve to the people and to the states, all powers not specifically granted to the federal government.

The authors of our constitution spoke of and for the people. They were not a group of unschooled experimenters. They were not anxious to break away from tradition. They were not anxious to set up, as President Roosevelt boasts he has, new instruments of public power that could be used to shackle the liberties of the people and enslave the public.

Their anxiety was for the people and only for the people!

If we would maintain our nation, if we would keep it free, if we would set an example before the world of tolerance and peace, we must brook no tampering with our freedom.

WITHOUT FREEDOM THERE IS NO SECURITY

Let us never forget what freedom means. Let us never forget that without freedom there can be no security. Let us never forget the high purpose in which this nation was founded and for which we still must strive. Let us remember there is a larger Americanism than the little blueprints of a planned economy, than the disciplined citizenry which this administration would like to foist upon us.

Its foundation is just government—a government that does not abuse its powers at the expense of the liberty and independence of the citizen. This larger Americanism was described by a great and fearless president, Theodore Roosevelt. Let me close by reading what he had to say:

"The larger Americanism demands that we refuse to be sundered from one another along lines of class or creed or section or national origin; that we judge each American on his merits as a man; that we work for the well being of our bodily selves, but also for the well being of our spiritual selves; that we consider safety, but that we put honor and duty ahead of safety. Only thus shall we stand erect before the world, high of heart, master of our own souls, fit to be the fathers of a race of free men who shall make and who shall keep this land all that it seemed to the prophetic vision of the mighty men who founded it and the mighty men who saved it."

SOCIALISM CHARGED TO GOVERNOR LANDON

to pose as a champion of individual initiative in business was an avowed advocate of the principle of state telephone systems."

The natural gas proposal, Ickes said, was broached to him by White, Emporia (Kan.) editor, in December of 1934.

"Enjoining great secrecy because the Governor of Kansas did not want his colleagues in the oil business to get wind of it," Ickes said, "Mr. White unfolded a plan by which Kansas, as a state enterprise, would build a pipe line to the natural gas fields in southwestern Kansas and market that natural gas in competition with private industry.

"It also developed later that Governor Landon did not propose to take the people of his state into his confidence until it was too late for them to block his ambitious plan. 'Mum' was to be the word until 'private initiative' Landon could develop his conspiracy against his oil supporters and the public utilities of Kansas by putting his state government into business in direct competition with them. The cost of Mr. Landon's little pipe dream would be $35,000,000."

Conferred With Landon.

Landon called on him later, Ickes said, and conferred with several members of the PWA legal staff about the gas plan.

"The plan that Governor Landon was at such pains to conceal from the citizens of his state," Ickes added, "involved the setting up of a private corporation, capitalized at $35,000,000, to go into the gas business in Kansas without permitting the people to have advance knowledge of his intention.

"He, as governor, would dictate the policies of this corporation through dummy directors. Candidate Landon is against dictators, you know.

"In the files of the Public Works Administration there is incontrovertible proof of this scheme," Ickes said.

"We have copies of the proposed charter and by-laws of this corporation.

"No formal application for this project, which would have threatened with bankruptcy certain public utilities in the state of Kansas, was ever filed. Why, I do not pretend to say, but it is significant that Governor Landon first began to be talked of as a possible Republican candidate for president just about the time that he appeared to lose interest in a project that he himself had initiated. . . .

Sincerity Questioned.

"On the face of such a record, I submit that the sincerity of Governor Landon may properly be questioned. Up to the time that the Republican party, desperately in need of a candidate—oh, Lord, any candidate—to pit against Roosevelt, selected him, Governor Landon has gone farther on the road toward state socialism than any other responsible public official in the United States. Suddenly, over night, he became a rugged individualist of the Hoover school."

Citing what he called "another item bearing upon the question of the sincerity of Governor Landon," Ickes said Landon in 1933 spoke of "racketeers like Insull, Morgan and Van Sweringen." He said Landon has now accepted campaign contributions from J. P. Morgan.

"Apparently a 'racketeer' to Governor Landon is not a racketeer to Candidate Landon when he contributes to the Republican campaign fund," Ickes said. Then, nothing the picture of Insull, with the Landon button, he added:

ROOSEVELT LAUNCHES TOUR OF NEW ENGLAND

time for the chief executive to drop in on one or two additional eastern states before the balloting two weeks from today, presidential assistants said no engagements had been made for next week other than those at Howard University, the Statue of Liberty and Madison Square Garden.

Five speeches, which the aides said would be of an informal and probably extemporaneous character, have been arranged for the two-day dash through New England.

The President will talk in front of the state capitols at Providence and Hartford, on the Commons at Boston and also briefly from his automobile at Fall River and New Bedford, Mass., tomorrow.

While no arrangements have been disclosed for additional talks, there was a possibility the chief executive might speak briefly in other communities.

More Cities Added.

Except for a train run from Worcester to Hartford Thursday morning, the New England trip will be made by motor, starting at Providence, around 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and ending in Stamford, Conn., about 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

In announcing the complete itinerary, White House attaches disclosed that several cities not previously mentioned would be visited.

After leaving Providence tomorrow morning, Mr. Roosevelt will go in turn to Seekonk, Fall River, New Bedford, Fair Haven, Taunton, Haunton Green, Bridgewater, Brockton, Abington, Holbrook, Quincy, Boston, Cambridge, Watertown, Waltham, Weston, Wayland, Sudbury, Marlboro and Worcester.

From Hartford, on Thursday, the President will set out for Middletown, Meriden, Waterbury, Naugatuck, Seymour, New Haven, Bridgeport, Norwalk, Darien and Stamford.

The President's first appointment today was to enroll in the American Red Cross annual membership drive. Miss Hebe Reynolds, daughter of Surgeon General Charles R. Reynolds, of the army, handed him his membership card.

The chief executive told Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Red Cross chairman, he hoped every American "able to do so" would enroll.

Three cabinet members, Secretaries Roper, Ickes and Hull, called on the President but had nothing to say to reporters afterward.

Late in the afternoon Mr. Roosevelt received their credentials from the new Italian and Spanish ambassadors and the Canadian minister.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The state department of education said today budgeted 1936-37 expenses for schools in Florida's 67 counties total $26,441,933.18.

Landon's Address On CCC Purpose

BARSTOW, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The text of Governor Landon's Barstow speech here today follows:

Traveling across half of the nation on this trip I have been happy to see from my car window several CCC camps and evidences of the good work the boys in them have done.

As governor of Kansas I supported from the first the measure creating the Civilian Conservation Corps. That bill, as originally introduced, provided that the work should be done on national domain.

I called the matter to the attention of the senior senator from my state. He added an amendment that was adopted which permitted CCC projects to be carried out on state as well as federal domain. Subsequent experience has shown this has greatly enlarged the value of the Conservation Corps.

Once I am elected president, I will do everything within my power not only to continue the CCC but to improve the organization. It shall be my purpose to make it far more effective than it yet has been, both for the young men who compose it and for the public.

PERMANENT OCCUPATION IS NOT CCC PURPOSE

The present administration has forgotten the original purpose of the CCC. It is threatening to lead the several hundred thousand young Americans comprising the corps down a blind alley.

The purpose of the CCC is not to provide permanent occupations. Rather, it is to tide its members over until they can find real jobs with genuine opportunities for themselves.

It should not only build bodies but furnish education so that the boys will be able to make up for lost time when they do find their places in private life.

In the meantime, the nation draws dividends not only in conservation work completed but in better citizenship. The most serious criticism to be leveled at the CCC as it now operates is that the politicians have taken over the administrative jobs. The merit system should prevail in the CCC fully as much as in the regular departments of the government. Full opportunity for advancement should be given the CCC boys themselves. It would develop their initiative and it would give them that priceless experience that only comes from assuming authority fairly won.

The CCC idea has in it great opportunities for lasting good.

NEGRO QUESTIONED IN DODSON SLAYING

Admitted 'Fence' Confesses Shooting Two Others Here Recently.

Admitting he was a "fence" for burglars and had shot and seriously wounded two persons recently, James Worthy, negro, was being questioned last night by city and county police in connection with the murder, October 10, of J. C. Dodson, street car operator.

Worthy, alias James Tyson and John Mann, was captured late Sunday night by Detectives Richard Englebert and M. B. Johnson at Griffin, where he had "hoboed" on a freight train.

The negro was subjected to grilling concerning the Dodson murder and several other shootings in the city. Worthy admitted he shot Annie Mae Whatley and Adeline Brodis, both of Decatur street, within recent weeks. Both were seriously wounded.

A. A. ZIMMERMAN DIES WHILE ON VISIT HERE

A. A. Zimmerman, of Asbury Park, N. J., retired businessman, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. D. Toll, of 1576 Harvard road, while on a visit here.

Besides Mrs. Toll, surviving are his wife; another daughter, Mrs. Wells Pullen, of Roselle Park, N. J., and a sister, Mrs. Joseph McDermott, of Freehold, N. J.

Funeral services and burial will be held in Belmar, N. J. where the body was taken last night, under direction of H. M. Patterson & Son.

COUNTY BOARD PLANS STIFFER PRISON RULE

Camp Officials To Be 'Impressed' With Need for Discipline.

Fulton county deputy wardens and prison camp officials will be "impressed with their duty to discipline prisoners under their control" at a meeting of public works department officials today at Bellwood camp, county commissioners announced yesterday, as the grand jury continued its probe of special privileges allowed convicts at the camps.

All deputy wardens and assistant superintendents of the public works department have been asked to attend a luncheon session by Dr. Charles R. Adams, board chairman, and Commissioners Ed Almand, George F. Longino and Edwin F. Johnson, who held a private conference yesterday morning at the courthouse.

Commissioner Johnson said the prison camp officials will be "impressed" with their obligation to discipline prisoners, and that lists of "trusties" will be maintained by the board henceforth.

The grand jury questioned William Stewart, of the public works department, and Claude Mills, deputy warden from Sandy Springs, yesterday, in connection with its investigation of favoritism which grew out of the George Harsh-Mark (Chicken) Chastain episode. Stewart was the driver of the light county truck which Harsh and Chastain used in their "joyride" which ended with a hit-run accident in downtown Atlanta.

More witnesses from other Fulton camps will be called for the Friday session of the grand jury, at which time the investigation will be continued.

Foreman Elmer L. Stanley said the probe is by no means ended and no action has been taken on bills of indictment against Harsh and Chastain.

3 OF BRIDAL PARTY ARE HURT IN CRASH

Joseph Criglar, Groom, and His Best Man in Critical Condition.

An early morning honeymoon ride turned to tragedy yesterday when an automobile crash sent three members, including the bride and groom, of an Atlanta wedding party to Grady hospital. The groom and the best man are in critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Criglar, the newly married couple, were returning from the ceremony at Newnan in company with E. W. Albright, of Confederate avenue, and Miss Evelyn Strickland, of 859 Peachtree street, they reported to police. Miss Strickland was listed as the driver of the car.

The machine went out of control on Lee street, near the Camp Jessup warehouse, and crashed successively into three telephone poles.

Criglar suffered a fracture of the skull and severe lacerations and bruises. Albright suffered a fractured jaw, a broken nose and possible internal injuries. Miss Strickland sustained injuries of the head, face and body. Mrs. Criglar, the former Miss Martha Ivey, of 817 Ponce de Leon avenue, suffered only cuts and bruises of the nose.

TAX PAYING TIME

Deadline Extended Four Days, Through Saturday.

Another four-day grace period was granted tardy Atlanta taxpayers yesterday. Tax assessors announced payment without penalty will be accepted through Saturday.

J. Sid Tiller, who was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Harry M. Perkerson, assessor, Monday, was sworn in yesterday and said he will assume his new duties about Monday of next week.

October 15 was the original deadline for payment of the final installment of 1936 taxes, but due to the crowds at the city hall, the time was extended until yesterday. A repetition of the crowding impelled assessors to make a further extension.

RETIRED PHYSICIAN, DR. J. H. WALTON, DIES

Dr. John H. Walton, retired Dublin physician and a resident of Atlanta for more than 35 years, died Monday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ed Wellons, 2258 First avenue, N. E., at the age of 75.

Dr. Walton was a native Georgian and practiced for many years in Dublin before removing to this city. He was a member of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

Besides his daughter, he is survived by a nephew, Sim B. Walton; a niece, Mrs. E. R. Anderson, and four grandchildren.

Final rites will be held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Harry G. Poole, with Dr. Louie D. Newton officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

2 ATLANTANS REPORT BURGLARY OF HOMES

Two robberies, reported yesterday netted thieves more than $1,200 in clothing, jewels and other articles.

A. Levinstein, 293 Crew street, reported to police yesterday on his return from Birmingham that articles of clothing, a typewriter, adding machine, valuable papers in an unlocked safe and numerous other personal articles, value totaling $1,120, had been stolen from the attic and basement room of his residence during a nine-month absence.

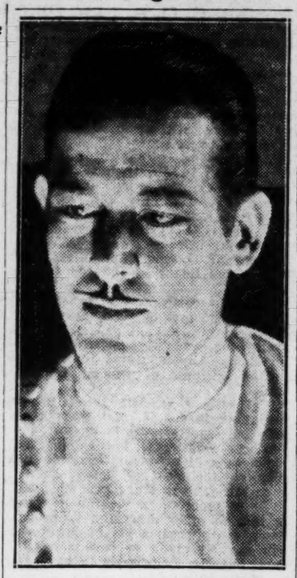

Mrs. B. J. Smith, 1115 Ponce de Leon avenue, told police that burglars, entering the front window of her apartment, ransacked the rooms and took jewels and clothing valued at $127.

Police are investigating both robberies.

Psycho-Mentalist Will Answer Constitution Readers' Questions

Alano Dass Will Give Free Service During Appearance at Theater.

Alano Dass, world famous mentalist, will appear in person on the stage of the Rialto theater, both afternoon and night daily, beginning Friday. There he will answer questions from the audience revealing his uncanny ability to reveal past, present and future events with startling accuracy.

Alano Dass comes to the Rialto from Warner Brothers' theater in Hollywood, where he has just concluded a highly successful engagement. He foretold the exact round and minute of the fight in which Schmeling would knock out Joe Louis, predicted the winner of the Kentucky Derby and, during a recent engagement in San Francisco, stated there would be a murder, the next day, committed by an elephant, which actually happened as he foretold.

Feeling that many Atlantans will have questions they wish to submit to Alano Dass in addition to those they may ask in the theater, The Constitution has arranged for these questions to be answered through its columns.

All that is necessary is to write a letter to Alano Dass, care of The Constitution, asking just one question clearly and briefly, and signing your full name, correct address and giving your birthdate. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All letters will be held confidential and only initials will be used in the published answer, so you alone will known it is your question Alano Dass is answering. But the full name, address and birth date, as well as the self-addressed stamped envelope, is necessary if your question is to be answered.

The Constitution, of course, assumes no responsibility for the answers given, these being entirely a matter between Alano Dass and the questioners.

Letters will be answered in the order in which they are received, so it is advisable to send your question in at once. If your answer does not appear in The Constitution within the next few days, you will receive a personal reply to your question through the mail from Alano Dass.

The first questions and answers will be published Friday morning.

Does the one you love, love you? Should you sell that property or will it increase in value? Should you build a home? Is your health bad? Are you uncertain whom to marry? Are you planning a change in work or location, or is some dear one missing from your life? All such questions will be answered by Alano Dass, the famous psycho-mentalist, free of charge, through The Constitution.

Remember: Write clearly and briefly, asking just one question. Sign your full name, with address and date of birth. Enclose stamped, addressed, return envelope. Mail to Alano Dass, care of The Constitution, and you will receive your reply, either in the columns of this paper or by mail from Alano Dass.

And be sure to go and judge as to his ability for yourself, by seeing him in person on the stage of the Rialto theater, beginning Friday.

SHOWERS PROBABLE IN ATLANTA TONIGHT

Possible showers are on the weatherman's schedule for Atlanta tonight. Skies will increase in cloudiness during the day, he says, and the rains are likely.

"A storm has been heading over the Mississippi valley toward the Ohio valley," said the weather forecaster. "Wednesday night Atlanta will very likely be in the southern outskirts of the disturbance as it moves on out to sea."

Today's temperatures are expected to start at 54 degrees this morning and climb to 74 degrees during the day. Yesterday the range was between 57 and 73 degrees.

KIERAN LEAVES GUAM BY CLIPPER FOR WAKE

Globe Girdler Tells of Take-off of 24-Ton Ship From 15-Foot Swells.

By LEO KIERAN.

ON BOARD THE CHINA CLIPPER, EN ROUTE TO WAKE ISLAND, Oct. 21.—(Wednesday)—(By Wireless)—At 6:28 o'clock this morning, Captain Ralph Dahlstrom scudded the China Clipper along the crests of a considerable sea-swell, and 59 seconds later the giant airliner slapped against the last crest and vaulted into the air. Within a few seconds the huge ship banked lazily over the sleepy village of Sumay, Guam, and headed on its course for Wake Island, 1,522 miles away.

My scheduled tour around the world thus is merrily approaching its end. The halfway mark is well behind and the rest seems all downhill. There has been but one interruption, in the form of a four-day delay at Manila because of a typhoon, and so I expect to be back in New York just four days behind my original schedule. The trip has never approached stunt proportions and could be duplicated at standard fares by anybody.

There are 18 persons aboard, seven being members of the crew and the others press correspondents. At Manila I joined the correspondents for the China Clipper's return flight to San Francisco, after the wait of four days following my arrival in Manila from Hong Kong.

We were abed early and up seemingly earlier. There were scattered clouds hanging low on the horizon all around, but brilliant stars shone directly overhead. After breakfast, a rolling ride in a motorboat to the clipper, anchored offshore, gave an indication of what was to come.

Captain Dahlstrom taxied carefully through a maze of coral reefs into deeper waters, where a swell that rose more than 15 feet made the 24-ton craft rise and fall like an elevator shuttling up and down in a one-story building. At last he wheeled the ship, opened the throttles and, riding the swells like a surfboard rider, headed inshore, jumping from one to the next but touching each with ever-lightening impact. In 59 seconds the wings finally rose and swung majestically over the wooded knolls of the harbor peninsula.

In a few minutes the 30-mile island disappeared astern as the ship rose over a low layer of cottonball cumulus clouds.

My clothing is sadly depleted, and my money even more so, but I will need none until I reach New York.

ATLANTA, GA., OCT. 21, 1936.

THE SCREW WORM

Assistant State Entomologist Tom O'Neil reports that screw worm infestation, dormant during the first eight months of this year, has made rapid increase in the southern part of the state during the past month. The increase in the scourge is laid to livestock owners having forgotten the lessons of 1934, and the belief on the part of many that the pest had been eliminated.

First discovered in Georgia in Thomas county in 1933, the spread was so rapid that in 1934 it was reported in 110 counties with over 600,000 cases; there were over 75,000 deaths among animals, and a few human deaths were attributed to screw worm infestation.

Following a vigorous campaign led by The Constitution, federal and state officials inaugurated an elimination fight, which was so thorough and received such hearty co-operation from livestock owners that the pest was brought under control late in 1935.

Federal and state entomologists insist that it will be impossible to eradicate the screw worm, but, as in the case of the cotton boll weevil, it may be controlled to such an extent that few losses of animals should occur. As is demonstrated by the present outbreak and spread of the pest, eternal vigilance is required on the part of livestock owners, in co-operation wtih the federal and state experts who are active in the infested area.

The state now has seven packing plants, capable of processing a large number of meat animals every year, and it is unthinkable that carelessness on the part of owners of animals should result in neglect of regular examination and treatment of those found infested with the screw worm, and thus allow the scourge to endanger the livestock industry in the state.

Treatment of infested wounds with pine tar oil must be carefully done, not only to effect a cure, but to eliminate a breeding place for flies that will infect the rest of the herd and any smaller animals that may have skin abrasions.

The cotton boll weevil is no longer a scourge, but it is a menacing pest that must be kept under control, and every farmer knows how that can be accomplished. The same may be said of the screw worm—it can be kept under control, the cost is small, and the vigilance necessary to do so is well worth the effort on the part of every owner of livestock, be their number but one head or hundreds.

OUR INCREASING EXPORTS

Recovery of our foreign trade since enactment of the reciprocal trade agreement act and the conclusion of treaties with a number of foreign countries is one of the outstanding achievements of the present administration.

Gardner Harding, writing in the November Atlantic Monthly, cites that "the outward and palpable indexes of our foreign trade, during the last three years of the Democratic administration, reveal the strong beginnings not only of genuine recovery, but even of something like a minor boom."

The volume of our finished manufactures going abroad is again close to that attained in 1923-25, and close to 70 per cent of the high-water mark in 1929, while the wisdom of Secretary Hull's policies are reflected in an increase in our exports for 1936 over 1935 of two and one-half times the rate of the rest of the world.

Despite trade barriers which have not yet been removed by reciprocal trade agreements with several leading importers, our exports of cotton are again on the increase, those of 1936 showing a decided increase over those of 1935. Our exports of tobacco are once more as great as they were before the depression, and those of fruits and canned goods are within 10 per cent of pre-depression volume.

We are not exporting grains and meats because of the shortage caused by the drouth, but our general farm exports have increased by more than 10 per cent.

The Hull plan, it is emphasized by Mr. Harding, provides means for retaliation as well as for reciprocity, as was evidenced when Germany used her flexible export currency to subsidize the sale of her products in this country. Mr. Hull was able to reply with countervailing duties high enough to stop that practice, and the same method was used to end the dumping of cotton goods in this country by Japan.

Unquestionably the Hull system has accomplished the most scientific and workmanlike tariff job ever done in this country.

A FINE SELECTION

The election of J. Sid Tiller to the position on the board of tax assessors made vacant by the recent death of Harry M. Perkerson places in this important post a man well qualified to discharge its exacting duties.

Mr. Tiller has served as an officer of both the Atlanta Federation of Trades and the Georgia Federation of Labor and has capably filled several offices of public trust, including that of alderman, chairmanship on the Fulton county welfare board and attache in the office of Solicitor General Boykin.

His service in these various posts has fully demonstrated his executive ability, high integrity and farsighted interest in the welfare of his fellow citizens. He holds the confidence and esteem not only of organized labor, but of the public generally.

Council is to be commended for having put a man so well qualified in a position which directly affects the welfare of every resident of the city. That Mr. Tiller will render as valuable and able service as a member of the board of tax assessors as he has in the other posts he has filled is not to be doubted.

TO WAR ON SMOKE

Citizens of Atlanta will welcome the announcement made by A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector, that for the next 30 days a concentrated drive will be made to lessen the smoke nuisance that every year befouls the air from early fall until late spring.

The campaign will be particularly gratifying to housewives, who dread the coming of cool weather and the lighting of thousands of fires that pour a needless amount of smoke and soot into the air, later to sift through doors and windows and find a lodging place on rugs, furniture, curtains and draperies.

Likewise, individuals who suffer from respiratory maladies during the cold months of the year will take heart at the announcement that city officials are doing all in their power to rid the atmosphere of the black dust particles that irritate tender membranes and aggravate already troublesome conditions.

Experiments have long since demonstrated that huge volumes of smoke are unnecessary from any sort of furnace fire, and that the excess not only causes heavy damages, but is wasteful of heat. It has also been demonstrated that most of the smoke nuisance is created by careless or uninstructed firemen.

Speaking of this feature of the campaign, Inspector Jones reports that during the recent fire prevention school only one of 62 negro janitors enrolled knew how to correctly fire a furnace for smoke elimination. As a part of the announced campaign starting Monday, all white janitors of apartment buildings will be instructed in the correct method of firing furnaces to eliminate smoke and insure longer burning of coal. The classes will be held from 10 to 12 o'clock each day until further notice. Later a school is to be held for negro janitors.

This instruction should not be confined to janitors of apartment buildings, but extended to include such persons as fire furnaces of their own homes, also yard and handy men of various neighborhoods who attend to the fires of a number of homes.

The concentrated 30-day campaign will accomplish great good, but it is human nature to "let down" after pressure is removed. A plan should be devised that would insure the year-round firing of furnaces in an expert, smoke-reducing manner.

Ambassador Straus Dead.

PARIS, October—The quiet gentleman who occupied the post of American ambassador to France during the first four years of the Roosevelt administration died in New York within two months after relinquishing his important post. But the great and important monetary agreement between the United States of America, France and Great Britain, which came into force last week, was largely his work.

Theres is no question but that the new harmonizing of the French, British and American currencies will go a long way towards stimulating trade and bringing back commercial stability in the world. We, the public, only see the final act, the accomplished fact. We do not realize how much preparatory work of an arduous nature had to precede it. It is this work which taxed the health of Ambassador Straus. He did not live to see the consummation of his work, which is already becoming visible to us today. For the resumption of trade is undeniable. A most splendid monument!

Hot Alarm.

The town-crier in the small burg I live got "the wind up" in all of us inhabitants the other day with his announcements that three of the lions from the circus which is playing on the town square these days had escaped their cages and were roaming in the forest. I can't blame the lions exactly, but there are lonely paths in that forest and I have little ambition to be waylaid by one of those beasties after having successfully overcome the tribulations of the Ethiopian campaign and the wiles of Spanish civil warriors. To be eaten alive, to hear a king of the desert crunch away on the bones of your feet, supposing he starts with the feet, is not my idea of a quick and merciful death. I proceeded therefore with the utmost caution around corners and bends in the road, sending my dog ahead to scout before venturing into the possible range of vision of the man-eaters. With the exception of a squirrel or two and some rabbits we saw nothing suspicious. And small wonder.

After keeping us in suspense for days, the same town-crier came around once more at high noon today with his gong to tell the hastily assembled citizenry that an error had been made: "The lions had not escaped after all. Only the monkeys. The lions were still on the railway siding. The management had forgotten them." As by magic the town's sentiment flopped over in favor of the dreaded beasts. It is the management which now faces prosecution, on demand of the inhabitants, for leaving the lions without food for three days.

Riffs Rise.

What was to be foreseen has happened: the Riff Kabyles, who were defeated with the greatest difficulty in 1926 in north Africa by the efforts of France and Spain together, have risen and occupied several important military positions. The French government is rushing cavalry and tanks to the frontier zone to keep the insurrectionary movement from spreading, which is a most difficult undertaking for the simple reason that Kabyles and Berbers and Moors know nothing about political frontiers. They are all brothers and animated by a common hatred against the colonial powers.

Tht tribe of Adighera has taken the lead. This is the tribe from which issued Abd-el Krim, surnamed "The Shadow of God," the redoubtable chieftain, who was not conquered until France sent two marshals, 50 generals and 150,000 men to the aid of the Spanish army in Morocco.

Abd-el Krim himself is far away, an exile on the Island of Reunion in the Pacific ocean, but his relatives are free men and they are out, at present, it is reported, to avenge the humiliation inflicted upon their leader.

Good Morning.

BY LOUIE D. NEWTON.

UNEVENTFUL DAYS.

A letter from a dear friend in a distant state concludes with this phase, "We are all well and there is no news of unusual nature. We are moving along through uneventful days." That is something to be thankful for, indeed. By that phrase, my friend meant to say that life was flowing within its banks—no floods of surprise nor sorrow. As I looked at the typical phraseology of the closing paragraph of the letter it carried me back to my boyhood days when I was away at school and would get a letter from home. My father and mother would often use that very phrase—"no news of unusual nature"—and I sometimes wondered why so little could be going on.

And then, alas, one day a letter came, saying, "Ruby died last night. Your mother is right lonely this morning. Write her a note today." Ruby was my mother's horse. She had driven her to grandmother's, to the missionary society meetings, to the little country store, to the homes of every neighbor. I could remember how my mother would go to the fence and poke Ruby some of the tender sprouts from the garden, or maybe some of the juicy shucks from the first roasting ears. I could remember how Ruby would always neigh when my mother walked through the barnyard. My mother did love that horse, and she was dead. There was news that day. Something was happening. And I didn't like the eventful day as much as I did the days when the letters said, "no news of unusual nature."

Which may well remind us that we are happiest, perhaps, when the everyday experiences are allowed to bring their ministry of sincerity and fidelity. It takes one back to the wonderfully helpful picture which Longfellow paints in his Village Blacksmith:

"His hair is crisp, and black, and long,
His face is like the tan;
His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns whate'er he can,
And looks the whole world in the face,
For he owes not any man.

Toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing,
Onward through life he goes;
Each morning sees some task begun,
Each evening sees it close;
Something attempted, something done,
Has earned a night's repose."

I guess they were thought of as uneventful days in that little village, but after all, and withal, very happy, very happy days.

Night 10 Days Long.

October 15, 1582—When morning came October 15, 1582, the longest night in history had passed. Throughout Roman Catholic countries, persons who had gone to bed October 5 rose with the cock's crow to find it was October 15. By decree of Ugo Buoncompagno, Pope Gregory XIII, 10 days were suppressed to correct errors in the Julian method of intercalation and adjust the periods between January 1 and the solstices in the new calendar. It came to be known as the Gregorian calendar, but the pope did not devise it. One Aloysius Lilius, an astronomer and physician of Naples, calculated it. Last country to adopt it was Russia. During all the years it was a theocratic state, it used a pagan calendar. When it became godless, it adopted the calendar of the church.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.

THE PURPOSE WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—There is a popular notion that President Roosevelt if re-elected, will ease down and swing to the right. The absence of promises in his campaign speeches has encouraged that general belief. The President has suggested nothing new from the stump except a long-range crop insurance farm program.

If you want a tip on this from the inside: Read the Detroit speech over again.

In it you will find such significant hints as: "There are a thousand and one things still to be done. . . . There are many problems not yet solved. . . . It is not enough that we have ended the days of 1932. . . . It is not enough that we have saved many homes and put thousands of people to work. . . . The automobile industry and every other industry still need great improvements in their relationship to their employes. . . . Certain steps looking toward that end (spreading of the work) have been taken, but they are not sufficient. . . ."

Mr. Roosevelt did not say what would be sufficient. Nor did he mention any of the 1,001 things. The simple truth is he has the purpose, but not the program—that is, not yet.

CIRCUMSTANCES Presidents, in their first terms, usually live for re-election. In their second terms they live for history. At least, they are subject to these highly important considerations.

The few around Mr. Roosevelt who recally seem to understand him know he has not been wholly immune to the usual requirement of the first four years, and do not believe he will be different from most presidents in their second terms. Consequently, they expect him to do anything except swing to the right.

The program to carry out his purpose, they say, will be subject primarily to circumstances. The biggest circumstance to be considered is congress. It will be more conservative and less amenable to White House discipline. (The last Republican canvass is said to have indicated a Republican gain of 71 to 84 house seats, which is probably too high by 25 per cent or more, but, nevertheless, an indication.) Another circumstance is the supreme court. The size of his majority, if any, also may determine, to some extent, how he chooses to move.

One thing is clear. He is getting through the campaign without heavy promises and would have complete freedom of determination.

ENTHUSIASM Certain presidential advisers were dismayed that the President chose to say so much at Detroit. Some of those phrases were not in the original drafts of the speech which he took with him on the train. They say the enthusiastic crowds he met along the way imparted some of their enthusiasm to him and he wrote in a few extra paragraphs under the excitement of the campaign traveling.

ANIMUS Some of these current stories about changes to be expected in the cabinet if Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected come from a lofty authority; in fact, no lower than National Democratic Chairman Farley. He told some of his friends, off the record, who would probably be dropped from the cabinet, and he mentioned at least three names.

All it really means is that this is what Mr. Farley would like to do. He would have done it long ago if he had been running the cabinet. But it really does not mean the changes will be made.

REST Another of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign health secrets is that he sleeps in cornfields. Not actually out between the rows, of course, but in the air-cooled comfort of his private car, drawn up for the night on railroad sidings adjacent to any handy field of corn. His western schedule was arranged so that he spent about six hours nearly every night somewhere amid the murmurs of the tassels, thus avoiding the customary lurching and bolting associated with overnight travel. Thus, also, he avoided spending more time than necessary wtih the local politicians.

BREAK-IN The long-talked reorganization of the White House secretariat is now a lively post-election possibility. A prospective press secretary has been broken in on Mr. Roosevelt's last two trips. He is Chairman Eugene Leggett, of the National Emergency Council, former Washington correspondent of a Detroit paper. The present press secretary, Stephen T. Early, is planning to retire January 1 into a private job, win, lose or draw.

SILHOUETTES

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Ever since a little chap,
Soon after I was born,
I've always yearned to groan and toot
Upon a big French horn.

Whene'er I see a band parade,
Desire awakes anew,
To wrap its brass around my form,
And blow bass toodle-oo.

Lots of Mail These Days.

Morning mail, for a couple of days, has been heavy with letters and postcards in support of the suggestion, made in this column, that some means of economical transportation should be arranged between the Battle Hill sanitarium and the end of the street car line, a mile or more away.

"We have a sister in the sanitarium," writes Gladys Neill, "who we visit two or thee times a week. And with a small income we can't afford to pay a taxi man 40 cents and it is a long walk for my mother, who is sixty-two years old."

And Mrs. Hattie Lang, a patient at the hospital, writes "Truly something should be done. As a patient I want to thank you for the interesting comment on this subject."

In Like Vein.

There are many others, in similar vein, as well as telephone calls and personal visits.

Surely something can, and will be, done for these people? It is beyond reason to believe the people of Atlanta will continue to permit old and feeble women, with members of their families, their husbands, sons or daughters, in the hospital, to struggle down that long road whenever they want to visit their loved ones.

It is not a question of profits and loss. It is a matter of humanity, and sympathy. Even though the transportation company that provided the needed bus lost a dollar or two a day for gasoline and an operators' pay, it wouldn't matter, when compared to the benefit of the service rendered.

Old people, poor and with patients in the hospital, have enough sorrow to bear as it is without adding physical conditions that must, inevitably, curtail the number of their visits and make each one a heart-breaking struggle.

Such a small loss could be marked up to charity, I should think. At least in the hearts of the people who bore it and in the eternal records, if not in the bookkeeping of man.

502 New Picture Theaters.

Did you think there were enough theaters already in the United States?

According to "Box Office," picture trade journal, 502 new theaters will have been erected in the United States, for the year, when 1936 comes to a close. Aggregate cost of these places is $26,120,200, the largest sum spent on theater construction in five years.

In 1932 the amount involved was $17,500,000; in 1933 it was only $13,500,000; in 1934 it was $20,000,000, and in 1935, $21,500,000.

In 1931 it was $45,000,000; in 1930, $97,580,000, and in 1929, $163,559,000.

Total seating capacity for the nation is put at 11,000,000, with 286,716 seats added this year.

Coming nearer home, in the Atlanta film exchange area, there have been, this year, 23 new theaters built with a seating capacity of 10,000 and at a total cost of $500,000.

Final Word.

About that terrific problem of the two coins of total value 30 cents, "and one isn't a quarter," let Dr. Charles P. Copeland have the final—I mean final—word. He writes:

"I'm one of the ones who tried to figure it out while lying awake and when you answered it this morning in your column I started to call you at 4:30 a. m. and make you lose some sleep, too, but I wasn't that cruel.

"But when the posse is organized to duck you in Piedmont Lake I want to be one of them and you'd better see that I am, for I will try to induce them to wait until next spring, when it is warmer.

"But at that it was a d—— good joks, 'but the other one was.' Piffle."

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From The Constitution of Saturday, October 21, 1911:

"Atlanta, always ahead, took the first steps toward welcoming the tourists yesterday afternoon when the reception car of the citizens of Atlanta left for Commerce, where the badge committee will welcome the Glidden tourists and pilot them to Atlanta."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From The Constitution of Thursday, October 21, 1886:

"The Sixth Methodist church on Marritt's avenue is to be improved and is to have a new name. The congregation has set aside one thousand dollars to beautify the interior of the building and to refurnish it. After the improvements have been made, the church will be called the Marritts avenue Methodist church instead of the Sixth."

Talmudic Tales

BY DAVID MORANTZ.

Number 446.

(Based upon the legends and philosophy found in the Talmud, which work contains the civic and canonical laws and traditions of the Jewish people, dating back as far as 3,000 years.)

QUESTIONS I'VE BEEN ASKED.

What are the more important Jewish holidays and the dates they occur in 1936?

Chronologically, beginning with Passover, 1936 (or 5696 according to the Jewish calendar) they are:

Pesach (Passover) which begins April 7, 1936, and is observed eight days.

Shavouth (Feast of Weeks) May 27 1936; two days.

Tisha B'Av (Feast of Av), July 28, 1936; one day.

Rosh Hashannah (New Year) September 17, 1936, beginning the Jewish year 5697; two days.

Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement). September 26, 1936; one day.

Sukkoth (Feast of Tabernacle). October 1, 1936; seven days.

Shemini Atzereth (Feast of Conclusion), October 8 1936; two days.

Simchas Torah (Rejoicing in the Law), second day of Shemin: Atzereth, October 9, 1936.

Channakkuh (Feast of Lights), December 9, 1936; eight days.

Purim (Feast of Lots), February 5, 1937.

Due to the extensive interest in Talmudic Tales, 128 of the legends and over 500 pearls of wisdom have been collected in an attractive book of 195 pages, handsomely bound in grained blue vellum cloth, with gold-stamped title. Autographed by author. Suitable for gifts or prizes. Price $1.50 post paid. Address orders to "Talmudic Tales," care The Atlanta Constitution.

No Forts—Peace.

The United States and Great Britain entered into a convention in 1818 for the joint occupancy of Oregon and created the longest undefended frontier in the world. For they agreed not to erect fortifications along the United States-Canadian border or maintain naval vessels in the Great Lakes. The world's longest unfortified frontier has been the longest at peace. This historic pact is known in history as the Bush-Bagot treaty. The latter was Sir Charles Bagot, 37-year-old British ambassador at Washington. American historians and encyclopedists consider Bush of so little import that they fail to identify him!

FAIR ENOUGH

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Another G. O. P. Bookie Sought. NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—My Democratic friends down south are beginning to amount to a nuisance with their requests for Republicans suitable for plucking or skinning. Recently I gave a fine Republican to Mr. Jack Randolph, of Richmond, Va., because it seems that some previous column of mine had scared away a Liberty Leaguer whom he was saving for election day. I thought it was only fair to make good to Mr. Randolph, so I sent him Mr. Fred G. Leib, the retired baseball journalist, who not only desires to bet on Mr. Landon but offers even money and might be induced to give 6 to 5.

But now comes several other clamorous Democrats of the southern tier occasionally demanding that I drop everything and dig up Republicans for them. Anyone would think I was in the business of raising Republicans.

Not only that, but the boys are beginning to cut in, and that is not only bad sportsmanship, unworthy of southern Democrats, but a dangerous business which might lead to gun play on the field of honor, suh. I gave Mr. Leib to Mr. Randolph alone. If he is generous to give away pieces of him to other deserving Democrats down south that is his business. He can cut Mr. Leib to hash for all I care, but Mr. Leib is his to have and to hold.

Seeks Piece Of Mr. Leib. I desire to make this clear because Mr. Albert Stone, of the Jackson Sun, of Jackson, Tenn., has written direct to Mr. Leib at his winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla., trying to obtain a piece of him or maybe all of him, without consulting Mr. Randolph.

I am sure Mr. Stone did not appreciate the ethical impropriety of this, and trust that he will cease these advances until he has consulted Mr. Randolph. This amounts to poaching, or muscling, as I believe the more modern term is, and surely Mr. Stone, of Jackson, Tenn., could not face his family, friends and pastor with the sin of poaching or muscling, gnawing at his soul.

Moreover, Mr. Stone is rather disagreeable about it, for he says in his letter to me that he doesn't believe there is any such Republican as Mr. Leib offering even money on Mr. Landon.

"If Mr. Leib is not a mythical character," says he, "it seems only fair to ask that you either put us in touch with him or refrain from publishing such statements."

Mr. Leib Is No Myth. Well, now, Mr. Leib is no myth, although I will concede that a deserving Democrat living in Jackson, Tenn., is justified in entertaining doubts of the existence of an even-money Republican at this time. To him it might have the sound of the story of the fabulous loch-ness monster which boosted the Scottish tourist season a few years ago, but I think my record will show that I have never boosted anything, and I am a little surprised and hurt by Mr. Stone's skepticism.

Indeed, our Mr. Leib is no myth, and he is even more aggressive than I believed at first, for he has written me a letter describing his system of selecting Mr. Landon and threatening to go right through Richmond and dig Mr. Randolph out of his hole.

It is the most astonishing thing I ever heard of, and I have heard of the rabbit which chased Doc Blanton's hound dog up Main street in Union City, Tenn., that time. That rabbit, however, was full of Tennessee corn, and I am sure Mr. Leib is not. At least, he wasn't when I saw him last, and his letter to me is very legible and does not sound as though he were at all corned, unless you consider the contents.

Picked Ball Teams. "My supply of the Roosevelt bologna is limited," Mr. Leib says, but that is bologna itself, as Mr. Leib retired from baseball writing only because he could not afford to earn any more money and thus send his tax income into the top bracket. "My supply is limited, but I believe I can accommodate Mr. Randolph, of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. I picked 17 out of 20 pennant winners in 10 years, and my World Series record is 18 out of 25, but politics has always been my softest touch. But I do not pick elections with wheat statistics and car loadings, as you say. I am an ear-to-the-grounder. One has to be smart and know how to interpret the rumbles, and this year the rumbles against the New Deal are plain to a trained ear-to-the-grounder.

Mr. Leib then adds that he will be driving boldly right through Richmond in a few days, and is willing to meet Mr. Randolph and the Democratic state committee, if it comes to that, right on the courthouse steps. Maybe they ought to turn out the national guard, because this thing could get serious, with all those deserving Democrats milling and scuffling and shouting. "Leave me at him, men!"

Maybe, in the interests of public order, Mr. Randolph ought to form a company and issue shares in his ear-to-the-grounder, who is, to my certain knowledge, no myth, and to the best of my recollection a stranger to that corn.

Not So Sanguinary.

Only 16,200 men were killed or wounded in all the years of the American Revolution, and this includes all the American, French, British and German forces. That's fewer than the automobile accident victims in the country in a month or two. Soon after the Revolution broke out, the faces of kings and queens an playing cards were replaced with portraits of Washington, Franklin and other patriots; but superstitious players refused to use them. Instead they bought "bootleg" cards bearing kings and queens.

Edison's Runner-Up.

Francis Henry Richards was born in New Hartford, Conn., in 1850, where, with only rudimentary schooling, he began at 15 a career second only to Edison's in quantity and variety of invention. Among his more than 360 patents were the envelope-making machine, automatic scale, air-cushion doorsprings.

The Inequality That Men Hate is the Kind That Disqualifies the Best Horse

BY ROBERT QUILLEN.

Lincoln once said that America gives its people more liberty and equality than any other nation in the world.

That was true when he said it and is equally true today.

No sensible person pretends that we have absolute liberty or absolute equality; but if we do not attain perfection, we at least come nearer to it than any other land.

The fathers neither said nor implied that all men are equal, but only that they are born equal; they did not imply that men are born equal in strength, intelligence and opportunity, but only that one is endowed with arbitrary superiority or rank and caste by reason of his birth.

That truth, often misunderstood, is the foundation of our institutions and our political structure.

Of course men are unequal. To deny it is silly. Among our acquaintances you will find no two who are equal in energy, learning, intelligence, honor, greed, or any other quality.

But here is the thing that matters. The son of a Van Asterbilt may be born in luxury, and blessed with every advantage that wealth and power and social rank can bestow; while a brat born in a shack below the railroad tracks may fall heir to nothing but ignorance, poverty and dirt; but if that brat has the necessary keenness of mind, ambition and industry, he can climb to the top and eventually keep the Van Asterbilt waiting, hat in hand, to ask a favor.

The inequality that men hate is the kind that dooms one man forever to rank as an inferior, no matter how superior he proves himself.

That is the age-old inequality of rank and caste that still survives in many lands, and true liberty is impossible where it prevails.

Americans are unequal. An so long as human nature remains as it is, the superior will use their advantage selfishly. What is more, the snobbish and fearful will hasten to serve and humor those whose wealth gives them power.

But every mother's son of us can hope to win the rank and prestige to which his abilities and industry and luck entitle him, and that is the kind of freedom and equality that counts.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

Overeating, producing congestion of the liver, the portal vein area, is a predisposing factor of piles, for overfilling of the portal veins with blood means that the hemorrhoidal veins, which empty directly into the portal system, must be engorged, too, and swelling, dilating or enlargement of a vein in this area constitutes a pile or hemorrhoid.

Indulgence in condiments, pepper, mustard, highly seasoned sauces, pickles, tamales, spice, etc., tends to produce irritation of the mucous membrane and favors development of piles.

Alcoholic beverages are notoriously productive of chronic congestion of the pelvic organs and consequent weaknesses and maladies.

Work or habit which involves prolonged standing or sitting, without opportunity for frequent interruptions by moments of physical activity, is a common predisposing factor of hemorrhoids or varicose conditions generally.

Constipation is not a cause, but rather an associated weakness or perhaps an effect of hemorrhoids.

The popular habit of resorting to physic to "regulate" the bowels is a prolific cause of hemorrhoids and of pelvic congestion, especially the cheaper and more popular physics which contain cascara, aloes, senna and other crude, drastic purges. Even mineral oil, phenolphthalein and the milder saline laxatives must be regarded as predisposing causes of piles or pelvic congestion in men or women.

There is no natural way to regulate the bowel action except nature's way, and in order to cultivate natural function it is necessary to swear off from all physics and all unnatural "aids." If you've been using such unnatural agents for many years it isn't easy to break the habit, but where there is a flicker of intelligence there is hope. The way to freedom is shown in the booklet, "The Constipation Habit," which I am glad to send to any reader who asks for it and encloses a dime and a stamped envelope bearing his address.

Remember, we are dealing with hygiene and the prevention of piles. The treatment of piles is something else.

How important toilet is in the prevention of piles and other troubles it is difficult to say. However, it is an excellent rule to follow, as regularly as possible, the habit of using soap and water bathing instead of toilet paper, and after the surface is quite dry perhaps an application of plain talcum or borated talcum to prevent irritation or chapping. The soap and water washing may be done with tepid or warm water, but the rinsing should be with cold water.

Clothing is usually too warm and too impervious to access of air. The less clothing or covering over the region of the perineum the more healthful, as a rule. Superfluous covering not only tends to cause relaxation of the tissues but favors irritation and inflammation. Air if not sunlight tends to prevent such ill effects.

Two mistakes are too commonly made, and sometimes have unhappy consequences: First, the sufferer assumes his trouble is piles and tries some remedy without benefit of physician. Second, the patient complains of his trouble to a physician who assumes the trouble is piles without making an examination.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

One for the Ouch File.

Is it injurious to the nervous system of adolescent youth to be suddenly jerked from sound sleep in bed, or to have cold water dashed on them to waken them in the morning?

(Mrs. B. B.)

Answer—No.

Apple for Enteritis.

Please send your apple treatment for enterities. (L. B.)

Answer—I have none. Grated raw apple as the exclusive article of diet has proved helpful in many cases of diarrhea. Even infants with diarrheni conditions derive much benefit from powdered dried apple given mixed with very weak tea as exclusive diet for a day or two.

Hollywood Today

BY SHEILAH GRAHAM.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—Luise Rainer has transferred her affections to Composer George Gershwin. . . . "Maytime" cost M.-G.-M. $800,000 before the studio decided to throw it away and make an entirely new production. The money invested and wasted in pictures would make the average businessman's hair stand on end. "Romeo and Juliet" and "The Good Earth" cost $5,000,000 between them. . . . Walter Wanger says he would like to sign up Mrs. Wally Simpson, favorite dancing partner of the king of England, to play the lead in "Personal History." . . . Robert Taylor envies Shirley Temple because interviewers do not ask her whether she is in love and, or intends to marry.

When Darryl Zanuck took over Winnie Sheehan's job at Twentieth Century-Fox, there was one contract above all others he wished to void. The girl was getting $2,000 a week on a long optional contract and not only was doing nothing to earn it, but was refusing work in pictures assigned her by the casting director. Zanuck sent for the girl and magnanimously offered her four weeks' salary, free of acting obligations, if she would leave the studio. The girl took seit and contract to a lawyer, who told her she was entitled to stay six months with pay. She did. And Zanuck is now so pleased she remained, he has given her a new contract with a large salary increase. The girl's name is Simone Simon (pronounced 'everything come sto her who waits').

Fred Astaire has gone Hollywood and purchased a station wagon in lieu of an expensive auto. . . . David Niven accompanies Merle Oberon to New York on the first hop of her trip to Enguand. But that is as far as he will go. The long-standing romance between the pair is expected to end when he returns solo to Hollywood. . . . Margot Grahame is startling the movie city with a dead white makeup, pinky red hair and heavily mascarad eyes. . . . Only three persons in the world know Garbo's private telephone number. . . . Comedienne Alice Brady has no sense of humor and takes her emoting very seriously. After the most excruciatingly funny scene, she invariably asks the giggiers, "What did I do that was so funny?"

British Starlet Nova Pilbeam may come to Paramount to play the lead in "National Velvet" despite the rooting of Scenarist Bill Lipscomb for Leslie Howard's young daughter. . . . Carl Leammle Jr. is said to have wired June Lang to postpone her marriage to Victor Satti until he returns to Hollywood from New York. Before Junior left for Europe a few months ago, he was head man in Miss Lang's private life. . . . Michael Whalen was at one time manager of three five-and ten-cent stores.

Eleanor Powell is teaching Joan Crawford to tap dance. Miss Crawford started her acting career as a hoofer on Broadway. . . . Adolphe Menjou, Arlene Judge, Dixie Dunbar and Ned Sparks all caught colds watching Sonja Henie's skating sequences in "One in a Million." . . . One well tried method of getting studio work is to gamble with an important executive, lose money and tell him the only way he can collect is by giving you a job.

Norma Shearer's severe attack of bronchial pneumonia, following the death of her husband, Irving Thalberg, from practically the same complaint, has caused several filmite owners of Santa Monica homes to move inland to escape the thick, damp, pea-soup fog that envelopes the beach at this time of the year. . . . Constance Bennett would like to produce pictures, but so far has found no person willing to take over the financial end of the undertaking. . . Agent Zeppo Marx finds it easiest to sell clients and stories to M.-G.-M. by threatening to return to his old job as fourth member of the Marx brothers team.

OFF THE RECORD - By Ed Reed

KING'S HEART HIS OWN, ATLANTANS DECLARE

Miss Frances Pearce, secretary to Raymond W. Torras, engineering secretary to the city planning commission. First she puts herself in Edward's place. "Sure," she says, "I'd marry her."

Then she as promptly puts herself in Wally's position. "I wonder," she says, "what she's got that I haven't got?"

Democratic is Mrs. Etta Rhamstine, president of the Atalanta Club, organization of women employes at city hall.

"Why shouldn't he marry her? She's as good as anyone else even if she isn't of royal blood."

And then from the masculine viewpoint, Mr. Torras: "I don't think he'd do so badly if he did marry her."

None o' Our Business.

Now to one of nautical title, bearing in mind that "Brittania rules the waves," Jesse Draper, commander-in-chief of Georgia's navy:

"I feel sort of like the British do. If Edward wants to marry her, why not? He's trying to make a good king and I don't think his love affairs are anyone else's business but his."

Mr. Draper admires the king immensely. He told of the time he and other American army and navy officers entertained the king, then the Prince of Wales, at luncheon in London shortly after the armistice.

"A splendid fellow," says Mr. Draper. "He deserves to be allowed to follow the dictates of his heart.

"No, I am not acquainted with Mrs. Simpson."

Declares the judiciary, in the person of Judge Virlyn B. Moore:

"King or no king, Edward should be allowed to marry Mrs. Simpson or any other woman, if he loves her. The individual right of the man should predominate regardless of his position, and in such a venture he should be regarded as a man and not as a king. Love should overrule the royal standing of Edward."

Minister's Viewpoint.

Says the ministry, represented by Dr. Herman L. Turner: "Certainly a nation as great as Great Britain should set a high standard in the institution of marriage. While the matter of wedlock between Mrs. Simpson and King Edward is his personal affair, the matter should have a lot of thought on his part in order for him to adhere to the high standards expected."

And, finally, says Herbert Oliver, Atlanta manager of an engineering concern and, like the king, a prominent horseman: "I think Edward's life is Edward's own life. Never having been in the king business I don't know whether it would hurt his standing or not, but I certainly believe in letting him have his way about it."

In his concluding statement, Mr. Oliver packs a lot of wisdom. Says he: "I'm one of those persons who believes in keeping out of other people's affairs, except to wish them great happiness. That goes for the king and all the king's men and all the king's horses."

KING'S BODYGUARD PROTECTS "WALLY"

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The towering 200-pound detective who is King Edward's personal bodyguard, has been assigned to watch Mrs. Ernest Simpson, the monarch's American-born friend.

He is Chief Inspector David Storier, of Scotland Yard. His assignment is to shield the former Baltimore debutante pending hearing of her divorce suit against her shipping broker husband.

It was revealed that his majesty visited Mrs. Simpson secretly in Felixstowe last Sunday. Felixstowe is a seaside resort only ten miles from Ipswich.

For the second week in succession, British censors have deleted pages from the American magazine "Time," containing frank discussions of the king's friendship and now Britons are beginning to wonder whether a similar fate is in store for the first English news-magazine, "Cavalcade," which constantly refers to "Wally" with a freedom quite startling to Buckingham palace officials. A cautious editorial policy has saved it from the scissors of the wholesale news agents. Although advertisers have protested, the editor replied "Cavalcade" would be letting down its readers "if it left out newsworthy information because any advertiser resented it."

The leading hotel in Ipswich was booked full for next Saturday, the day on which Mr. Justice Hawke is expected to hear the divorce suit of Mrs. Simpson.

It was learned authoritatively tonight that Justice Hawke would arrive in Ipswich Friday morning and it was possible the case might be called Friday or Saturday afternoon. The hearing is not expected to last more than five minutes.

Friends of Mrs. Simpson said they did not expect she and the king would be seen together much in public until after her divorce.

Tomorrow the nine-month period of court mourning for King George ends, and it is understood that Edward intends to make frequent appearances in the theater-restaurant section in sharp contrast to the policy of his father who seldom was seen in that district.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Can't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better." —Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

'GONE WITH THE WIND' PASSES 656,000 MARK

ly. "I hope I don't ever have to write anything else."

Miss Mitchell revealed she had received numerous requests for novels and short stories from publishers of virtually all the leading magazines. These she has refused with a polite but firm reply.

Her eyes, Miss Mitchell said, are only now recovering from the excessive strain of reading hundreds of thousands of words in historical records, manuscript, proofs and even the finished volumes of her work.

Reading Proof Big Job.

"When I heard the book was to be published in England," she said, "I thought I had better proof read the book. And you know how big the book is and how much of a job that was."

Miss Mitchell received one clipping yesterday from an English paper commenting on the British edition of the book and expects to hear more within the next day or two. She does not believe the book will meet with the reception in England it was accorded in America, however.

In the meantime, accountants and others who have a knack for figures are continuing to cite interesting comparisons in relation to "Gone With the Wind."

31-Mile Stack.

The company statistician points out several interesting things. One is that if the 656,000 copies so far turned out were stacked one on top of the other—not in the usual end-to-end manner—the stack would reach something over 31 miles toward the stratosphere.

That's allowing three inches depth. Actually the book is a little thicker than that. The Empire State building is 1,248 feet high. Therefore, the stack is 131 times as high as the building.

The anecdotes are numerous. Neatest so far concerns a young woman who has a delightful old aunt, a voracious reader. The young woman knew her aunt should read "Gone With the Wind" but was pretty sure the book was too heavy for her to hold.

So she had the novel divided four ways and rebound in paper. Wrote her aunt by return mail:

"It was nice of you to think of doing such a thing. But I've already read "Gone With the Wind" twice and never thought once about the weight of the book."

MILLEDGEVILLE INVITES FILMING IN THAT CITY.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 20. (AP)—Civic leaders announced today they had begun negotiations with a Hollywood (Cal.) moving picture firm in an effort to induce the company to film some of the scenes for "Gone With the Wind" in this city.

Mayor George Carpenter heads the committee which is seeking to interest Selznick International Pictures, Inc., in filming some of the scenes here.

Civic leaders said the old state capitol, the old Governor's mansion, and other historic homes and buildings in this vicinity would provide the accuracy of detail the producers have announced they will seek in making the picture. Officials of Selznick Pictures advised civic leaders here they would make an early visit to Georgia to consider sites for various scenes.

A number of copies of recent publication, "A Treasure Album of Milledgeville," by Nelle Womack Hines, were sent to officials of the producing company, together with the city's invitation.

East Point Elects Parham Mayor; Beer, Wine License Plan Approved

Entire New Council Named; Merry-Making Follows Ballot Count.

John R. Parham was elected mayor of East Point yesterday, carrying into office with him the entire "Parham ticket," and the electorate voted the licensing of wine and beer sales at a rate which makes possible sale of the beverages.

The previous license fee for wine and beer had been set at $10,000 yearly, although dealers had operated for some time under a lower "unofficial" license fee granted by council.

Parham defeated his opponent, Harold Sheats, by a vote of 1,076 to 685, it was announced by City Clerk John Harkins, and will succeed Mayor Howard Carmichael, who has served four years.

Victorious councilmen were D. A. McDuffie, first ward, defeating P. H. Orr, 310 to 275; Elmo J. Bass, second ward, defeating Paul T. Kohler, 452 to 267, and E. G. Laney, third ward, defeating W. S. McIntosh, 341 to 112.

In the first ward, Orr was the incumbent. Bass succeeds M. O. Hemperley in the second ward, and Laney succeeds Fulton County Representative Claude Winn.

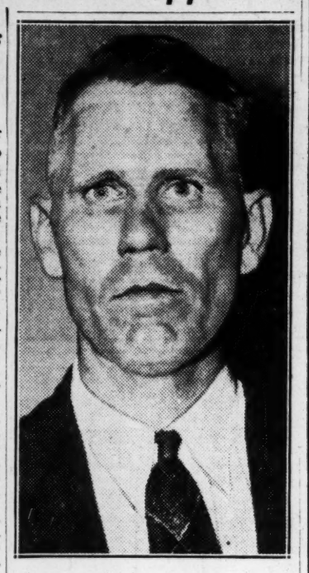

The mayoralty vote by wards was: First, Parham 316, Sheats 271; second, Parham 452, Sheats 267, and third, Parham 308 and Sheats 147.

The beer and wine vote by wards follows: First, for 287, against 244; second, for 413, against 256, and third, for 250, against 154.

East Point last night celebrated the election and the factual return of wine and beer in a colorful merry-making which included fireworks, flares and the employment of every known type of noise-maker.

Mayor-elect Parham served four years overseas during the World War and lost an arm in the Argonne forest drive. He entered the University of Georgia on his return from the war. In 1923 he left the university to enter the Atlanta Law school, from which he was graduated with honors.

He issued a brief statement last night thanking the voters for their confidence and pledging to give his best services to the city of East Point.

JOHN R. PARHAM.

BISHOP FLINT TO OPEN CHURCH PARLEY TODAY

A three-day session of the area council of the Methodist Episcopal church will open at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the Central M. E. church, with Bishop C. W. Flint presiding.

Attending delegates will be from the Atlanta and Savannah conferences and South Carolina, Florida and south Florida areas. Among the high officials of the church who will be present are Dr. M. J. Holmes, of the Methodist Episcopal board of education; Mrs. W. C. Goode, president of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, and N. E. Davis, Columbus, Ohio, secretary of hospitals, house and deaconess work.

VANDENBERG TO CONTINUE.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 20.—(AP) Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, assailing critics of his interrupted radio "debate" with the recorded voice of President Roosevelt, asserted tonight he would continue his attacks on the Democratic administration "regardless of any efforts to restrain or to interfere with a presentation of what I believe to be the facts."

Oldsters To Organize Atlanta Club Friday

The organization meeting of the Atlanta Three Score and Ten Club will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce building, it was announced yesterday by William S. Sanders, Lonnie Smith, deputy clerk of the superior court, and F. W. Edwardy, Atlantans who are sponsoring the organization.

S. M. Smith, national field director of the Three Score and Ten Clubs of America, will make the principal address.

The club will be patterned along the lines of similar clubs in other sections of the nation and membership is open to Atlantans who are 70 years of age or older.

STATE DEPARTMENTS SPLIT ON BANK PERMIT

Superintendent, Law Department Clash on Tifton Permit.

Superintendent of Banks R. R. Tippins and Assistant Attorney General Dave Parker were at odds yesterday over the establishment of a new bank at Tifton.

Informed the state Law Department would contest his action in seeking a consent order favorable to the new bank in a suit pending in Tift superior court, Tippins said:

"Since I've been made a party to the suit pending at Tifton, I signed a consent order not to resist the issuing of the certificate for the new bank."

R. E. Gormley, Tippins' predecessor, had declined to issue the permit sought by Mrs. Susie T. Moore, former Democratic national committeewoman from Georgia; W. W. Banks, former official of the Citizens & Southern National Bank of Atlanta, and other friends of Governor Talmadge.

They brought suit to compel Gormley to approve the certificate, and made Tippins a party when he succeeded Gormley in office by Governor Talmadge's appointment.

Capitol attaches said yesterday the state Law Department is the sole legal representative of Tippins as bank superintendent, and that he had acted without consulting Assistant Attorney General Dave Parker, who is assigned to the banking department.

Parker wired Judge R. Eve, of the Tift circuit, asking that the motion for the consent order be ignored. It was said at the capitol Judge Eve has set a hearing in the case for Saturday.

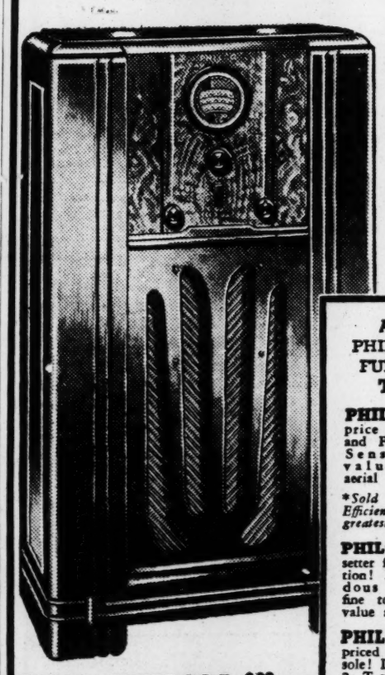

ATLANTAN IS STABBED, POLICE HOLD SUSPECT

Stabbed several times in the left side of the face, E. H. Horne Jr., 30, who gave his address as 10 Krog street, N. E., was treated by a physician in the neighborhood late yesterday afternoon.

A negro listed as Wade Scoggins, 29, of a Mangum street address, was arrested on a charge of stabbing another. Details of the incident were not learned.

INSTALLMENT VII.

"Why he's the best informed man on angling I've ever met."

"He certainly talks like a fisherman, but look, all those new togs, new rods, new—." She broke off in amazement as Chandler cast his line with that underhand stroke. "I take it back," she said. "He's good."

"Good? Why he's magnificent!" said her father, and waded out into the stream a few yards below Bill. He tried the underhand cast, but it was a bad imitation of Bill's masterstroke, and he grunted in disgust.

Bill was in a spot. Now was the time for him to make good. And he found that he had forgotten some of the instructions: and he'd got to produce a fish! Looking desparately about, he saw a bend in the stream 50 yards up. Mysteriously, and against all the principles of trout fishing, he started backing up stream, trailing his line after him as though he were trolling. At Allenbury's cry of amazement, Bill put his fingers on his lips indicating quiet and continued upstream.

"What's that all about?" said Connie softly to her father.

"It's new to me, but whatever it is I'm betting it's good! He's probably going to show us something new in angling."

Once around the bend, out of their sight, Bill took the book of instructions on angling from his pocket, was thumbing the pages when his foot slipped on a rock and the book fell from his hands and began floating downstream, title up. He plunged in after it, if it got around the bend, and was seen, his reputation as a fisherman was gone smash!

Almost at the bend, he made a grab for the book, had his fingers on it, when he felt a sharp tug at the rod which made it fly out of his hands. The rod, too, was floating downstream! He saw a fish which looked like a whale to his distorted vision. Madly he plunged after the rod, the book forgotten. Sprawling in the stream, bruised and bewildered, he managed to grab the rod just before it reached the bend. He was dragged a few feet, but held on for dear life, made a grab at an overhanging bough of a tree. The fish pulled on the rod, and Bill felt as though he were on the rack. Finally he managed to right himself, but the fish pulled madly at the rod, and Bill perforce followed it downstream, around the bend.

Suddenly, Connie perceived the fish, followed by the rod and by Bill, and gave an excited yell.

"Reel him!" cried Mr. Allenbury in great excitement. "No, give him more! Now reel him!"

Bill tried to follow instructions, but the fish had other ideas, and started an attack. Connie, unmindful of the fact that she was not dressed for fishing, grabbed a net on the bank and plunged into midstream deftly sweeping the fish into the net as Bill reeled rapidly. Together they were practically embraced as they helped each other and the fish up the bank. Mr. Allenbury followed excitedly.

"You're drenched!" cried Bill solicitously.

"Never mind me!" she said breathlessly, breaking away from the embrace. "Look, Dad! Look! Did you ever see such a big trout?"

"It's Walleye!" cried Mr. Allenbury, a spasm of envy crossing his face. "The biggest, most elusive trout in Glen Arden! We've been fishing for him for two years now—and you caught him!"

"Oh, it was nothing," said Bill modestly.

"Nothing, you say! But I'm ashamed of you, Connie, spoiling his sport with a net. Nine-tenths of the fun is in reeling him in."

"Oh, I'm sorry!" Connie laughed breathlessly at Bill.

"Now," said Mr. Allenbury, unhook him. I want to see how—"

Bill gave a sickly smile, then said, magnanimously: "No. I can't take all the glory. You brought me here. You shall have the honor of taking him off the hook!"

At dinner in the lodge that night, Walleye, with a tiny American flag stuck in him, occupied the center of the table, on a large platter. Mr. Allenbury raised a brandy glass in a toast.

"To Walleye, king of trout!"

Bill raised his glass. "How have the mighty fallen!"

"Cook Walleye? Sacrilege!" exclaimed her father. "He shall hang in the trophy room in the place of honor."

"I still say it's an awful waste of food," said Connie kiddingly.

"And speaking of food," said Bill blissfully, pointing to his empty plate. "I'm glad you decided not to hang the flapjacks in the trophy room!"

A twinkle came into Connie's eyes. "You like them?"

"Like them! I was thinking of trying to steal your cook!" Then as Connie and her father exchanged an intimate laugh, he looked at them puzzled. "Have I said something . . ."

"Would you like to meet the flapjack cook?" asked Allenbury.

"I don't believe I'm worthy," jested Bill.

"There she sits," He nodded fondly at Connie.

"No!" cried Bill really amazed.

"The gentleman doubts me!" said Connie to her father. "Come on, Mr. Chandler, I'm afraid I'll have to prove it to you. Some more flapjacks, Father?"

"Do 'you want to kill your old dad?" He waved them away. "You go ahead. I'm going to snatch about 10 minutes of reading . . . and eight hours of sleep."

Bill got to his feet and followed Connie into the kitchen.

Connie emulating a magician, held up her hands, rolled up imaginary sleeves. "Nothing in my hands. Nothing up my sleeves. They laughed at me when I sat down at the griddle."

She poured batter on the griddle, pounded on the table. "Service . . . Personally, I believe it is done with mirrors."

She scooped up a flapjack, and with an expert twist of the wrist, tossed it neatly up into the air. "Coming up!" she said, and the flapjack landed in the plate she had placed before Bill. He sniffed at it.

"It looks like a flapjack. Smells like a flapjack." He tasted it and cried: "It is a flapjack . . . It's amazing—you and a griddle-cake, I never would have paired you."

"Ah, there are many sides to my nature—depths you little dream of."

"I begin to believe you are right."

"You should study them sometime."

"What would you suggest?"

She hesitated a moment, then said abruptly: "How would you like to go for a moonlight swim later? You do swim?"

"Almost as well as I dance."

"I'm afraid you'll drown! It's awfully cold. Do you mind?"

"Me! Mind? Why, I'm known to my intimates as 'Polar-Bear Chandler.'"

They swam out to the raft, laughing, fighting, ducking each other. Then she raced him to the raft, and beat him. The raft was luxuriously equipped with mats, cushions, poles for the awning, a huge chest from which Connie took heavy towelling robes in which they wrapped themselves. She pushed a button on a pole, lighted a cigaret and dropped on the mat in healthy weariness.

"You're pretty palatial here," remarked Bill.

"I always come down for a plunge I've even staid all night."

"Here? Alone?"

"I'm not afraid," Dance music drifted across the water to them.

"What's that?" exclaimed Bill, startled. She indicated the button she had pushed.

"Remote control. Radio in the bathhouse, connected to the raft by a wire. I like music with my moonlight."

Bill sat on the chest and looked down at her. "You're a funny kid. That's what you seem up here. Very different from the gal on the boat."

"And I feel different. This place is all tied up with my childhood. The trees, the air, the water, even the frogs. . . . I love it all. We've always had heavenly times here, every minute completely filled-like today."

"It's been perfect," responded Bill soberly. "The very best."

"But its costing me a fortune," she said in mock seriousness. I'm paying dearly for this day of fun."

"But how . . . what?" said Bill, completely bowled over. "I mean, just . . ."

She laughed, drew her hand across his face, without touching it, as though to wipe off its expression. "It's my own fault for daring to bet with father on men. I'm a rotten judge of men."

"Aren't we all?" he asked, gaining composure.

"Anyway I bet him a new plane that you'd tip your hand in the first 24 hours."

"'Tip my hand?' Go on."

She became apologetic. "You see, every one wants to know us . . . and you did want to know us on the boat . . ."

"Type my eye . . . Im unique!" He was indignant.

"That's a help! Well, Dad placed you . . . impetuous, friendly, enthusiastic, guileless . . ."

"Just a minute!" he interrupted. "I'm not sure about 'guileless.' It sounds a bit on the half-wit side. What was your analysis?"

"Well, at first I said—on the boat . . . just another fortune hunter chasing fifty million dollars on the hoof!"

"What conceit!" said Bill gravely.

"I know, it's silly, but then you told me off for being fragile! But I still said there was something else up your sleeve . . . oil well, an invention, and, will you believe it, I even said you didn't fish!" She grinned at her own stupidity.

"And you lost." Bill was very thoughtful.

"Live and learn, says I, Connie, my angel, next time don't bet on men!" She patted a pillow, saw his morose and solemn expression "What are you thinking?"

"How I come across . . . fortune hunter, card sharp, jewel thief . . ."

"Oh, you fool!" she exclaimed indignantly, "Would I have said that if . . . Oh, dear and I thought I could talk to you! Father over-estimated the I. J.. I'd say a quarter-wit!" He remained silent and she continued scornfully: "Can't you see I'm apologizing for the way . . ." Bill reached down and patted her hand. "I thought we could be friends!"

"We are," said Bill quietly. "And don't apologize for suspecting people." He leaned down, tilted her face with his hand. "Keep right on; ring every coin you meet. There are lots of wooden nickles. Now we're going." He took her hands and pulled her to her feet.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

"How cute! How much did you pay for it?"

There are times when a girl is perfectly willing to tell all. But they aren't the times when some dear friend comes along and wants to know how much she paid for her new hat, or where she was at 10 o'clock last night, when no one answered the telephone. At those times a girl is very likely to develop a hidden nature. There are few of us who can stand being pumped.

The worst of it is that even the best people often turn out to be pumpers—people, that is, whom you like, and to whom you can't quite say, "Who cares?"

Now, of course, the root of the trouble lies back in the pumper's childhood. She should have had an older brother. Ours, we'll wager, could have cured her. But if she has reached adulthood and still indulges in pumping, then the only thing to do is to baffle her with answers that mean nothing. If you give her an answer, she can't repeat her question. And if the answer says nothing, she may catch on that you don't want to tell anything.

For example, when she says "How much did you pay for it?" just say, "Too much." And when she wants to know where you were last night, simply say, "Out." Eventually she ought to realize what you're up to.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

LIFE OF THE OLDEN PERSIANS. III—Soldiers and War.

In a high mountain part of the old Persian empire is a cliff where figures were cut in the stone close to 2,400 years ago. There we see two large figures of Persian soldiers, armed with bow and spear, and several small figures of men who are prisoners of war. Largest of the entire group is the image of the famous king, Darius. He stands high and mighty while one of the captives "takes his feet." In other words the prisoner is humble before the king, lying down while the king rests one of his feet on him.

Persian king with soldiers behind him and prisoners of war in front of him.

The soldiers shown on that cliffside help us to know something about the armed men who fought for Persia. We also have other olden images and an account of them by a Greek traveler.

"The Persian soldiers," said the Greek, "wore shirts covered with iron scales, like the scales of a fish. They also wore trousers and they guarded themselves with wicker shields.

"They carried bows of large size, and used arrows made from reeds. A quiver filled with arrows was slung on the back of each archer. Short speers were also among their weapons, and they had daggers which hung from their girdles."

Those words were about Persian soldiers, but the armies of the king contained many thousands of men gathered from lands which had been conquered. Some of the soldiers who were not Persians used different weapons when making war. The Sagartians, for instance, made use of lassoes. These were long ropes, with a noose at the end of each, like lassoes thrown by present-day cowboys. The ancient soldiers threw their lassoes so they could "rope" enemy soldiers during battle.

Some men in the armies of Persia wore helmets made of wood, and others had helmets of iron. The shields were of many kinds and sizes, some being of wicker, others of rawhide. Many soldiers were mounted and others rode in chariots.

Not content with winning power over Babylonia and near-by lands, the Persian kings sent armies into Egypt, and conquered that great and ancient country. They also conquered Greek colonies along the coast of Asia Minor.

While King Darius was on the throne, the Persians started a new adventure. They went forth to conquer a little country known as Greece. The Greeks at that time were the leading people of Europe. It was believed that if they were defeated, the Persian empire could spread "all over Europe." In our next story, we shall see what came to pass when Darius sent armed forces to Greece.

Plans Revised To Make New Road To Marietta Finest State Highway

Revised state and federal highway plans for the Atlanta-Marietta road will provide one of the most modern highways in Georgia and will do much to relieve traffic congestion from Atlanta northward, it was announced yesterday.

Under the program, on which it is expected actual paving will be begun within the next few weeks, there will be two 20-foot road stretches divided by grass and park plots, thus separating north and south-bound traffic and making for greater comfort and safety.

J. T. Marshall, senior federal highway engineer for Georgia, revealed the enlarged program yesterday and it was confirmed by officials of the State Highway Department, who said the detailed plans are almost completed now and that actual paving should begin within a short time.

Revised for Safety.

It previously had been planned to have one 40-foot road without any division line in the center, but the federal government, recognizing the increased safety and the additional comfort to be obtained by dividing opposite traffic flows, requested the state to revise the plans to provide the grass and park plot areas.

State highway officials agreed to conform and the program is now under way. Only one of the 20-foot roadbeds will be constructed at the time, but the other 20-foot stretch will be added ultimately, Marshall said yesterday.

At the same time, Marshall reported marked progress on the North Side underpass and predicted it will be completed about the first of the year. He said the government had not pressed the road work previous because the underpass was a necessary safety measure before traffic is turned on the new road even if the paving were already completed.

Underpass at Marietta.

An additional improvement at the Marietta end of the road will be a dual underpass, to be constructed as the new road enters that city. The underpass will shunt traffic beneath state highway No. 5 going toward Canton and also the spur of the L. & N. railway, thus eliminating a dangerous crossing and dividing the intersection of the Marietta-Atlanta road and highway No. 5.

Funds for the entire project already are allocated and every financial detail has been cleared, Marshall asserted.

He said a contract for the Marietta underpass probably can be let within the next several days.

Highway department engineers said yesterday the state is co-operating fully with the entire program and added that the work will be pushed as rapidly as is consistent with the many other projects now under consideration.

2 COUNTIES COMBED FOR ROBBER-SLAYERS

An intensive manhunt centering in Hapeville and Fulton and Clayton counties was in progress last night for two men who robbed an Atlanta truck driver of $145 and killed his negro helper early yesterday morning on the outskirts of Thomasville.

The brutal slaying was recounted to Hapeville police by L. N. Lasseter, of 514 Parkway drive, who told the story after the two robbers jumped from his truck near the overhead railroad pass near Hapeville.

Lasseter, who is being held in the Hapeville jail pending investigation of the slaying and robbery, told police the two men jumped on the truck at a street intersection in Thomasville at about 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

At pistol point, he said, the men ordered him to drive out of the city. He complied, he continued, and when they reached a point known as Yankee Farms, about five miles from Thomasville, the men demanded his money.

At that point, Lasseter related, his helper, Red Lee, of a Pulliam street address, resisted the robbers, and a scuffle ensued in which he was struck on the head with a jack handle. The blow fractured the negro's skull, and caused virtually instant death.

After taking Lasseter's money, he reported, the robbers forced him to place the negro's body in the rear of the truck. He did so, and as one of the robbers remained in the rear of the vehicle, with the body, the other, pistol in hand, mounted the driver's seat, next to him, he declared.

The truck then moved off, and Lee's body was tossed to the roadside after the vehicle had gone several miles. Still holding the pistol in his side, Lasseter said, the robber commanded him to drive the 200 miles to Hapeville. He reported the pair fled on foot.

Lasseter notified police and the manhunt began. A pack of bloodhounds from South prison camp were put on the trail, and police of other communities were informed to be on the lookout for the two men.

Lasseter described one of the robbers as being about 25 years old, dark complexioned, with dark hair, about five feet seven inches tall, and weighing 125 pounds. The other was described as being about 40, with slightly gray hair, five feet ten inches tall, and weighing 180 pounds.

H. U. BAKER, 63, DIES IN PRIVATE HOSPITAL

H. U. Baker, 63, member of a pioneer Ben Hill family and a dairyman in that community for many years, died Monday night at a private hospital.

He was a member of the Ben Hill Methodist church, where final rites will be held at 11 o'clock this morning, with the Rev. C. V. Forrester officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery, under direction of Howard L. Carmichael.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Barclay Jackson and Miss Jeanette Baker; two sisters, Mrs. D. A. Shields and Miss Stella Baker, both of Atlanta, and a brother, John J. Baker, of Aledo, Texas.

MESSENGER HELD FOR LETTER THEFT

Postoffice Employe Charged With Taking Special Delivery Missives.

Theft of 55 special delivery letters during a two-year period that netted him approximately $360, was charged to Robert Thomas, postoffice messenger, yesterday before United States Commissioner James E. Brown.

The 55th letter, the postal inspectors charged, was planted. Six one-dollar bills were enclosed in an envelope and mailed from Birmingham to a woman who lives in the district that Thomas has been handling for the special delivery department. The money never reached its destination.

Thomas, according to Inspectors F. C. Ellis and J. A. Miller, was seized when he returned to the postoffice with the advice that no one was at home and he had slid the letter under the door.

"We found the marked money on him," said Ellis to Judge Brown.

Thomas, who has worked for the postoffice department for eight years, was placed under $1,000 bond by the commissioner. A $1,000 surety bond required of all messengers will take care of all losses that can be traced, officials said.

BRADLEY HESITANT ON PLEA OF GUILTY

Promoter Reported Undecided on Whether To Fight Charges.

B. R. Bradley is undecided about his next move in his forthcoming contest with the United States government, it was reported yesterday from his cell in Fulton tower.

Today, District Attorney Lawrence S. Camp, who has been in Savannah, and Postal Inspector Thomas H. Jervey, who has been in Jacksonville, are expected to return to their offices in the Federal building and a conference between them and Bradley is expected to be held some time during the day.

It is possible, however, the conference may be delayed a day or so until Camp and Jervey have had time to consult with each other on their attitude toward Bradley when he is brought in to discuss his attitude toward the indictment the government holds against him—47 counts charging him with use of the mails to defraud.

Bradley, it is said, is reserving his decision on whether to plead guilty or not guilty until he can learn just what the government proposes to do in the event of either decision.

Bradley was the head of the American Bond & Share Corporation and affiliated companies which collapsed in 1935, costing investors hundreds of thousands of dollars.

DR. W. W. NORRIS RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Final rites for Dr. W. W. Norris, a practicing physician here for more than 30 years, will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Capitol Avenue Baptist church.

The Rev. W. H. Major will officiate and burial will be in Oakland cemetery, under direction of West Side Funeral Home. Dr. Norris, who died Monday at the residence, 545 Oakland avenue, S. E., was a graduate of the University of the South, at Sewanee.

He served for many years as a deacon of the Capitol Avenue Baptist church.

RITES SET TOMORROW FOR MRS. W. H. COBB

Final rites for Mrs. W. H. Cobb, mother of Ty Cobb, will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

Dr. Louie D. Newton will officiate, and burial will be in Royston, Ga. Mrs. Cobb, who had been a resident of Atlanta for the past 12 years, died Monday at the residence, 1155 Orme circle, N. E., at the age of 62.

She was a native of Banks county, where her famous son was also born. Ty Cobb is now a resident of Menlo Park, Cal.

TWO-YEAR SENTENCE IMPOSED UPON FRICK

Prison Bookkeeper Asks To Serve Time in Penitentiary Where He Worked.

Harvey F. Frick, 54-year-old bookkeeper, was sentenced yesterday to spend two years as a prisoner in the penitentiary system where he worked as salaried employe for 25 years.

"In some industrial reformatory—preferably the one at Chillicothe, Ohio," was the way Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood wound up the sentence pronounced on Frick.

Frick had been convicted of falsifying records at the Atlanta penitentiary to hide a reputed shortage of $7,700, which is said to have existed for more than ten years.

The gray-haired, bespectacled prisoner immediately requested Charles H. Cox, United States marshal, to have the destination changed from Chillicothe to the Atlanta pen where he had worked and where he is well known. His wife, Mrs. Minnie Frick, joined in the plea.

"We have started a business," said Mrs. Frick. "I want to stay in Atlanta and run the business and I want to be near my husband. If you send him to Chillicothe, I shall have to move there and give up the business. Of course, I shall be near him while he is serving his sentence, but we want to remain in Atlanta."

Marshal Cox agreed to lay the problem before United States Attorney General Homer S. Cumming, into whose hands a prisoner passes when he is sentenced. A judge merely suggests the type of institution to which he recommends a prisoner should be sent, but the final word must come from the attorney general.

A telegram went forward to Attorney General Cummings from Marshal Cox yesterday and an answer is expected today.

SAFFOLD PREDICTS TAX LIMIT VICTORY

Official of Tax Payers Group Raps Steve Nance in Statement.

"The people of Georgia are awakening from their lethargy and preparing to rescue Georgia from the organized tax wasting officeholders by passing tax limitation," T. P. Saffold, vice president of the Georgia Real Estate Taxpayers' Association, predicted in a statement issued yesterday.

Criticizing the stand of A. Steve Nance, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, who vigorously opposes adoption of the 15-mill tax limitation amendment, Saffold said "Mr. Nance knows that for years the taxpayers have been an unorganized group subject to be misled by the organizations with which Mr. Nance maintains such cordial relationship."

"In the last few weeks the taxpayers of Georgia have received their first glimpse of just how rotten our system of government has become," Saffold asserted. He said many hundreds of honest officeholders who regard their office as one of public trust are advocating passage of the amendment.

CAMELS COSTLIER TOBACCOS

This is part of the Bait!

CITIZENS OF GEORGIA!
BEWARE OF THE TRAPS!

A HUNGRY ANIMAL will pounce upon a bait, only to realize later that it has been trapped.

Listen to reason! When powerful interests work for years and spend thousands of dollars to put over a piece of legislation, and artfully camouflage their real intent, a selfish purpose is indicated. Somebody has been paying the bill and somebody else must pay the piper. Don't get caught in the traps which may be presented to you as "tax limitation" and "tax reduction."

Study and analyze the proposed 15-Mill Constitutional Amendment and you will realize it is subject to many interpretations and is revolutionary, arbitrary and unsound. Some of its effects and traps are:

TRAP NO. 1—General sales tax, commonly referred to as the poor man's enemy and the rich man's friend, would be certain—should the proposed amendment pass. Don't get caught in this trap!

TRAP NO. 2—Would exempt the owners of stocks, bonds and other intangibles from taxation by the counties, towns, cities and schools. This would certainly increase the tax bills of the city home owner, farm owner, tenant, wage earner, merchants, and many other classes of business. Don't get caught in the "Intangible" trap.

TRAP NO. 3—Would save non-resident individuals and corporations approximately $5,000,000 a year. (These interests own $350,000,000 (assessed value) of Georgia Property, and there is no way to reach them by sales tax or state income tax.) Residents of Georgia would have to make up that loss of revenue. Don't get caught in the "Non-resident" trap.

TRAP NO. 4—Strange to say, the proposed amendment classifies corporate franchises as tangible property, thereby denying the state the right to collect taxes thereon. This will reduce the revenue to the state and schools by several hundred thousand dollars. Don't get caught in the "Corporate Franchise" trap.

TRAP NO. 5—Would give the legislature complete control of the method of returning, assessing, levying, collecting and apportioning all taxes to the state, counties, cities and schools. This is the most dangerous, radical and revolutionary clause in the proposed amendment that you are asked to accept or reject—it strikes the foundation of our form of government now existing in the counties, municipalities and schools. Such power may be proper in Russia, Italy and Germany, but not in "the land of the free and the home of the brave." Don't be caught in the "Dictator" trap.

TRAP NO. 6—Real Estate and all classes of Personal property would have to be assessed at One Hundred per cent of its real value, as provided by the law, should this measure pass. Don't get caught in the "Assessment" trap!

TRAP NO. 7—Should the proposed amendment pass, thereafter the Capitol could not hold the lobbyists who would be at every session of the legislature working for special interests. Don't get caught in this gold-plated trap.

CONCEALED TRAPS—There are other ramifications far too lengthy to mention here which could, and probably would, result from the amendment that you are asked to accept or reject on November 3rd.

We have studied this proposed Amendment carefully—and, moreover, have studied the experiences of other states which had similar measures jammed through their legislatures. We know of the evils which have been brought about and the higher taxation which has resulted, in those states, to the masses of the people. A similar experience would be the result right here in Georgia.

Ninety per cent of the people of Georgia, we honestly believe, would pay more direct and indirect taxes than are now being paid, should this amendment pass. DON'T BE TRAPPED!

Vandy Primes Pet Plays for Tech; Georgia Gets New Stuff

Caramba! Mi amigos! It looks as if Alabama will be taking a trip to that dear Havana this winter.

Ah, there is a place! The trade winds blow there all the time. And the glittering parade goes down the whiteness of the Malecon drive. And out there in the harbor tossed the little waves, muy bonita, the little waves of the blue waters there.

And along the Prado the palms rustle in the breeze and the strolling musicians strum their guitars. Ah, there is the place!

I will stop, because all this is about to bust my heart. There is no place quite like Havana. Unless it is the quietness of Matanzas, where the little goats sleep on the street car track or climb on the monuments to the heroes and stare at the passers-by.

There at the Paris hotel one may pet the eels in the fountain and eat the langastinos with the special sauce.

It is there, in Havana, that some southern team will play football during the Christmas season. And just now the musicians are playing beneath the balcony of Frank Thomas, down there at Tuscaloosa.

Some southern team, and some eastern team, will go to Havana.

They are going to put on a big sports week, semana grande.

The Cuban government has appropriated $50,000 for the big week. They will bring in two great polo teams, tennis stars and the football teams and boxers. And they will have a grande fiesta. And the Prado will be packed in the evening and the cafes will sound with music.

All this is breaking my heart with memories, so I will hustle on to the conclusion. If Cuba puts this stunt over, the Rose Bowl will take second place. Because Cuba, which is closer to most of the population, probably is a greater attraction.

Carlos L. Henriquez, Cuban sports commissioner, is in charge. And Mr. Austin Williamson, the steamship man down in Florida, is helping out.

They want Alabama. And if I know Mr. Frank Thomas he will like Havana. His team would. Anyhow, one of the Dixie teams is going. And the name of Alabama is so potent in Cuba they will ask the Crimson Tide if the Tide comes through with something approximating a good record. Which it no doubt will.

And let me say again, if Cuba puts over the first big show, then the Rose Bowl will have a real rival.

MR. MORRISON REDUCES.

It is a well-known fact that the human bean, or dome, will absorb just so much knowledge. And I see by the Nashville papers that Mr. Ray Morrison, of the Commodores, is going to slash his plays in half. He has twice too many for his boys to learn, he has decided.

Georgia Tech will run into trouble at Nashville. The material is there. It is, by Mr. Morrison's own statement, two deep at every position. There have been vague references in the Nashville papers to developing more team spirit, finding a team leader, and that sort of thing.

The tradition of the Tech game likely will supply the tradition. The Commoders likely will come up with a stout defense and a running and passing game. The material is there. Mr. Morrison has a reputation as an air circus man. There seems to be no good reason why a Tech victory should be assumed.

DOWN AT COLUMBUS.

Down at Columbus, Ga., things are stirring. I am informed the ticket headquarters are open and the six-shooters are on the counter.

Very pleasant, the game in Columbus. To really appreciate it one should arrive early in the morning. A letter informs me also that things will be ready in the cave. There is just one thing to remember in the cave.

And that is not to sit down. There are reasons.

Columbus always handles the game well. There is something of the carnival or fiesta about it all. And there is so much fun there that your old partner wouldn't miss the Georgia-Auburn game there.

RAY MORRISON DISCARDS HALF OF MANEUVERS

Another Danger Signal Is Probable Return of Savage Sam Agee.

By Jack Troy.

There's a warning for Georgia Tech in the steps Ray Morrison has taken to prepare his Vanderbilt team for the conference battle Saturday at Nashville.

Definite word from Nashville is that Morrison has discarded half of Vanderbilt's regular plays and will concentrate on the remainder for use against the Yellow Jackets.

Morrison has "thrown away" half of the Vandy plays on the theory that working with just half as many as formerly the Commodores will be able to better perfect these plays and present a more polished scoring threat.

Vandy, loser on successive Saturdays to little Southwestern and rugged Southern Methodist University, got past midfield only once in the latter game. It was late in the fourth quarter when Vandy penetrated to the Mustang 37-yard line.

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS.

Because of this glaring lack of offensive strength, coupled with the fact that the Commodores were held scoreless by Southwestern, Morrison has junked half of the regular stock of plays and, in addition, has gone back to the important fundamentals—blocking and tackling.

Another stern warning for Tech is the probable return this week end of Savage Sam Agee, hard-plunging fullback, who has been on the sidelines for the past two games.

Agee was one of the chief figures in Vandy's impressive victories over Middle Tennessee Teachers (45 to 0) and Chicago University (37 to 0).

Benched for two weeks by a knee injury, Sam Agee is being nursed along carefully in the hope that he will be ready for the invasion of the Yellow Jackets.

IMPORTANT TILT.

The game is most important to Vandy and Tech, despite the fact that both are beaten. Because each has a clean slate in the Southeastern conference. Tech defeated Kentucky. Vandy starts conference competition against Tech.

Vandy figures end strength to be improved, despite the loss of Charley Robbins, regular wingman. For Marvin (Preacher) Franklin, playing brilliantly as a substitute, was expected to displace him anyway.

Sam Agee's brother, Joe, has brightened the outlook, too, because of his improved signal calling. Joe Agee has clinched the quarterback post.

Another ray of sunshine for Ray (defense-minded) Morrison is the fact that Jimmy Huggins, fleet halfback, who was slightly hurt in the S. M. U. game, will be ready for Tech.

Tech's rush line was outcharged by the Duke forwards, who got away right on the snap. Some thought, perhaps, Duke linesmen beat the gun a trifle. Line Coach Mack Tharpe, of Tech, did not agree with this belief but did say "they got off with the snap, all right."

RESERVES WEAK.

Vandy, like Tech, has found reserve strength to be one of the weaker points. And so both are drilling the regulars for 60-minute service or as close to full time as possible.

Tech is bound to make a few substitutions here and there, however. A player or two, like Scrappy Edwards and Lawrence Hays, for instance, are pretty sure to see action in the backfield. And big Glenn Cushing and a couple of others may work in a relief role in the line.

The Jackets should be a better team for having lost to Duke. They wrecked a strong Kentucky team in their second conference game.

And their third conference battle against Vandy, winner the last two years on fluke plays—batted passes that fell into the arms of Commodore receivers—should find the Jackets prepared.

Jacket Reserves Get Brunt of Work.

Georgia Tech reserves were given a double dose of that football medicine known as "hammer, hammer," yesterday afternoon.

From early afternoon until long after the lights had been turned on, the reserves hammered at the Bee team in offensive and defensive scrimmage.

In the meantime, the varsity players went with Coach Bobby Dodd and they spent an afternoon defending against passes, throwing passes and running signals.

There was no heavy work for the varsity, unless work on the dummy and the charging machine constitutes heavy work.

The Jacket reserves were rather disappointing in the Duke game. And the work yesterday was calculated to sharpen them up for the big games still to come.

Jim Morgan, who played only two minutes of the Duke game because of an injured shoulder, scrimmaged with the reserves. He'll be ready for Vandy.

Ump Badly Beaten In Fight Over Dog

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Badly beaten when he protested against the mistreatment of his dog, J. L. (Lou) Kearney, 43, baseball umpire of the American association, was in a serious condition at a hospital here tonight.

Police were holding without bond Silas Adams, 45, and Paul Adams, 29, brothers, and Herman Bailey, 20, all of Wake county.

The trio, police said, clubbed Kearney with a brickbat and a stick near his home this afternoon. The fight started, officers added, after one of the three threw a missile at the umpire's dog.

Kearney, a former Piedmont league player and umpire, is suffering from a deep gash over one eye, bruises of the face and severe lacerations of the head.

PETREL ELEVEN LOOKING BETTER IN AERIAL DRILL

Confidence Is Regained, Birds Seek Victory Over Emory-Henry.

Oglethorpe's Petrels went through a lengthy scrimmage yesterday and will do likewise today against Emory and Henry formations used by the freshman team.

For the first time this year Coach Patrick's boys will face a lighter team then their own. Reports are that the visitors do lots of passing so the Petrels have been drilled on pass defense and offense which will continue throughout the rest of the week.

The rsults of long scrimmages last week showed good results against Alabama Teachers when the Petrels scored four of their five touchdowns after the first half.

After scoring 30 points Saturday, the largest score in five years, the team seems to have more confidence and is all pepped up about taking Emory and Henry into camp for their third victory of the season, and a good show before the home-coming crowd.

No changes will be made in the starting lineup unless some outstanding performer appears among the reserves. "Max" Rickard will see lots of service in there the rest of the season, although he is still inexperienced but is learning fast," according to Coach Patrick.

Five consecutive extra points were missed by the Petrel kickers in the Alabama game and Patrick will spend lots of time trying to find someone who can add that important one point to the score.

Orville Brown To Participate In Big Tourney

Orville Brown, the Missouri Mule, who meets George Zaharias in the headliner of Matchmaker Frank Speer's inaugural card of the winter season at the new arena located in the Lullwater building on West Peachtree Friday night, has been named by the National Wrestling Association to compete in a round-robin tournament to unravel the tangled heavyweight championship situation.

The big tournament has been ordered for November and the high rating which Brown holds in the mat world may be ascertained by noting that his name on the list of 19 matmen who have been chosen to participate in the meet pledges such famous figures as Jim McMillan, Ernie Dusek, Earl McCready, Henry DeGlane, John Pasek, Yvonne Robert, Steve Savage and Hans Steinke.

Last year, Orville was regarded as No. 3 heavyweight in the game and it is not likely he has lost any of his prestige in view of his fine record since that time. He will meet one of the real terrors of the mat Friday night in George Zaharias, 230-pound Colorado Greek, who as a showman and villain ranks second to none.

Interest is at high pitch over the resuming of the heavy shows and Promoter Speer seems to have gone the limit in arranging his first indoor card. The semi-final pairs off Dorve Roche with Roland Kirchmyer; the opener brings together Blue Sun Jennings and Karl Davis.

Tickets are on sale at Marshall & Reynolds.

'Red' Dawson Leads Wave To Top

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP) The Bernie Bierman menace is moving south, definitely.

In one short month, Lowell (Red) Dawson, a Bierman-coached player and a Bierman-trained coach, has jerked the Tulane Green Wave from nowhere to the front rank of gridiron contenders.

Cagey Dawson is familiar with the limelight. Five years ago he quarterbacked a brilliant Tulane team through an undefeated season and into the Rose Bowl, and, incidentally, joined Pooley Hubert, Billy Spears, Bobby Dodd and others among Dixie's immortal field generals.

Then he went to Minnesota with Bierman, where he learned how bone-crushing grid machines are turned out.

Four weeks ago, Tulane was rated a comer, but about two years away as far as top flight honors were concerned. The sports observers were only two years wrong. The Tulanes have arrived!

Eastern sports writers still are carrying the torch for Dawson's boys after watching them wreck Andy Kerr's Red Raiders of Colgate with devastating blocking and tackling. And before that Tulane clipped one of the best Ole Miss teams in years, tied sturdy Auburn and breezed through Centenary.

It's time for the remainder of his opponents to start worrying—North Carolina, Louisiana Tech, Alabama, Georgia, Sewanee and Louisiana State.

The kickers had a fine day Saturday . . . Mattis, of Tulane, punted out of bounds on Colgate's 2-yard line; Joe Riley, of Alabama, punted 57 yards dead to Tennessee's 1-yard line and averaged 42 yards against the Vols. . . . Vandy's kickers showed improvement, averaging 37 yards in the S. M. U. game. . . . Dickens and Harp, of the Vols, averaged 41 yards.

The longest pass gain of the week-end was 78 yards, Coffee tossing 33 yards to All-America Tinsley, who galloped 45 yards for a Louisiana tally in Ole Miss game. . . . The Davis brothers, Bob and Dameron, scored four of Kentucky's six touchdowns over W. and L. . . . Two losers, Tech and Georgia, outgained their conquerors, and Alabama outgained Tennessee. . . . Vandy and S. M. U. tried 12 and 6 laterals, respectively, and all were completed. . . . Will Mississippi State and L. S. U. suffer the same fate at hands of Southwestern foes as did Vandy and Georgia? . . . At least their pass defenses will get a test in games with Texas Christian and Arkansas.

As Appling Was Honored by Brother Elks

MIZE HONORED BY HOME FOLKS

Cardinal Rookie Star Feted by Demorest Bustobotor Club.

DEMOREST, Ga., Oct. 20—Friends and neighbors of this wide-awake north Georgia town tonight honored a native son, Johnny Mize, first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Bustobotor Club, ofDemorest, was in charge of the home-coming program which was held in the Congregational church.

The rise of Johnny Mize is quite a story. A year ago he was bothered by a growth in the groin of his leg. It was uncertain what the future held.

Mize consulted an Atlanta surgeon and the growth was removed. From then on the young giant from the north Georgia mountains began to assert himself.

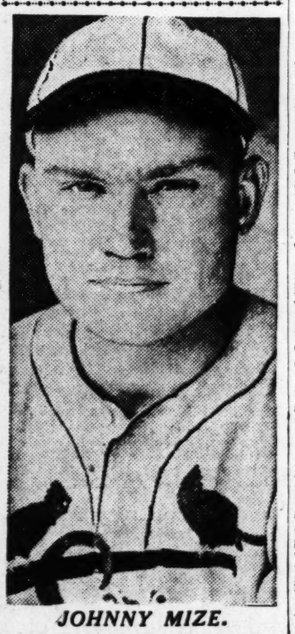

He displaced Rip Collins at first base for the Cardinals and his batting was one of the chief factors that kept the Cardinals in the National league race almost to the end.

Collapse of the Cardinal pitching staff was the chief thing that stopped the Cards.

Mize, at the end of the season, was recognized as one of the two all-star rookies of the major leagues. He was ranked right along with Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' prize rookie outfielder. Some thought his work more valuable.

So impressive, in fact, was his work afield and at bat that the Cards recently traded Collins to the Chicago Cubs for Lon Warneke, thus assuring Mize of a regular first-basing job in 1937.

Honored at Home

American League Champ Earns Name of "Libby Holman" With Blues Singing.

By Jack Troy.

All the good brothers in the lodge were on hand out at the Elks' home last night to honor a real boy, Luke Appling, one of the greatest shortstops in baseball and the batting champion of the American league.

They honored Luke with a testimonial dinner and then, with one accord, named him chairman of the membership committee.

The good brothers figured any shortstop who could bat .384 in the big leagues must be a go-getter. Hence the nomination of Appling as chairman of the membership committee, with the annual drive for new brothers just commencing, was unanimous.

It was a great night for "Libby Holman."

You see, Libby Holman is the name White Sox teammates have given Luke Appling. They call him "Libby" because he sings the blues.

For instance, Luke would get three hits in four times at bat. And then he'd moan because he didn't get the fourth one.

TED LYONS' IDEA.

"Ted Lyons, a great fellow, started all that," Luke said. "Incidentally, Ted is a pretty fair pitcher if anybody should ask you.

"Ted listened to me for a time and then said to the other boys that there is a Libby Holman in our midst.'

"The name stuck. And pretty soon the writing boys got hold of it. So I guess I'll be 'Libby' to them from now on."

When they got Luke up on his feet to talk last night he said "my tongue gets kinda twisted" and went on to thank the boys for everything. He talked on and on about what fine people the Elks are and never once mentioned baseball or a word about Luke Appling.

That's Luke Appling, the batting champion of the American league, first shortstop in history ever to win the coveted championship.

THEN HE TALKED.

Finally, brother members plied him with questions and reluctantly he told them something about the kind of season he had.

"All the pitchers were tough," he answered in response to a query. "And say, those infielders and outfielders were pretty tough, too."

He said he had two purposes. One to help the White Sox finish in second place, something they hadn't done in many years, and second to lead the league in hitting, if possible.

"But I'd gladly have lost the batting lead to help the club finish second."

Luke told how the White Sox moved into St. Louis with a chance to finish second. "We thought the Browns would be right down our alley. They beat us four straight. We were scheduled to play five games. But the Good Lord let it rain on the fifth day."

Appling said there were times toward the end of the race when he spent a few "sleepless nights" thinking about his average.

THE OLD RIBBIN.

"Earl Averill, of Cleveland, was pushing me kinda close. And on our last trip to Cleveland I passed by the Cleveland bench feeling pretty good. Steve O'Neill, Indian manager, asked me how I felt. And said he guessed I wasn't doing much sleeping. 'We've got some pretty tough pitchers, Luke,' he said. That set me to thinking. I'll tell you."

Nightmare Puts Poet Star 'Out'

MACON, Ga., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Fullback Gene Askew emerged unhurt from a Lanier High school football game Friday but was put out of action Saturday by a nightmare.

Askew said he fell out of bed and rammed his left foot through a window in what he vaguely remembers as an effort to punt. Several stitches were required to close the lacerations and he will be on crutches for a week or more.

FERRELL 'CASE' TO BE REOPENED

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 20.—President Harry S. Feinberg, of the Thomasville baseball club, left today for Durham, N. C., where he goes to attend a hearing before Judge W. G. Branham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The hearing is an outgrowth of the recent drafting of Beverly "Red" Ferrell, home-run king of the Thomasville club this year, by the Washington Senators, who have deposited a check for $2,000 with Judge Branham for delivery to Thomasville, under the league regulations for drafting players from minor to higher class leagues.

A hearing recently was held before Judge Branham, in which Beverly was declared by officials to be the property of the Thomasville club, and which action was uncontested by the Baltimore Orioles with which the Thomasville club was formerly attached.

Now John Ogden, business manager of the Baltimore club, which formerly claimed Ferrell as their property, has asked for a hearing on the case before Judge Branham, who recently ruled in favor of the Thomasville club.

LITTLE BETTER.

MEHRE ADVANCES GUS CLEVELAND TO VARSITY ROLE

Valdosta Boy To Play Guard; Offensive Scrimmage Today.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 20.—Georgia pushed forward this afternoon with a long line scrimmage against the Red Devils who were employing Auburn plays.

Coach Mehre continued to gather material for his "story" to be published Saturday in the form of the team's showing against the ancient rivals. The sham battle was held without the services of the secondary since several of the backfield men are injured.

It was a determined crew of linemen who attempted to bottle up the offense. They were later assisted by a backer up, Maurice Green. Especial attention has been given to halting the Auburn backs who play wide. More skirmish activity is likely for Wednesday with the varsity going on the attacking side against the freshmen.

Ned Barbre, left end, left the field this afternoon with a hip injury. It could not be readily determined just when he will return but the likelihood is that he will be out a week.

Counterbalancing this was the fact that Marvin Gillespie, whose bad knee withheld him last Saturday, was back at the right end slot. The training room assistants worked diligently and hoped that the rest of the old injuries would be completely healed by this week-end, although their optimism may be badly spent in an instance or so.

The guard berths saw the temporary rise of Gus Cleveland, Valdosta. It was a move toward filling in for the absence of those injured last Saturday, with both Harman and Hall being held back by hurts, Coach Mehre is having to supply the positions with new talent.

Working on the first string line today were Maffett and Candler, ends; Badget and Milton, tackles, and Milner, center. This group was supplemented by a backfield of Harry Stevens and Pete Tinsley, halfbacks; Young, quarterback, and Green, fullback, in running signals.

A lecture was held last night with Coach Mehre reiterating and bringing up new tactics in laying plans for the coming battle with the Plainsmen.

Athletic Director H. J. Stegeman said a ticket "sellout" seems certain for the contest which will be played in Memorial stadium at Columbus. The Bulldog band will accompany the squad.

Auburn Promotes Sophomore Tackle.

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 20.—His performances against both Tennessee and Detroit being highly satisfactory and considerably above the average, Sophomore Bo Russell, Birmingham, is now keeping company regularly with Alabama Polytechnic Institute's likely starters against Georgia at Memorial stadium in Columbus Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in one of the headline Southeastern conference football games of the week. Russell will alternate with Herbert Roton on Auburn's first eleven this week and will see plenty of service Saturday.

A senior, Roton, who was not in top shape for the intersectional combat with the Titans in Detroit because of a calf wound sustained in the tilt with Tennessee keeping him out of action for four days, has the edge over Russell in experience and this likely will give him the starting assignment against Georgia, but this is not definite.

Russell ran with the coveted eleven a good deal before the opening tilt with Birmingham-Southern, but has been performing in the role of a valuable reserve since the current campaign was launched. Always looked upon as a fine prospect, Russell was not used much in the first two engagements with Southern and Tulane because it was pretty hard to arouse him.

In the Tennessee game he found himself. His anger became evident when he was accidentally kicked in the mouth a few seconds after his entrance into the battle and this was the spark needed to turn him into a fierce Tiger. From the time he received the shoe until the end of the combat he was one of Auburn's most ferocious players.

Against Detroit, he took up where he left off the previous Saturday and was the ace tackle on the field in the automobile metropolis. Injured Roton needed help in the second period and the Birmingham sophomore was stationed at the Bengals' left tackle spot the rest of the fray. His tackling was good against the Titans and he was brilliant rushing passers.

He broke into Detroit's backfield several times and once intercepted an aerial that might have been dangerous. The Titans found it impossible to halt him when they were passing, and this is what they did most of the afternoon. He need not worry about playing if he continues his present standard.

Tennessee Orders Ban on Drinking

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP) Dean of men, Felix M. Massey, said today the University of Tennessee has authorized the Knoxville police department to arrest "anyone who creates a disturbance or appears to be intoxicated at any of our Tennessee football games."

"We think drinking gradually had diminished at our games," Dean Massey said, "but it is still present in far too many instances.

"We are, therefore, asking the police to start making arrests."

Dixie Boasts Good Pivotmen, Tharpe

For instance, Auburn has Walter Gilbert, Vanderbilt has Carl Hinkle, Duke has Dan Hill Jr., Tech has Charley Preston and Kentucky has Eugene Myers.

"In any normal year," declared Tharpe yesterday, "any one of them would be a good candidate for All-Southern honors."

Notre Dame Invades Pitt; Gaels Meet Fordham

INTERSECTIONAL TILTS FEATURE SATURDAY CARD

North Carolina Risks Perfect Record Against Green Wave Saturday.

By Jack Cuddy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Big guns of football will do their heaviest firing this week-end on the eastern and midwestern fronts in four outstanding games.

In the east, two formidable teams will make their bids for a trip to the Rose Bowl when Notre Dame invades Pittsburgh and Fordham attempts to repel the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's from California. These two intersectional classics are of paramount importance.

In the midwest, Bernie Bierman's unbeaten Minnesota Gophers will try to besmirch the perfect record of Purdue's Boilermakers, and Marquette and Michigan State will risk their unblemished escutcheons in a battle royal.

DIFFICULT SCHEDULE.

Elmer Layden's Notre Dame Ramblers have a difficult schedule facing them, even if they beat Jock Sutherland's Pittsburgh Panthers, as Duquesne did last week. But if Notre Dame can pass this Pitt team, the percentage favors the South Bend aggregation to come through their assignments unscathed, regaining the grid glory that was Notre Dame's and winding up in the Rose Bowl—despite the threat of Duke in the south.

Much of the luster and significance of the Fordham-St. Mary's contest was rubbed off when Slip Madigan's Gaels met with their first reversal Sunday, being held to a scoreless tie by little San Francisco University. But if Sleepy Jim Crowley's Fordham Rams march to an impressive victory over the Gaels, they also must be considered important contenders for the Rose Bowl ticket, because of the elimination of Pittsburgh and Princeton (which wouldn't go anyway).

Marquette and Michigan State would clasp a Rose Bowl invitation to their hearts—although neither Minnesota nor Purdue, of the Big Ten, could make the trip. Despite the possibility of a ticket to sunny California, in the Marquette-Michigan State brawl, the Gophers-Boilermakers melee will be mighty important also because right now Bierman's out fit seems to loom head and shoulders above all others as a candidate for the mythical national championship.

Hostilities for the rest of the country may be outlined as follows:

EAST—Holy Cross, another Rose Bowl aspirant, will receive the test of fire when it encounters Carnegie Tech, which last week tagged Pop Warner's Temple Owls with their first defeat. Pennsylvania conqueror of Princeton, has a breather in Brown. Other matches pair: Colgate-La-Fayette, Cornell-Penn State, Harvard-Dartmouth, Manhattan-Detroit, N. Y. U.-Georgetown, Navy-Princeton, Syracuse-Maryland, Army-Springfield, Villanova-Boston U., and Yale-Rutgers. Duquesne plays West Virginia Wesleyan on Friday.

MIDWEST—In the Big Ten, Illinois tangles with Northwestern, second conqueror of Ohio State, and Ohio State meets Indiana—in addition to the Minnesota-Purdue melee. In the Big Six, Kansas State meets Kansas, Missouri engages Iowa State and Oklahoma plays Nebraska. Columbia invades Michigan for an intersectional collision.

SOUTH—Duke, conqueror of Georgia Tech, and outstanding Rose Bowl aspirant in the south, engages Tennessee which held Alabama to a scoreless tie. In the Southeastern Conference three matches pair Georgia-Auburn, Kentucky-Florida and Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE games pair North Carolina State-Virginia Poly, Washington and Lee-Virginia, and on Thursday South Carolina-Clemson. In addition Tulane meets North Carolina, Mississippi entertains unbeaten Catholic U. from the north, and Louisiana State tilts with Arkansas.

PACIFIC COAST—Washington, leading the conference with three conference victories, tangles with California; Washington State which unexpectedly held Southern California to a scoreless tie engages Oregon; Stanford meets Southern California, and U. C. L. A. opposes Oregon State.

SOUTHWEST—Baylor, which upset Texas A. & M., which beat Texas Christian, while Rice meets Texas. Outside the conference Texas Christian entertains Mississippi State.

ROCKY MOUNTAINS—One of the grandest tilts of the mountain season will be staged when Utah State, with four straight conference victories, collides with unbeaten Utah, which last week registered the first defeat against Denver. Also in the conference are paired Greeley Teachers vs. Western State, Denver vs. Wyoming, Colorado State vs. Colorado, and Colorado College vs. Colorado Mines. Outside the conference Montana State plays Montana.

and Cap Joiner, deputy sheriffs who live near Luke, would solemnly rise to their feet and ask, "Luke, do you remember us?"

Luke said he hoped he could get them on another fishing trip with him. He allowed as how maybe they'd remember him.

Leonard Gore, lifelong friend of Appling and the man who signed him up for membership last year, introduced Appling. He said Appling's achievements spoke for themselves.

Frank Robinson, grand exalted ruler, presided. And Clayton Burke, the fine secretary, was here, there and everywhere, seeing that everything was just right.

FLASHES--- From the Grid Camps

VANDERBILT.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Ray Morrison padlocked the gates to Vanderbilt's football practices this afternoon, barring everybody except the press, from watching the team's preparations for the Georgia Tech engagement Saturday.

The varsity and reserves got a long look today at Georgia Tech's deceptive forward passes and laterals as executed by Henry Frank's freshmen. The remainder of the week will be divided between sessions on defense and offensive tactics.

LOUISIANA STATE.

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The air of the Louisiana State University football field was filled with passes today, indicating that Coach Bernie Moore's men will meet the vaunted Arkansas aerial attack Saturday with air bombardments of their own.

Moore was pleased to learn that X-ray photo of "Rock" Reed's injured foot showed no broken bones, and that the flashy halfback could probably play against Arkansas. Reed was hurt in the Mississippi game.

MISSISSIPPI STATE.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 20.—(AP)—It will be "Slingin' Sammy" against "Chunkin' Charlie" when Mississippi State's Maroons and Texas Christian's Horned Frogs tie up at Dallas Saturday in an intersectional affair.

Recognizing the danger wrapped up in the tossing arm of the Frog's great triple-threat back, Sammy Baugh, Coach Ralph Sasse has groomed his passer de luxe, Charlie Armstrong, for the Centennial clash.

TENNESSEE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Having scored only one touchdown against three major opponents, Tennessee's Volunteers went through a long offensive drill today.

Coach Bob Neyland devoted a brief period of the workout to defense against Duke formations in anticipation of Saturday's game here.

Dougherty, Wood, Sneed and Wallen, backs, and Eldred and Rice, ends, were absent from practice because of injuries. The four backs probably will not be able to play against Duke. Wyatt and Rice are expected back soon.

ALABAMA.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Another concentrated effort to improve the Alabama offense was launched today by Crimson Tide coaches as regulars returned to uniforms after a day of rest Monday. Practice yesterday was confined to the reserve squad.

Coach Frank Thomas, worried over the inability of Alabama to generate an air attack, prepared to spend several hours this week in passing practice. Loyola is the Saturday foe.

FLORIDA.

KENTUCKY.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Bert Johnson, halfback, and Earl Sands, fullback, returned to the Kentucky football squad today and took part in a long drill at Stoll field.

Sands was suspended last week for failure to attend practice regularly and Johnson was on the shelf for several days with a bad knee. Neither made the trip to Lexington, Va., where the 'Cats subdued the Washington and Lee Generals Saturday.

Rumors were rife for a time that Johnson, one of the greatest backs ever to represent the Blue and White, had dropped from the squad.

OLE MISS

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Coach Ed Walker juggled his first and second teams around today and laid plans for what may become a rejuvenated University of Mississippi eleven against Catholic U. Saturday.

The major backfield shake-up sent Clarence Hapes to the second string and moved Dave Bernard in as fullback.

THREE-YEAR OLDS OUT FOR REPAIRS

Granville, Bold Venture, Brevity To Run in Spring.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Breakdowns, which all but wrecked the three-year-old division this year and left the championship undecided, will be repaired by the time the 1937 racing season rolls around.

The big three—Granville, Bold Venture and Brevity, all of which were forced to the sidelines by mid-September—may settle their argument next year. The schedules of the trio differ at the start of the year but if all goes well, their paths should cross before the northern season is many weeks old.

Bold Venture, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness in Morton L. Schwartz's silks, will be pointed for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap in February.

Brevity, which tied what was then a world record for a mile and an eighth in the Florida Derby, will carry Joe Widener's pink and white striped colors in the $50,000 Widener challenge cup at Hialeah park. There also is a chance the Widener star may go west for the rich Santa Anita event.

Granville, ace of William Woodward's Belair stud, will not face the barrier again until late next spring, however. The son of Gallant Fox will be retired to his owner's Maryland farm next week and there be turned out for several months before being put back into training.

So far as money and stakes now go, Granville topped his two rivals. After finishing second in the Wood Memorial, Preakness and Suburban handicap and tossing his rider in the Kentucky Derby, the Woodward colt won the Belmont, Arlington classic, Travers, Saratoga cup and Lawrence Realization. A slight leg injury forced his retirement while preparing for the Jockey Club gold cup at Belmont park. His earnings totaled $110,295.

Bold Venture was the first of the trio to retire to the sidelines. He whipped Brevity by a head in the Kentucky Derby and got up in the last stride to beat Granville by a like margin in the Preakness to win $65,800. He bowed a tendon while being prepared for the Belmont stakes and while the injury was not serious Trainer Max Hirsch chose to take no chances. The son of St. Germans has been training soundly for several weeks although he hasn't had a hard workout.

MOUND PROBLEM WORRIES FRISCH

Warneke Helps But Paul Dean Is Question Mark, Says Frank.

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The acquisition of Lonnie Warneke has helped but not solved the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching problem, Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cards, said today.

"Getting Warneke doesn't tell me how Paul Dean will go next year," Frisch said.

"I don't know what's wrong with Paul now, but I think his trouble is in his mind. Maybe he's got too much money."

Ready to pack south on a fishing trip, Frankie was jovially pessimistic.

"Sure I think Warneke will help us or I wouldn't have been in favor of the deal, but we still need more pitching."

Frisch referred to the trade that sent First Baseman Jim "Ripper" Collins and Pitcher Leroy Parmelee to the Chicago Cubs for Warneke. He pointed out that both Warneke and Parmelee have been troubled by injuries in the last year and are, therefore, unknown quantities.

After coming to the Cards from the Giants with Allyn Stout and Al Cucinello, Parmelee started well last season but injured a finger on his throwing hand and finished with 11 games won and 11 lost.

Warneke injured his arm in the 1935 World Series, started slowly last season, but finished well, and had a record of 16 won and 13 lost for the season.

Frisch said he also had some doubts about the ability of Johnny Mize, his young first baseman, who played in 126 games and batted .329 last season.

"That boy's got plenty to learn," he declared. "He has to find out what to do with his feet; he's too slow."

The injury which bothered Mize during the 1935 season has now disappeared, Frisch said.

"I'm not satisfied with my second baseman, either," Frisch laughed. "He's getting old. But I'll play a few games just the same."

Frisch has taken a sudden interest in the Colgate football team, because his nephew, Johnny Lucy, of Rutherford, N. J., is playing guard on the first team. Frisch sat on the bench in his old home ball park, the Polo Grounds, Saturday and watched Tulane run over the Red Raiders.

SMITHIES FACE RUSSELL TEAM THURSDAY NIGHT

Game Slated at Ponce de Leon; Typists Play Decatur Squad.

By Roy White.

Prep football fans will have their choice of two exceptionally good football games Thursday night, when Tech High renews its rivalry with Russell High at Ponce de Leon park and Decatur and Commercial battle on the Decatur High field. Both games will start at 8 o clock and there will be little to choose between the two games.

Tech High, after one of its most disastrous seasons, is looking forward to a much better year and the team is showing a decided improvement with each game. The Smithies have won five games against one defeat and have shown more color in their attack here of late.

COLORFUL ELEVEN.

In fact, the Smithie team is one of the most colorful prep elevens in the state. It is not the big, bruising type, but depends entirely on speed and deception to get by. And every touchdown this year has been interesting to watch.

Russell High, after a 22-to-6 defeat at the hands of G. M. A., came along fine with three straight wins, but ran into too much mud and Spalding forward passes last week and was beaten, 13 to 7.

Russell High has depended largely on forward passes for its three victories and Coach Bowen has worked overtime developing a passing attack to match that of the Smithies Thursday night.

Russell lost to Tech High, 33 to 6, last year, but has a much improved team this year.

IN BETTER SHAPE.

Commercial High, just recovering from Boys' High, Lanier and Tech High defeats, will be in much better condition for Decatur than in the past few games. The Red Raiders won a 32-to-0 victory over Marist last Wednesday night and showed one of the most versatile attacks ever presented by a Commercial team.

Thursday's game will be the second for Commercial in defending their 1935 North Georgia Interscholastic conference championship.

Decatur High won its first game of the year last Friday at Thomaston, Ga., and Coach Sullivan is shooting for his second straight N. G. I. C. victory in the Thursday game.

Purples Look Bad Against Poet Plays.

Scrimmaging against Lanier High plays for the first time, Boys' High found plenty of trouble in stopping the single wingback and single and double reverses Tuesday afternoon. They play Friday night at the ball park.

Coach Doyal was far from satisfied with the defensive play of the varsity and will send the same combination back at the reserves this afternoon in another long workout.

Boys' High saw Lanier play last Friday against Riverside and were none too optimistic over their chances of remaining undefeated after Friday night's game with the Poets.

Boys' High suffered its first injuries of the season Tuesday afternoon when Fip Bond, end, and Roy Goree, fullback, had to quit scrimmaging with bad ankles. Both were limping badly as the practice closed and it is feared both will be out of the lineup Friday night against Lanier High.

Riverside To Meet Peabody on Friday

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 20.—Riverside Military Academy's grid team invades Nashville, Tenn., Friday, October 23, for an encounter with Peabody Demonstration school. The game with the formidable Tennesseans who have not lost a game in the past two years and have been scored on but once, should prove a genuine test for Coach "Red" Sanders' Cadets.

Nashville fans will be sure of a fine exhibition when Riverside and Peabody meet at East High stadium. The Cadets will be playing their first game away from the home field and will be meeting a team with far greater team experience. Interest in the game will be especially keen among other G. I. A. A. teams which are wondering if the Riverside squad can maintain the fast pace it has set in early season play.

'BEAR' STORY HOLDS.

CLEMSON, S. C.—Here's a "bear" story that seems to stand up. All but three members of Clemson's first team suffered severe lime burns last Friday in the Wake Forest game and the other three also are on the injured list. To make it worse, the Tigers are scheduled to play South Carolina Thursday.

BREAK O' DAY

Jack Meagher has himself a good football team. But if it is looking ahead to Santa Clara, this Georgia team, which is coming back slowly but surely, may blast a lot of hopes down there.

MR. MANN FEELS NO PAIN.

Yesterday I sat with Mr. Earl Mann while they prepared him to be divorced from his tonsils. Mr. Mann had a course of medicine, since he was having it done with a local.

He was ensconced in a beautiful room at the Ponce de Leon Eye, Ear and Throat Infirmary, with the beautiful Misses Reba Strickland and Kathryn Sylvester in attendance. It so happens they were the attendants when this reporter's tonsils were removed, delicately but firmly. They are very fine people to have around.

When he was all ready to be rolled in, the doctor appeared.

"How do you feel?" he asked.

"'Just as if the Crackers had a nine-run lead going into the ninth," said the Cracker president.

Mr. Mann surrendered two very large tonsils. He has a weapon by his bed at the recommendation of this reporter. The sense of humor which the friends of those suffering from the after-effects of tonsilectomies develop, is something at which to marvel. It takes such forms as bringing the victim, to whom even milk seems to have concealed razor blades as it goes down, such gifts as packages of shredded wheat, peanuts and popcorn.

Such visitors will be shot without warning.

THE PRO GRID PRIDES OF DIXIE.

A gentleman who declares himself to be a professional football fan, traveling long distances to see the National league teams in action, writes in demanding to know where play the stars of recent years who have gone from Dixie to professional football.

The list is an inspiring one and contains some famous players who occupied the compositors on the head machines very often during their college careers.

There are, of course, the old favorites such as Roy (Father) Lumpkin, of Georgia Tech's 1928 national champions, who is playing his tenth year of major league football, counting his freshman year at college and his one varsity year. That is the record for durability.

Stumpy Thomason has been going since the 1930 season. Stumpy is with the Philadelphia Eagles and Lumpkin with the Brooklyn club.

Bill Lee, the rassler, and captain of Alabama's Rose Bowl team, is with Brooklyn, as are Jim Whatley, tackle with Lee; Justin Rukas, L. S. U.'s great tackle of last season, and Ralph Kercheval, Kentucky, are with the Brooklyn team.

Riley Smith, Alabama's great quarterback, is with the Boston Redskins. Beattie Feathers, who made history at Tennessee, is with the Chicago Bears. So is Freddie Crawford, who was seen in action at Grant field the day Tech upset Duke in 1933 with a reverse play.

The Detroit Lions have Buddy Parker, who starred at Centenary, and Tom Hupke, an Alabama guard of a few seasons back.

Gene Rose, who starred for Tennessee, is with the Giants, and Pug Vaughn, another former Vol, is in the backfield for the Chicago Cardinals. Don Jackson, who was North Carolina's great star, is with the Eagles of Philly.

Don Hutson, who was the greatest catcher of passes college football has seen in years, is with the Green Bay Packers.

Pro football keeps going along, growing each year. But it needs large population centers to support it. The college game is too formidable a rival in the south. But it may come along faster than we think.

Tennessee Begins Basketball Drills

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Basketball practice opened at the University of Tennessee yesterday, nearly a month earlier than usual.

Fifteen candidates reported. Four others are members of the football squad and will not report for basketball until the end of the gridiron season.

Tennessee's basketball team, which won the Southeastern Conference championship at a tournament here last winter, lost only two members. Harry Anderson, captain and center, was graduated, and Everett Martin, forward, dropped out of school.

Loane West Injured; Feared Out for Year

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Loane West, middle-aged salesman of athletic supplies who sought a tackle's job on the University of California football team this fall, is nursing a ligament injury suffered in practice before the season got under way.

Coaches said he probably would be unable to play this year.

Propst Turns Down Maroon Grid Game

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Coach Shorty Propst, of Southwestern, said he was forced today to refuse an offer for a football game with Mississippi State here November 26.

Propst said Colonel Paul Parker, Mississippi State athletic director, proposed the game.

"I'd like to have Southwestern play Mississippi State," Propst said, "but our schedule is pretty heavy and it would be impossible to play Centre on November 21 and State on November 26. We decided to let it drop and concentrate on next year."

NEW AIR WRINKLE.

DALLAS, Tex.—Southwest conference teams are noted for their passing, but O'Brien, Texas Christian quarter, sprang a new aerial wrinkle in the Tulsa game. He passed to himself for a five-yard loss. The pass was blocked by a Tulsa player. The ball went high in the air and O'Brien caught it and ran several yards before being downed.

Lou Gehrig Offers Talent to Hollywood

By Bob Cavagnaro.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Lou Gehrig has offered his talent to Hollywood.

He is willing temporarily to swap the "Iron Man" monicker for "Tarzan."

Christy Walsh, business manager of the Yankees' home run king, heard that they're going to produce a series of Tarzan pictures in the cinema capital and with the veteran Tarzan, Johnny Weissmuller, reported on the sidelines, suggested the home run king for the role.

"Afraid of animals?" asked Lou. "No! At least I'm not afraid of tigers—I've faced many of 'em in 12 years of baseball—but those lions, well, we'll have to wait and see."

Gehrig's movie venture is in a nebulous stage. Walsh wrote Sol Lesser, Hollywood producer, who said they'd never seen Lou other than in a flannel baseball suit. So pictures now are in the mail.

"I guess the public's entitled to a look at my body," said Lou, blushing at the idea of appearing in nothing but a skimpy leopard cloth.

Lou said he's interested, financially and artistically. He supposes they'll try and work in something about baseball, but just what and how in a jungle setting he can't say.

"Maybe they'll have an ape slinging coconuts at me and give me an old-fashioned war club to belt them back," he smiled.

It's all guesswork.

Recalling that Weissmuller's famed swimming abili. was featured in his Tarzan pictures, Gehrig was asked if he could swim.

"Sure," he replied.

"What stroke do you use?"

"Anything that'll keep me up."

He was too busy with athletics in his high school and college days to test his histrionic skill, but he has had some vaudeville and radio experience and knows what it's like to face cameramen.

"They tell me my voice goes out over the air well and that I photograph better than I really look," he said.

"Lou's got everything to go over big in the movies," Walsh interpolated. "He stands six feet one inch and weighs 210 pounds. If he gets a chance with lions nad tigers there'll probably be a scarcity of those species after he gets through with them. The next move is up to Hollywood."

Of course there'll have to be a leading lady playing opposite him. Whom would you prefer? someone asked. Lou squirmed uneasily in his chair and said:

However, in the next breath, he admitted Irene Dunn is his screen favorite.

"Do you think you have as much S. A. as Weissmuller?" he was asked.

"How's that?"

"S. A., you know—sex appeal."

"I'll leave that up to you fellows, and the ladies—if I get the chance."

LOU GEHRIG.

DAVIS HITS F. D. R.

Says President Has Disregarded Promises.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President in 1924, said tonight in his first speech of the campaign that the record of the Roosevelt administration "presents the most callous disregard of party principles, platform promises and personal pledges in all the history of American politics."

He did not mention the name of Governor Alfred M. Landon, the Republican presidential nominee, but said the only course open to "a Democrat who still holds to the creed of Democratic liberalism" is to "stand up, speak up, and on election day take his judgment and his conscience with him into the polling place and make his protest good."

Speaking over a nation-wide hookup under the auspices of the national Jeffersonian Democrats, Davis said it was impossible to reconcile the occurrences under the New Deal with any "platform the Democratic party has ever adopted" or "with any previous conception of the American system of government."

Blytheville's Line Totals 1,359 Lbs.

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The undefeated Blytheville Chicks boast one of the heaviest high school lines in the country. It totals 1,359 pounds from end to end, an average of 194 pounds per man. Three members of the forward wall, Tackles Harrison and Burton and Guard Bartholomew, scale 210 pounds.

The team, coached by Carney Laslie, former University of Alabama player, has won its last 23 games.

LAY COTTON-BASE ROAD.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Highway Commissioner Henry G. Shirley and other department officials watched today the laying of a cotton base on the new West Point bridge as a part of the state's experiment with the new type of road construction.

'BUDDY' ROGERS SIGNS FOR FILMS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Charles "Buddy" Rogers is going to settle down in Hollywood.

He has reopened his home in Beverly Hills, signed a movie contract with Columbia Studios and, for the time being, quit globe-trotting. His friends interpret the move as a sure sign that he and Mary Pickford soon will be man and wife.

"I'm moving into my house again," Rogers said, "but that doesn't mean anything. Its only bachelor quarters," including three bedrooms and a guest house.

Rogers virtually is embarking on a second movie career. Taken out of a college orchestra 11 years ago, he rose to stardom. Then, tiring of the roles he was playing, the handsome Kansas youth bought his contract and went back to leading orchestras.

"I'm still going to spend part of my time with the band," he said. "But I wanted another stab at the movies. I'm really serious this time.'

His contract is for seven years, which means a large chunk of his immediate future—with Mary Pickford or not—will be spent in Hollywood.

BRITISH NAVY OFFERED TO TAKE OUT HOSTAGES

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Great Britain tonight offered the use of her fleet to transport hostages from war-torn Spain.

The government in messages to both the Madrid government and the Fascist high command requested an early reply to their proposal.

The messages expressed fear of "wholesale massacre" of hostages in Spain unless their safety was assured.

All during the civil war there have been consistent reports of mass executions of hostages by both sides in retaliation for air bombardments.

SUSPECT IS RELEASED IN DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

Elmer Ramseur, arrested early yesterday morning by police in connection with the $1,600 holdup of Miss Vivian Peel, secretary-cashier of the Peerless Furniture Company, was released later in the day when Miss Peel declared he was not the man who had robbed her.

The bandit accosted Miss Peel about noon Monday as she was preparing to enter her car to go to the bank. Threatening to blow her brains out unless she handed over the money, he reached into the car and took the package of bills, then grabbed her purse also.

LANDON CRITICIZED FOR TRADE ATTACK

Hull Says Statements Are 'Ambiguious'; Praises New Deal Tactics.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Secretary Hull issued a formal statement today coupling praise of the administration's reciprocal trade program with an assertion that Governor Landon "hopelessly misstated" the subject in his New Mexico address yesterday.

"Governor Landon's surprising New Mexico address yesterday," he said, "faces in every direction and hopelessly misstates, confuses and jumbles the entire question pertaining to reciprocal trade policies and peace.

"His advisors can have but the one purpose to secure farm votes by drawing the farmers' attention and memory entirely away from the condition under which American agriculture was pushed into bankruptcy prior to 1933, and the conditions under which it has been rescued from bankruptcy during the years since 1933. . . .

"Naturally, neither the American farmer nor, for that matter, any other person, can make head or tail of the ambiguous, conflicting and utterly nebulous statements of Governor Landon pertaining to the reciprocal trade policy. But the farmer does know just what the true tests of his welfare is. It is a satisfactory income from farm operation, reasonable farm values and good prices for farm commodities. . . ."

'PINE TREE' BREAKFAST SEEN BY SCIENTISTS

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 20.—(UP) Southeastern scientific experts were told tonight the remedy for shrinkage of American markets lies in development of new products—such as manufacture of breakfast delicacies from southern pine trees.

Producers and scientists from five southeastern states, meeting here for the Gulf coast chemurgic and tung oil conference, reviewed vast potentialities in hitherto unexploited natural resources of the southeast.

They began the work on the keynote of Carl B. Fritsche, managing director of the farm chemurgic council of Dearborn, Mich., who told the conference tonight that new outlets must be found for the "productive capacity of 100,000,000 acres." Loss of foreign markets and other factors, he estimated, have cut the demand for American commodities to that extent.

PHYSICIANS REPORT COUZENS IMPROVED

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Senator James Couzens, critically ill in Harper hospital with a complication of abdominal ailments, rallied slightly today but physicians said it still was too early to predict recovery.

The entire family remained close by the senator's room. Edith, the only one of senator and Mrs. Couzens' three daughters not in the city when their father's critical condition became known, arrived today from Washington. Other members of the family are: Mrs. Couzens, Mayor Frank Couzens, Mrs. William R. Yaw and Mrs. W. Jeffries Chewning.

GYPSY BIRTH DELAYS HEARING IN ROBBERY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Hearing on a charge of attempted robbery was delayed here today when one of the defendants, a gypsy woman listed as Delphia Marks, 26, who said she was from Atlanta, gave birth to a son in her jail cell. Mother and infant were taken to a hospital.

The hearing was postponed until the mother is able to attend court.

Confers With President.

The Georgia senator called at the White House for a brief conference with the President preparatory to Mr. Roosevelt's departure tonight for an invasion of the New England states. Senator George himself has been requested by the Democratic national committee to undertake a speaking tour of the region and is scheduled to depart tomorrow or next day. Whether he will go to New England first or the border and middle western states had not yet been determined. Between now and November 3, the election date, the committee plans to use him in Ohio, West Virginia and perhaps Pennsylvania in addition to the New England states.

Senator George reported the President in excellent spirits and said he was full of confidence over the outlook for his re-election.

"On the basis of reports I have received from the senatorial committee and other party sources," Senator George said, "I am confident the president will carry the election overwhelmingly. It would not be at all surprising to see his victory reach the landslide of the party four years ago."

There is the recent poll of some 20-odd Washington correspondents by the Magazine News-Week, for example. Only one of the lot predicted Governor Landon's election. The consensus of the group was that President Roosevelt would receive at least 374 of the 531 electoral votes.

Even Higher.

Probabilities are that if the poll were confined to those who have covered much of the campaign oratory of the two principals, those who have gone with President Roosevelt and Governor Landon at one time or another, the Roosevelt majority would be even higher.

The reports brought back to Washington by this group of campaign reporters are about the same, irrespective of the political complexion of the papers they serve. One writer representing a chain paper group which is vigorously supporting the Kansas governor returned to the capital the other day, for instance, after spending several weeks in the Landon camp and offered to settle a bet made earlier in the campaign that not more than 25 electoral votes would separate the Republican and Democratic totals.

Another press association representative whose policy directing head is violently opposed to Mr. Roosevelt is making a book on wagers highly favorable to the President's re-election all along the line.

Extent or Majority.

If this is true of the newspapermen whose publications are supporting the Landon candidacy it can be well imagined what the others say. In the precincts of the National Press Club, where news gatherers are wont to assemble and exchange campaign notes after each trip over the country, the friendly wagering is no longer on the basis of a possible Landon victory but on the extent of the Roosevelt majority.

What significance is to be attached to the views of the men assigned to cover the presidential campaign is a doubtful quantity, of course. Because of their training and experience they are better equipped to give a balanced judgment of national trends. On the whole they are seldom far wrong. For this reason more than passing significance is given their one-sided appraisal of the current campaign.

Guide for Writers.

In giving President Roosevelt the upper hand in the picture they have been guided by a comparison in the size and enthusiasm of the respective candidate's crowds, though this is not always a sure barometer as past campaigns have proved. Other factors of a less tangible nature necessarily enter into their findings, such as the effectiveness of party organization found in the various states, plus the degree of confidence shown by the several state campaign leaders.

After a consideration of these multiple factors it is the consensus of the group that Mr. Roosevelt will have a walkaway of the election.

Not the least important signs found by the correspondents is the striking evidence of business revival found in practically every section. The idle factories and smokeless chimneys of past depression years are conspicuously absent now, they say, and a noticeable improvement has taken place in the morale of the people. All the way across the country the small cities and communities are taking on a new coat of paint, remodeling dilapidated buildings, fixing up public parks and generally putting on a new front, thanks to the availability of government funds and WPA projects.

All of this has had a marked effect on the country and is being translated into an enthusiastic Roosevelt support, the writers declare.

LINK URGED TO AID GRAND JURY'S WORK

they have knowledge. Most grand juries conduct investigations, in addition to the routine consideration of bills of indictment, he pointed out.

Labor Frequently a Loss.

Investigations of the grand juries are expensive because special sessions are held in addition to the routine meetings twice each week, and because to do any good the recommendations of the jury must be published, it was said.

"When recommendations 'die' as soon as the grand jury is out of office, that work and cost is a loss to the taxpayers," Foreman Stanley said.

The permanent grand jury representative would act in the capacity of a connecting link with succeeding grand juries as well as work to keep interest up in the matters studied by the outgoing grand jury.

Foreman Stanley asserted that further efforts toward securing such a representative will be made, and that conferences will be held on the matter before the end of this jury term.

WOMEN TAKE ARMS TO DEFEND MADRID

Women Also on March.

Through the streets of Madrid they swirled, their business clothes splotching the serried ranks of the blue-clad militia.

Beside them ran the women shrieking their praises. Now and then one of the women would recognize a male relative and dash into the ranks to be swallowed from view by the massed shoulders and raised arms.

No longer was the aroused populace content to prepare to battle the enemy in the streets of the city.

To the front they march, steamfitter and soldiers, housewife and veteran campaigner.

The military leaders within the city were quick to realize the situation—one which it would have been difficult for them to control had they wished.

The war ministry announced abandonment of various names for battalions. Numbers were enough tonight.

Commanders forgot their past efforts to maintain discipline in their troops and worked only to create some sort of military cohesion.

Hastily the leaders cast about for conveyances to rush the wild civilian army to the battle lines and throw them against the attackers before their frenzy had time to cool.

Pay No Attention to Flight.

President Manuel Azana and three cabinet members quit the city Monday night, but the populace paid no heed. It was announced that the president was touring the Aragon front to instill courage into the government forces—that was all.

As night fell, Madrid marched, and Insurgent cannon fired restlessly as if awaiting the additional fodder rushing within range.

The Madrid masses did not have far to go.

The Insurgents on both the western and southern fronts were pushing steadily ahead, on each sector within 20 miles of Madrid.

Fascist warplanes bombed communication lines at Anover del Tajo, eight miles southwest of Aranjuez, which is 25 miles northeast of Toledo.

Fascists were reported to have scaled the heights commanding El Escorial and wheeled up artillery to blast the government stronghold into submission.

GIRL, 18, STRUCK DOWN, HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Miss Claudine Stewart, 18, of Brookhaven, was cut and bruised about the face and head early last night when she was struck down by an automobile driven by Lovejoy Harwell, Atlanta attorney, on Ponce de Leon avenue.

She was treated at Grady hospital. No charges were placed against Harwell. Witnesses said the young woman stepped from a street car safety island into the path of the automobile.

REV. M. ASHBY JONES URGES SOUL'S CULTURE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Rev. M. Ashby Jones, of Atlanta, told an audience tonight "first teach the culture of the soul and then the technique of a profession."

"The tendency of modern education," he said, "is toward technical preparation, with everything centering around training youth to become doctors, lawyers or engineers. It is time to give more thought to the general education of developing individualism.

"Businessmen who take all the gifts of God to concentrate on gathering more money are feeding at the swine troughs of life."

By Sally Forth.

THE road leading to Columbus will be thronged on Friday with many popular young Atlantans when belles and beaux will be on their merry way to attend the Georgia-Auburn football game in the near-by town. Helen Aycock and Susan Spratt, accompanied by Henry Swift and Billy Dean, members of the S. A. E. fraternity at Tech, will motor over for the game and week-end festivities.

A pretty group of debbies, Cora Gantt, Sally Jenkins and Catherine Gray, will be among the visiting belles at Columbus, and honestly, you've never heard of such big doings as are being planned in your life. Practically the whole town will turn out to welcome the visitors, and the girls will meet everybody—including those gr—eat big he-men on the football teams.

Eloise Gresham's tentative plans are to attend the social gaities there, too, but other plans may interfere, and as Sally writes this, Eloise is still undecided as to where she will spend the week-end.

The lovely home of Virginia Woodruff, popular Columbus belle, will be the center of lots of grand entertainments, for Virginia is having ten girls to visit her for the week-end. Cora, Sally, and Catherine will drive over with Rosser Little and Morton Campbell, and they will be guests at the Woodruff home. May Gray and Betty Crenshaw, who are students at Georgia, and Margaret Jones, of Savannah, will also visit Virginia.

Friday night, the biggest dance of the year will open the festivities, so to speak, and Saturday's calendar will be filled with parties, the game, and more parties, climaxed with a dance that night.

Virginia will entertain her attractive visitors at a luncheon Saturday preceding the game, and that afternoon the younger crowd will gather at her home for a cocktail party. Then off to the dance, and then—no—not home to bed—you know how these young moderns are—still rearing to go at 2 a. m. So the perfect place to go after the dance is Jim Woodruff's marvelo-us country home, which has no less than 28 bedrooms. The enormous living room is lighted by four cheerful, crackling fires—there are two fireplaces at each end of the room, as well as the cunningest little window seats all about inducing romance. And for the less affectionately-minded, there are poker tables, radios, and a simply swell place to dance. This popular gathering place overlooks Lake Cora, which name has caused Cora Gantt lots of teasing from the crowd.

Helen Lowndes Whitten will visit her mother, Mrs. Frank Lumpkin, and will be a charming addition to the younger married set for the week-end. Elizabeth Morton, of Lynchburg, Va., and Carrie Marshall Young, of Charlotte, N. C., who arrive today to visit Mrs. Gillespie Sadler, will be the attractive guests of the Clifford Swifts in Columbus, and will attend this grand and glorious celebration Sally has just been raving about. Their escorts will be Clifford Swift and Jim Alston, who were members of the same party traveling in Europe with Elizabeth and Carrie Marshall.

SALLY'S attention has been called to the attractive photographs of Sara Jenkins and Dixie Woolford appearing in last Sunday's edition of the Dallas Morning News. The former's picture is published along with a group of popular Dallas debutantes.

Sara is a popular member of Atlanta's 1936-37 Debutantes' Club and the following comment accompanied her picture in the Dallas publication: "Miss Jenkins is making her debut this season in Atlanta and because of the Halloween ball, when the Atlanta debutantes are formally presented, she will not come to Dallas to visit her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Collett Munger Jr., until after October 31. Miss Jenkins has been invited by the Idlewild Club of Dallas to make her formal bow with the Dallas debutantes, and she will arrive several days in advance of the date set for that brilliant occasion."

The photograph of Miss Woolford is a beautiful likeness of the former Atlantan, who moved to Dallas recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Woolford. She made her formal debut in Atlanta last winter and since her arrival in Dallas she has become prominently identified with that city's younger society.

SALLY FORTH'S hat is off to Kathryn Newman for the manner in which she wore the lace mantilla at the debutante fashion show last week. Kathryn appeared in a black mantilla and a white satin evening gown, and looked ravishingly beautiful as she walked down the runway.

Kathryn is the stately brown-eyed and brown-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman. She resembles her aunt, Mrs. John L. Patterson, of Richmond, Va., the former Margaret Newman, who was a noted beauty and reigning belle of her day in Atlanta.

Miss Roselyn Duncan Will Be Hostess.

Miss Roselyn Duncan will be hostess at a luncheon on Saturday at her home on Twelfth street honoring new members of the Gamma chapter of Phi Alpha Kappa.

Officers ar Alice Bragg, president; Catherine Gillooley, vice president; Emily Lawler, secretary; Roselyn Duncan, treasurer, and Mary Ellen Sasser, scribe. Members are Dannelet Archer, Margaret Toomey, Annette Reily, Mary June Baker, Marian Gillooley, Helen Pagel, Elizabeth Crenshaw, Jean Miliard and Julia Rose Hallinan.

The Beta and Gamma chapters will sponsor a scripe dance on October 30 at Druid Hills Golf Club. Tickets may be obtained from members.

Mrs. Robinson Finds Garden School Vitally Interesting and Informative

MRS. ROBY ROBINSON.

Mrs. Roby Robinson, who belongs to the Peachtree Garden Club, is enthusiastic in her comment about The Constitution's free garden school to be directed by Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown at the Atlanta Woman's Club on October 27, 28 and 29.

Mrs. Robinson belongs to the Peachtree Garden Club, and although she is young in years, she long has been interested in horticulture. She lives on Brighton road in Brookwood Hills, and the garden in the rear of her home is given a great deal of attention by Mrs. Robinson.

"The Constitution's garden school gives so much valuable information to people who are vitally interested in gardening, and who do not like to peruse books which are not always clear and frequently are beyond the purse," said Mrs. Robinson. "This is especially so of young amateurs who like to hear and profit by the experience of others."

"All of us have the same problems, such as insects, blight, etc. I, for one, had much rather hear my problems discussed than to read detailed directions that are not always suited for our climate. I hope The Constitution's free garden school continues indefinitely, for it has been such a joy so see so many people.

"Mrs Crown has the gift of explaining her lectures in a highly entertaining language, and she keeps her audience in a good humor with her amusing comment regarding the subject she is stressing. She is thoroughly conversant with every phase of horticulture, and I like to attend her lectures."

Hospital Auxiliary To Give Luncheon.

The Georgia Baptist Hospital Auxiliary's semi-annual luncheon will be held at Sterchi's tea room Thursday. The luncheons are held twice a year, the proceeds from which is used to make possible hospitalization for little children who would not otherwise have this care.

Chairmen of committees in charge Thursday are Mrs. J. W. Awtry, general chairman; Mrs. W. D. Barker, tickets; Mrs. S. F. Mayer, purchasing; Mrs. J. J. Hemperly and Mrs. Frank Sechter, dining room; Mrs. H. C. McGuire and Mrs. R. A. Cook, kitchen.

Gilleland Class.

The Sara Margaret Gilleland Class of Underwood M. E. church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. B. Bettis Jr. at their home on Howell Mill road, recently. The Halloween motif was carried out in decorations and games. Mrs. Bettis was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. R. J. Wrinn and Mrs. Floyd Bettis.

SOCIETY EVENTS

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 21.

Mrs. James L. Riley and Mrs. Kels Boland entertain at a buffet luncheon at 1 o'clock at their home on Habersham road in compliment to Misses Emily Smith, Claire Haverty, Robyn Peeples, Julia Colquitt, Sara Jenkins and Ann Williams.

Fall Garden Notes by Fletcher Pearson Crown.

Since this is a shady front yard planting that I have been describing I feel that I should mention a few other interesting shrubs that would be suitable in this planting. The aucuba, the variegated form is often called the gold-dust shrub. But the lovely dark green one depends on its lovely berries for interest rather than a variegated foliage. There are several others, among them euonymus japonica. This is evergreen, upright growth, and can be trimmed to any shape you wish. Not that I recommend making fantastic shapes in your garden. But in a country where a terrier dog cannot have a tail, neither can a riding horse keep the nice long fly swatter given to him by nature why should we expect people to resist the urge to shape something out of their lovely shrubs.

I want to mention another lovely shrub that is so seldom seen planted in our gardens. It is photinia glabra. Many of you know about photinia serrulata, that lovely, tall-growing shrub that has such beautiful foliage. Photinia glabra also has lovely foliage, with the new leaves in spring coming out a velvety pink, and maturing into a lovely green. While the pyracanthas are used here I feel that they have a mission to fill elsewhere. Thea sinesis bohea is also an evergreen to be used in front. Just now and extending on into late fall it has white blossoms, and it adds a note of interest to know that its leaves can be dried for a cup of tea.

I am especially fond of azaleas, and feel that even a few bushes of the evergreen kinds are quite decorative in any front yard planting. Even the shrub itself is always lovely, then for several weeks in early or midspring we have a blaze of color that gives everyone who passes at least one happy thought for the day. Be sure that the soil where you plant these shrubs is acid, else you will soon be made unhappy by the yellowing and sickening and after a time the death of your azaleas.

"One ship drives east and another drives west, with the self same winds that blow; 'tis the set of the sails and not the gales, which tell us the way to go."

ATLANTA'S WHO'S WHO IN THE ZODIAC.

DR. R. H. FIKE.

November 25 marks the natal day of Dr. R. H. Fike, head of Steiner hospital. This brings his birthdate under the influence of the Zodiacal sign Sagittarius, the sign of humaneness, kindness and application, certainly exemplified in the wonderful work that Dr. Fike is doing.

Bernice Denton Pierson.

Jupiter is the governing planet of the sign Sagittarius. The Sun-Jupiter position in this chart is particularly favorable. This aspect gives originality and oftimes actual genius.

The Neptune-Uranus aspect supplies the vision and incentive to realize hopes, wishes, ambitious. It endows with unusual individuality, confers friends, social qualities and positions of honor and trust.

The Moon-Mars position adds courage to the nature. The Saturn house position adds ambition, strength of will.

The Sagittarian nature strives for the highest: they hate dishonesty and meanness. It is a nature that accepts and lives up to life's responsibilities and will accept the responsibility for making things come out right.

The Venus-Jupiter position strengthens the entire chart and becomes the promise of success and achievement to continue throughout the period of a long life.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Atlanta Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best-known astrologers. Mrs. Pierson does not profess the ability to tell fortunes, to foretell the future, or to solve personal problems, but she can give you a complete and accurate rendition of the position of the sun and planets at the time of your birth, carefully worked out, according to the strict rules of astrology. All you have to do is to fill in the coupon below, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, together with 10 cents in coin to cover the mailing cost. You will then receive through the mail certain pertinent facts which deal astrologically with the sun at the time of your birth, called a sun-chart, and with this sun-chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations, which will be published in The Atlanta Constitution each day, dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth, according to the rules of astrology. When you have checked each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

Mrs. Bernice Denton Pierson, Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Please prepare astrological forecast, according to the rules of astrology, of the birth date submitted below and return to the name and address given. I enclose:

1. Self-addressed, stamped envelope.
2. Ten cents in coin to cover mailing cost.

Birthday ——— Year Mo. Date of Mo.

Name ———

Street Address ———

City & State ———

You may obtain as many astrological forecasts as you wish for your family and friends. There is nothing to do except send in the birth date, address and 10 cents in coin to cover the cost of mailing, in accordance with the coupon.

Below are planetary indications, according to the rules of astrology, one of which may apply to your forecast. Every day these interesting interpretations will be published, descriptive of the influence of the planets at the time of your birth. Your astrological forecast includes a sun-chart and planetary interpretations, designated by numbers on your sun-chart. Watch carefully day by day for your numbers.

NUMBER 203—You have a rather "set" mind and are capable of being extremely agreeable or extremely disagreeable. You are highly intuitive and an excellent judge of human nature. You are very studious and desire at all times to improve your mind. With your diversified nature, there is no reason why you should not be a success socially, domestically and industrially. Few people have greater qualities of success. All you need to do is to apply yourself and forge ahead.

NUMBER 1210—The indications are that you would be fortunate in agriculture, merchandising, governmental work, journalism, or those occupations that require originality for success. You are thorough and painstaking in what you do and possess elements that tend toward success. Do not scatter your forces over too large a field, but train yourself to concentrate on the one problem at hand.

NUMBER 205—You possess deep feelings and emotions and are unusually rather demonstrative in your affections. You are idealistic to a degree and would never marry below your station in life. You are naturally attracted toward children and have a great fondness for them.

NUMBER 610—No one is more desirous of success than you are and you will strain every point to become so. Whatever occupation you pursue, it should be one that you can inject your own ideas and originality into. You have the ability to become very successful.

SALARY RESTORATIONS SOUGHT FOR JURISTS

County Board To Consider Request at Special Meeting This Month.

Efforts to obtain salary restorations for Fulton superior court judges were under way yesterday. The county commission is scheduled to consider the request at a special meeting of the board before the end of the month.

Judges were asked to take a salary reduction by the commissioners in 1932 and they unanimously agreed to the cut. Their pay from the county amounted to $7,000 per year, which was reduced to $4,000. Since the state pay the judges $5,000 annually, the reduction cut their salaries from $12,000 to $9,000.

The movement for the restoration was learned yesterday after James C. Branch and Marion Smith, attorneys, conferred with the county commissioners on the subject.

It was understood the commissioners told the lawyers the county is not in position to restore the judges' salaries at present.

Branch and Smith cited a supreme court decision in the case of a Macon judge, which held the pay of a judge cannot be legally reduced during a term, it was said.

The 1932 cut received the assent of all judges in Fulton. Judge Hugh M. Dorsey reserved the right to demand the back pay at some future date, at that time.

Should the superior court judges obtain salary restoration, it is likely the judges of the Fulton criminal and municipal courts will request that they receive the same treatment.

It has been the policy of the county since summer to refer to the 1937 finance committee which, of course, has not been selected, all requests for salary readjustments.

The six superior court judges are Senior Judge John D. Humphries and Judges Virlyn B. Moore, E. D. Thomas, E. E. Pomeroy, Hugh M. Dorsey and G. H. Howard (who will be succeeded by Paul Etheridge Sr. next year).

NEW U. S. DESTROYER LAUNCHED IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Walter R. Gherardi commissioned the $4,000,000 1,850-ton U. S. destroyer Balch at the Boston navy yard today.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Christopher Morley remarks that the Spanish, in keping with their extreme courtesy, place an inverted question mark before a sentence that is to end with a straight quotation mark—a sort of warning to the reader that he is about to be put on the spot. Mr. Morley thinks it a pity that this old Spanish custom can't be employed in conversation since many questions breed embarrassments.

Some ladies and gents really should wear inverted question marks pinned on their breasts; so when they barge up their victims will understand that the barrage is on. By comparison with a few of the modern experts, the old Spanish Inquisitors were pikers.

There are women who have so much curiosity and so little delicacy about satisfying it that when you leave their homes you feel as though you had visited a clip joint. You come out dry cleaned and polished off. They have nosed in on news you had preferred to keep off the record, they have opened your closet doors and let out your family skeletons and made you tell your middle name.

Some of the worst pests among the questioners are people who are prompted by the kindliest motives. Take the good neighbor who prides herself on the keen interest she has in you and yours and attempts to prove it to you by enquiring after the health and the whereabouts of every member of the family. It is only a matter of time until she steps on a sore toe and bruises it. Or the nervous sister who dreads a pause in the conversation as she dreads the plague. If she runs amok of a timid soul that won't talk she scrambles wildly to keep the conversational ball in the air. When her supply of chatter is exhausted she knows no other way to resort to questions, personal questions, with the usual result that she creates embarrassment so thick you can cut it with a knife.

There's one questioner that doesn't need a badge. She's the cat. You can always see her coming and know certainly that she's going to put you on the spot. She's pretty cute with her pretended ignorance and her cagey queries, but the just-swallowed-the-canary look is in her eye and you may be certain she has the low-down on the subject in tow. She pops her questions merely to tell you she is in the know and to get a line on your reaction.

There are some walking interrogation points that don't wear skirts. When you meet one of the masculine gender, look out. He asks leading questions, designed to draw you out and lead you on, but he never gives you an inkling of where he is leading you. You discover the destination only when you arrive at it. Of the 57 varieties, plus, he takes the palm.

All of which leads up to the big question: when is a question a crime? The answer is: When it is a personal question directed at you.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

(Posed by Dixie Dunbar.)

An Inexpensive Powder That Is Not Perfumed and Is Extra Fine

By MIGNON.

(The Mignon who writes this column does not sell, indorse or manufacture any cosmetics.)

All women know that there is a big profit in cosmetics. That is one reason they want directions in order to shop carefully. They don't want a poor product, neither do they want to be robbed. One manufacturer, well known throughout the country, sells an enormous amount of face powder to the theatrical profession, and no actress can afford to play funny tricks with her complexion.

So far as I can make out there is little or no perfume in this powder, which may be one reason why it is not expensive. It is very finely sifted so that, used properly, it does not clog the pores. It comes in a great variety of shades and you certainly get all that you pay for when you buy it.

It is strange how we speak about actresses using such quantities of cosmetics. Why the distinction I don't know. All women these days are made-up from morning until night, but then, all women are actresses.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column phone Mignon at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Compare Your Spending With This Pattern

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

The budget class came with paper and pencil. The instructor, Mrs. Nichols, had told them she was going to give them pattern budget figures, and after that they were to discuss real money problems. "As I told you last week, these figures are the equivalent of the paper pattern which is designed to fit a standard or model figure. But since there are as few standard or model figures as there are standard families we have to adjust the outline to fit our individual needs.

For a family of mother, father and children you are on safe ground if you spend one-fourth or 25 per cent of the income for food and other fourth for shelter. There goes half the month's income. The remaining 50 per cent is divided like this: 12 1-2 per cent for savings, 12 1-2 per cent for advancement. There goes another 25 per cent. Now set aside 10 per cent for operative expenses and that leaves 15 per cent for clothing and the money is all gone."

Do those figures mean much to you? Let's look at them again.

"One-fourth of the month's income goes for food. That includes ice, if you are using an ice refrigerator, and it includes beverages. Twenty-five per cent for shelter includes rent or interest and payment on principal or mortgage. It includes fire insurance on the house. It includes taxes. Sometimes the cost of running a car to and from business is included in shelter, especially if you have moved into the country in order to give the children freedom and sunshine.

Savings includes money in the bank, insurance payments and money invested in bonds, stocks or the government postal savings. Clothing items are easy to separate, but hard to keep within bounds. Charge dry cleaning bills to clothing as well as actual garment purchases. The laundering of clothes is usually put under the operating expenses, however. Operating expenses include gas, fuel, light, laundress, cleaning supplies, care of lawn and sidewalk, renewal of light bulbs, plumber's repair bills, painting the house, postage, and so on. Advancement applies to doctor, oculist, dentist bills, magazines, movies, clubs, lodge or church dues, gifts, vacations, running of car for pleasure. Keep this pattern and each week we shall work with it and away from it. Next week we have a family whom I am calling Allen. Their income is $20 a week."

KEY RAPS COUNCIL FOR PAY INCREASE

Action To Aid Passage of Tax Limitation Amendment, He Says.

Mayor Key yesterday warned that ill-conceived acts by governing bodies "such as the voting of $35,000 to partially reinstate salary cuts imposed on municipal employes" will do much toward passing the 15-mill constitutional amendment on November 3.

Asserting he will not impose "my own idea about this matter on council" the mayor said he will approve salary checks with the reinstatement included, but added it is "a dangerous thing to do at this time."

"No one wants to see city employes get their full pay reinstated more than I," Key said yesterday in discussing the fact that council Monday overrode his veto to the measure and ignored a warning along the same line, issued by Mayor-nominee William B. Hartsfield.

"But such acts as these are going to have a great influence on how the people vote on this tax limitation amendment. They are going to say if the council takes this kind of attitude regarding public funds, we'll attend to that by voting the tax limitation.

"The city council Monday did more to pass that amendment than all the others have done against it. Passage of that restoration with city finances in the condition they are, was a disregard for the best interests of the municipality. We just were not able to make that reinstatement now."

COUNTY TO PRESS TAX COLLECTIONS

New System Is Inaugurated To Bring Payment by Delinquents.

Fulton county yesterday inaugurated a new system for the collection of delinquent taxes.

County commissioners ordered Standish Thompson, tax investigator, to take steps which will result in collection of approximately $15,000 back taxes from 1929 fi. fas., which would elapse under the statute of limitations law on December 19, 1936.

Thompson said the county will list several hundred fi. fas. on the general execution docket and that of approximately $70,000 represented for 1929 taxes, about $15,000 will be collected.

He declared fully $10,000 worth of 1928 taxes could have been collected had this system been in use in 1935. The fi. fas. affected are for small amounts, ranging from $5 to $200, and represent taxes for personal belongings principally.

3 JUDGES SUSPEND ATTORNEY WILLIFORD

Ben C. Williford, Atlanta lawyer, was suspended from practice at the bar yesterday by Judge John D. Humphries, Judge Virlyn B. Moore and Judge E. D. Thomas, in Fulton superior court.

Hearing on suspension proceedings brought against Williford by Solicitor General John A. Boykin was held last week by the three-judge court. Williford was charged with having been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude. Disbarment proceedings are pending against him.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE EFFECT OF DISTRIBUTION.

The choice of responses to an opening one no-trump bid often will depend upon the responder's distribution. When his hand is balanced (containing no singleton) there will be many cases in which the combined hands will produce nine winners (game at no-trump) and yet have only a doubtful play for game in a major suit. When the responder's hand contains a singleton, the play for 10 tricks at a trump bid is enough better to balance the advantage of the cheaper no-trump game, because an extra four-card length is available with the added protection of trumps.

To illustrate: the opening bid was once no-trump and the responder holds:

Spades—A Q 5 4 2.
Hearts—6.
Diamonds—K 10 6 4.
Clubs—6 4 2.

He counts two long cards in spades, and adds two for the spade A-Q and two for the diamond suit. Total, six. Counting his partner for four honor tricks, he sees a combined total of ten, enough to make four spades. Having an unbalanced pattern, he will arrange his responses so as to arrive at a four-spade contract.

Holding A Q 5 4 2 in spades, 6 3 in hearts, K 10 6 5 in diamonds and 8 7 in clubs, he again counts six winners, but fears the quick loss of four tricks. He will raise the no-trump bid with a view to arriving finally at three no-trump.

In each case he will reach the most likely game if the opening hand is on the order of K J 3 clubs, Q J 9 4 hearts, A Q J diamonds and K J 10 clubs.

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding.

East	South	West	North
1 diam.	1 spade	2 clubs	Pass
2 diam.	2 spades	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

The explanation of the bad one spade overcall and outrageous spade rebid was that North-South had a couple of weak opponents. South would not have dared bid this way against players of higher rank.

West opened the queen of diamonds. East overtook, and continued the suit. Declarer ruffed with the three and led the queen of hearts. East won and led a third round of diamonds. Declarer ruffed with the eight, and West, instead of grasping the opportunity to get rid of a heart, gave his partner a loud club signal with the nine spot. The jack of hearts went to East's ace, and East again forced declarer in diamonds. South ruffed with the nine, and cashed the 10 of hearts (obviously West could have been void of hearts by this time). With the silent prayer that the opponents would continue their forcing tactics, declarer led a small club which went to East's singleton king. The prayer was answered. East, with misguided stick-to-itiveness, led another high diamond. This time the 10 of spades came home on a ruff, and declarer still had to make the ace and king of trumps separately.

Instead of going down the three tricks, 800 points, that reasonably good defense would have defeated the contract, a game was saved at the expense of only one trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Partner bid two hearts. Next hand passed. I held:
Spades—7 3.
Hearts—J 8 7 4 3.
Diamonds—J 7 5.
Clubs—7 5 3.
What should I have bid?
Answer: Four hearts.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Council Revamping Body Under John A. White.

Reorganization of 1937 council committees was placed yesterday in the hands of a four-man council committee and Mayor-nominee William B. Hartsfield.

Mayor Pro Tem Ellis B. Barrett named Councilman John A. White, author of a council resolution providing for the committee, as chairman of the revamping group. Councilman Cecil W. Hester and Aldermen Ed A. Gilliam and G. Dan Bridges, of the 1937 council, also were designated as members of the committee.

White presented his measure at Monday's session of council. It provided that four members of the incoming council and the mayor-nominee should compose the committee. At the present time there are about 27 council committees from a council membership of 39 members. After the first of the year, council will be reduced to a body of 18 members, and while and other members believe consolidation and merger of committees will facilitate handling of the city's business.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Monday.—What do you think came to me in the mail this morning? An invitation from the Republican national committee to subscribe to their campaign fund. It was addressed to me as Miss Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, 66 East 80th street, New York city, which is the address of the Todhunter school.

I am still connected with this school, and I suppose the mill which sends out these appeals could not be expected to realize that Anna Eleanor Roosevelt in New York is one and the same as Anna Eleanor Roosevelt in Washington.

All headquarters make these little mistakes, adding to the gayety of nations. I was particularly interested to receive this, however, because it has such a startling heading; a quotation from Lincoln's Gettysburg address: "That this nation . . . shall not perish from the earth." The inference, of course, is that there is a possibility that the nation will perish if the President is re-elected.

I wish I could convince myself myself of this fact. It would make it so much more exciting. But the most I can feel is that we may have more difficult times if the other candidate is elected. After all, we have not perished from the earth through many other periods of stress and change.

I feel I should explain a little more carefully the plan which Mrs. Arthur Terry carries out in appealing for old spectacles, for I find there is confusion on several points.

She tells me that anyone bringing her a letter of introduction from an organized charity or a social worker is interviewed by her, and then is given a card to one of the leading eye hospitals, where they receive a free examination by a specialist. New lenses made to their prescription are put into the shell frames which Mrs. Terry is able to provide from those sent to her.

The old lenses are sold and all metal—gold, silver, etc.—is sent to a smelter. The money derived from these sources is used to pay for new lenses which are bought at the hospital price from the best opticians. Mrs. Terry has no subscribers, no overhead and no assistants. She has carried on this work in her neighborhood since 1933.

It is evident, of course, that she cannot help people except those who are able to visit her personally. She tells me that people from distant cities are writing to her, hoping to get glasses by mail. Of course, these would be valueless unless they were fitted to their eyes by a specialist.

It seems to me that Mrs. Terry's work would be helpful to a great many more people if it were conducted in different localities and if safeguarded in the same way she has done. It is with this idea in mind that I tell the story of Mrs. Terry and her work more in detail.

YOUR FIGURE, MADAME

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

MODEL FIGURES.

Model figures are made, not born. The beautiful models who carry the world of fashion on their slim shoulders are, more often than not, a work of art—and hours of exercise. By dint of daily exercise they acquire the graceful walk, superb carriage and infinite poise that mark the perfect model. Any of us who are interested in making the most of our looks can do no better than take these girls as a pattern.

IDA JEAN KAIN

At the Empire Mannequin school in New York, models in the making have the tiniest measurement flaw corrected, and acquire a walk such as you would expect of Venus should she step down from her pedestal. I watched the girls go through their paces and borrowed several of their best exercises to pass along to you.

Movement: Pulling up and in with the lower abdominal muscles, flatten the small of the back until it touches the floor, holding to 25 counts. Relax with the legs extended straight out on the floor, and repeat the exercise not more than ten times.

From this exercise the girls proceed to the wall stance, pulling up and in with the lower abdominal muscles to flatten the small of the back against the wall. There should be just space enough to slip the flattened hand between the back and the wall. From this position the girls walk forward on a single line, one foot directly ahead of the other. Try this walk and you will see what it does for alignment.

Model measurements, of course, must be every inch perfection. Many of these girls have the same hip, derriere and waistline problems that you do, and here are the exercises they use. This exercise glorifies the waistline:

Movement: Bending backward, touch the hand to the back of the knee, then the other hand to the back of the other knee, swinging freely and rhythmically. The bend should be backward, not sideward. This exercise also helps to tone the abdominal muscles.

Movement: "Walk" forward on the buttocks by sliding one leg and then the other along the floor. Now walk backward. This exercise loses its effectiveness unless the movement is concentrated in the gluteal muscles of the buttocks. Do not raise the body from the floor.

Here is one for hips, thighs and legs.

Position: Standing with one side toward and about two feet from the wall, with one hand braced against door jamb.

Movement: Kick the outside leg sideward as high as possible, as you hop on the inside foot. Back to position, and go into a deep knee bend. Turn around and do it with the other leg. Repeat ten times with each leg.

In model measurements the hips do not exceed the bust by more than one inch and the waist is eight inches smaller than the bust. With these exercises you can have a model figure.

Miss Ruth Smith, of Dahlonega, Becomes Bride of Mr. Hairston

DAHLONEGA, Ga., Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Smith announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruth Smith, to Wayne H. Hairston, of Marietta, the marriage having been quietly solemnized on October 6 at Lawrenceville. Judge E. S. Wages, ordinary of Gwinnett county, read the marriage service for the young couple, who were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hunt.

The lovely bride received her education in Dahlonega, where she was graduated from the North Georgia College. She is a native of this city, but has spent the past two years in Marietta, where she was a WPA employe and a popular member of the younger set of society. She is receiving a cordial welcome as a bride from a host of admiring friends in Marietta.

Mr. Hairston is the youngest son of Mrs. Addie Dobbs Hairston and the late George C. Hairston, of Marietta. He is the brother of G. C. Hairston and J. M. Hairston, both of Marietta. He was educated in the Marietta schools and for the past two years has been associated in business with the Anderson Motor Company.

Lovely Member of 1936-37 Debutante Club

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant Jr. Celebrate Anniversary at Club

Fashionable members of the younger married contingent of society assembled at the Capital City Club last evening for the supper-dance given by Mr. and Mrs. John Grant Jr. in celebration of their tenth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Grant is the former Miss Josephine Connors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Connors, of Birmingham, and her marriage to Mr. Grant was a brilliant social event in the Alabama city. Her mother, Mrs. Connors, was before her marriage, Miss Lillian Lochrane, a noted belle and beauty of Atlanta.

Dancing was enjoyed last evening in the ballroom of the club which was beautifully decorated with quantities of rich autumn foilage, red, yellow and bronze dahlias and chrysanthemums. Garlands of smilax outlined the walls of the room presenting an effective floral motif. Supper was served in the grill room of the club, and decorations on the table reflected the autumnal colors, each being centered with baskets filled with colorful flowers. Quantities of sunflowers and large pumpkins added the Hollowe'en feature to the decorative arrangement.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Grant in entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Allan Johnson, of Birmingham, Ala. Mrs. Johnson is the former Miss Mary Hansell Shook, of Birmingham, who was maid of honor at the marriage of the hosts.

Mrs. Grant was beautifully gowned in a imported model of white brocade and her flowers were white orchids.

Out-of-Town Entries Will Add Interest To Junior Horse Show

A number of out-of-town entries have been made for the Junior Horse Show to be held Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Biltmore Riding school on Roxboro road. Master Mat Cole Lee comes from Macon with two horses and a pony, the lafter being known as Sally Rand. Anita and Alice Cooper will bring their horses from Rome to enter in the jumping classes. Mrs. B. F. Coggins, chairman of entries committee and her co-chairman, Mrs. William Ward Jr., state other out-of-town entries are anticipated. Price of admission to the events will be 50 cents.

Mrs. E. P. Carrier and her committee, Mrs. Bryant Sells and Mrs. Kenyon Zahner, are making arrangements for adequate and comfortable seating about the ring. Through efforts of Mrs. Clyde King Jr. spectators will be able to hear the events and their results announced clearly through an amplifier.

Poster reminders of this event of importance are in charge of Mrs. R. L. Towles' committee. Members include Mesdames Grady Poole, George Beatty, Howard Dobbs, Harris Robinson, Joan Candler, Frank Bell, W. E. White and Hal Dumas. Mrs. Virginia Crenshaw has selected a special parking lot where cars may be parked easily and without congestion.

The horse show is sponsored by the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls schools, the proceeds from which will be used toward the maintenance of the school.

Better Films Group Plans Luncheon.

Atlanta Better Films Committee will feature as the theme at its luncheon program Thursday "Walt Disney and His Brain Children." Mrs. L. L. Perry, chairman of class instruction, will speak. The pledges are Jane Bray, Annie Laurie Muse, Charlotte Hardin, Nancy Robinson and Jean Evans.

Luncheon Postponed.

The luncheon planned today by Mrs. Thomas Morgan and Mrs. Edward Lewis at the Piedmont Driving Club for Miss Elinor Memminger, bride-elect, has been postponed due to the illness of the honor guest.

Davis—Jordan.

BUCKHEAD, Ga., Oct. 20.—Miss Eva Davis and Mercer Jordon were married in Eatonton on September 15. Mr. Jordon is employed by the federal government, and the young couple are residing here with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Davis, parents of the bride.

Gleaners Class.

Gleaners Class of Oakhurst Baptist church met recently with Mrs. H. H. Bradley, on Maxwell street. The new president, Mrs. Frank Keener, presided. Mrs. J. E. Pirkle gave the devotional. Contest was enjoyed by the 18 members and two visitors present.

Miss Katharine Lindner Weds Mr. Freeborn at Sacred Heart

The marriage of Miss Katharine Lindner and Elbridge Freeborn was solemnized last evening at 8 o'clock in the rectory of Sacred Heart church by Father John McGrath in the presence of a gathering of close friends and relatives. Prior to the ceremony a string quartet rendered a program of nuptial music.

An arrangement of palms, foliage plants and baskets of Easter lilies, combined with cathedral candelabra in which gleamed white tapers, provided a floral background for the wedding party.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Georg Lindner and the groom was attended by Vaughn Ozmer as best man. The bride wore a striking gown of white cut velvet fashioned along regal princess lines and trimmed with exquisite rose point lace which trimmed the wedding gown of the bride's mother when, as Miss Kate Davidson, of Montgomery, Ala., she became the bride of Mr. Lindner. The full graceful skirt extended into a long train and the long sleeves were formed of velvet and lace. The bride's only ornament was a handsome pearl pendant, a valued heirloom in her family. She wore a veil of illusion tulle that extended to the end of her train and fell over her face to the waistline in front. Her bouquet was formed of valley lilies and white roses. The maid-of-honor and the bride's only attendant, Miss Laura Neely, was gowned in white chiffon velvet, the skirt moulding her slender figure and extending into a brief train. Her bouquet was formed of white roses, white sweetpeas and white swainsona.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindner, the bride's parents, entertained at a reception at their home on Huntington road after the ceremony at which they were assisted in receiving by the bride and groom and their attendants. Mrs. Lindner was attired in rose pink lace posed over satin to match and her shoulder bouquet was formed of yellow roses and valley lilies. Miss Lina Lindner, the bride's aunt of Chicago, was gowned in sapphire blue crepe and her shoulder spray was formed of valley lilies and talisman roses. Other out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Misses Lucretia and Sarah Wyman and Margaret Lahey, of Montgomery, Ala.

Presiding over the coffee table were Mrs. Edgar Neely and Mrs. J. W. Ware. The bride's table was graced by an exquisitely embossed cake carrying out the green and white motif. The same colors were expressed in other appointments gracing the table and a handsome silver coffee service adorned one end of the table. Miss Frances Lyle kept the bride's book.

Mr. Freeborn and his bride left in the late evening for a wedding trip by motor and upon return they will make their home at 325 Wilton drive in Decatur. For traveling the bride donned a smart rust-colored woolen ensemble, the stunning coat being trimmed with Polar fox. Her hat was of brown felt and she wore other brown accessories.

Miss Marian Spitz Becomes Bride of Mr. Gortatowsky

Miss Marian Hirsch Spitz became the bride of Julian Ehrlich Gortatowsky at a quiet ceremony taking place at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Hugo M. Spitz, on Eleventh street. Rabbi David Marx performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The fireplace in the living room was banked with palms and ferns, and beautified with baskets filled with vari-colored dahlias.

Mrs. Richard Guthman was her sister's matron of honor and was gowned in a modish model of green lightweight wool, trimmed with gold buttons and worn with a black felt hat and black accessories. Her flowers were orchids.

The bride entered with her uncle, Jake Hirsch, by whom she was given in marriage, and they were met in the living room by the groom and his best man, Harold Hirsch.

The bride was stylishly attired in a two-piece suit of brown wool, worn with a gold and blue metal cloth blouse. Her becoming brown felt hat, trimmed with bronze ribbon, was worn with a face veil and the bride wore brown accessories. A bouquet of valley lilies and orchids adorned her shoulder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—An advance in utility and oil shares today helped keep a leisurely retreat in other sectors of the stock market within narrow bounds.

Demand for oil shares broadened out toward the finish. Standard Oil of New Jersey advanced 1 3-4 to 67 and gains of fractions to a point were hung up for Standard of Indiana, Seaboard, Texas Corporation and Atlantic Refining. Third-quarter earnings reports have drawn attention to the better times petroleum companies have been enjoying.

Generally the urge to sell stocks following the recent advance appeared to have the upper hand. Leading steels, rails and metals lost fractions to more than 2 points.

Trading contracted after a rather active first hour. Transfers fell to 1,668,662 shares from 1,888,130 in the preceding session.

The drop in steel operations reported yesterday by the American Iron & Steel Institute was mentioned in brokerage circles as probably a dampening influence upon buying sentiment. United States Steel, Bethlehem and other leading issues in the group gave up fractions to more than a point.

Taking an independent tack, Sloss-Sheffield Steel, usually inactive, ran up nearly 6 points to 71 in extension of a preceding rise. Brokers had no definite explanations of the advance, although they pointed out steel earnings generally had been improving substantially. The preferred stock rose 3.

With rail traffic believed to be around the peak for the year, carrier shares encountered moderate selling.

Prominent losers of a point or so were Anaconda at 46, American Smelting 90, Chrysler 127 3-8, American Locomotive 37 and Montgomery Ward 56 1-4.

Prospects of seasonal gains in power production drew attention to utility shares as buying shifted to that group. Consolidated Edison finished nearly 2 higher at 47 and fractional gains were scored by North American, American Water Works, Electric Power & Light and Columbia Gas.

A rally in foreign exchanges against the dollar lifted the British pound to $4.89, up 1-4 of a cent, and the French franc to 4.65 5-8 cents, up .00 3-16 of a cent.

Wall Street analysts who have been watching the trend of loans by banks for commercial purposes as a clue to business currents were encouraged by the latest figures of member banks of the reserve system in leading cities. These showed that while the banks were cutting down their investments in securities by $31,000,000 in the week ended October 14, "other loans," mostly for business purposes, increased $43,000,000. The total of "other loans," which has been on the rise since early 1936, is now more than $600,000,000 ahead of a year ago.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Railroad issues were under pressure in the bond market today as other sections of the list held fairly even.

Selling was general over most of the carrier section with the more speculative liens suffering losses of major fractions to a point or more. St. Paul 5s of 1975 closed at 27 3-4, off 1 1-4, wiping out a gain of the same proportions scored Monday.

Denver & Rio Grande Western 4 1-2s lost 1 1-4 at 35 as hearing on the road's reorganization plan disclosed formal opposition to it of a heavily interested group of insurance companies. Other rail bonds losing major fractions included Northwestern 4 3-4s, Erie 5s and Southern railway 4s.

Industrial obligations held at about unchanged prices while utilities moved up a bit. In the latter group Consolidated Edison 3 1-4s and Detroit Edison 4 1-2s edged up fractions along with North American 5s and Portland General Electric 4 1-2s.

Baldwin Locomotive 6s of 1938, traded on the curb, declined sharply following a federal court ruling that semi-annual interest on the 5s of 1940 must be paid. The stamped 6s, with warrants, dropped 1 1-4 to 130 and the 6s ex-warrants lost 2 3-8 to 123 1-8.

Foreign bonds were more active and prices were slightly uneven. French stamped 7 1-2s gained 4 to 137 and Polish 7s improved 1 3-4 to 72. Milan 6 1-2s were off 2 1-4.

United States governments were quiet and lower, although the 3 1-8s of 1949-52 gained 8-32 of a point to 106.22.

Turnover totaled $12,466,000, face value, compared with $13,479,000 Monday.

The Associated Press averages for 20 rails and 10 low yield bonds dipped while the compilations for the 10 utilities and 10 foreigns improved a bit.

AVERAGE PRICE.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The average price of middling cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 12.11 cents a pound.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Reports of crop improvement in western Texas brought a small decline in futures prices today.

Losses were held to 25 cents a bale, with near months suffering most of the pressure. The price swing never exceeded 7 points at any time during the day. Trading was dull.

The easier tone appeared at the first call and persisted until the final bell when December closed at 11.86, January at 11.85, May at 11.97, and July at 11.95. October, 1937, changed hands at 11.57 during the day, reflecting a considerable narrowing of the premium between the near and distant months.

Liverpool was first to circulate the reports of a bigger crop in the American belt, and foreign markets were lower. English traders apparently believed the fine weather in the past month made a 12,000,000-bale American yield a possibility.

Bearing out this contention was an advice from the Lubbock section of northwest Texas that the crop there looked more like 398,000 bales than the previous lower estimate. Dallas also wired spot houses that an increase in the Texas yield was highly probable.

Crop commentators were waiting to see how the frost held off along the upper sections of the belt before hazarding a guess on next month's government estimate.

Bullish interests continued to receive encouragement from fine reports from Worth Street and other cloth markets. Spot sales and heavy exports were other constructive developments during the day, but did not prove sufficient to bring important buying into the ring.

LIQUIDATION FORCES N. Y. COTTON LOWER

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Favorable weather in the south brought increased liquidation into cotton today but offers were absorbed on moderate recessions.

January sold off from 11.93 to 11.84 and closed at 11.87 with final prices 3 to 8 points net lower.

Easy Liverpool cables, foreign and hedge selling met mill price fixing at the opening with near-by positions 1 to 2 points higher and later months unchanged to 5 lower. Foreign trade buying developed late in the day and final prices were up 2 to 4 points from the lows.

Exports today 25,664, making a total of 1,269,189 for the season. Port receipts 71,322. United States port stocks 2,397,252.

Metals.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Copper: Quiet; electrolytic and future 9.75; export 10.05.

Tin: Barely steady; spot and near by 44.60; future 44.25.

Lead: Steady; spot New York 4.60@4.70; East St. Louis 4.45@4.50.

Zinc: Dull; East St. Louis spot and future 4.85.

OILS, UTILITIES LEAD CURB SHARES HIGHER

American Gas & Electric, Gulf Oil and Creole Petroleum Are Leaders.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Utilities and oils returned to a commanding position in the curb market today and helped to sustain the list against active selling in the recently buoyant industrial group.

On the upside for fractions or more were American Gas & Electric, American Light & Traction, Gulf Oil, Creole Petroleum, Niagara Hudson Power and Electric Bond & Share.

Aluminum Co., closing at 131, was off 2; Pepperell 112 1-2, off 2; Stroock & Company 25, off 1; Driver Harris, 30, off 1; Elgin National Watch 40 3-4, off 2 1-4; Pittsburgh Plate Glass 126, off 3; Great Atlantic & Pacific 116 1-2, off 1.

The short position in all stocks in the curb market as of September 30 totaled 46,852 shares, compared with 53,421 shares on August 31.

LARGER FARM INCOME REPORTED FOR AUGUST

Smaller Marketing of Cotton and Tobacco Causes Decrease in Few States.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Larger cash income from the sale of principal farm products in August, as compared with the same month last year, was reported today for four of the six regions of the country by the Department of Agriculture.

It said cash received by farmers for their products in August this year had increased 30 per cent in west central states, 27 per cent in east north central states, 26 per cent in north Atlantic states and 17 per cent in western states.

The decreases were 7 per cent in south Atlantic states and 5 per cent in south central states. Smaller marketings of cotton and tobacco caused the declines, the department said.

States showing a decrease this August compared with a year ago included North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The national income from sale of farm products was reported at $637,000,000 this August and $566,000,000 in August, 1935.

National income from sale of farm products for the first eight months this year was estimated at $4,472,000,000 as compared with $3,775,000,000 for the similar period last year.

Only Kentucky and South Carolina of the 48 states showed a smaller cash income for the first eight months of this year, compared with last. The tabulations did not include federal farm benefit payments of $10,541,000 in August this year and $44,235,000 for the month in 1935.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

THOMSON & McKINNON—Tuesday's recessions in stocks was not surprising nor disturbing, being viewed as a perfectly normal technical development.

COURTS & CO.—While quite reactionary the market does not give the impression of weakness, hence any further irregularity should be of short duration.

FENNER & BEANE—We look for further demand in the utility divisions.

BEER & CO.—The market may be a selective affair for another day or so, but as yet there have been no indications that it would develop into a general setback.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—Profit-taking this morning was well absorbed and selling petered out of its own accord. Rails continue backward. We think conservative people might switch from rails into operating utilities.

COTTON OPINIONS.

THOMSON & McKINNON—The market may experience difficulty in making headway on the upside so long as hedge selling continues heavy but we believe it is just a question of time before prices will reflect the improving statistical position.

COURTS & CO.—As hedges decrease, we look for an upward movement in prices which will not stop until a much higher level is reached.

FENNER & BEANE—The weight of hedges or increased crop forecast may cause some further recessions. We believe it will prove temporary and that much higher prices are in prospect.

BEER & CO.—We favor purchases around present levels.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—On the whole we see no outstanding change in the character of the news affecting the market and feel that underlying conditions are for the most part favorable. December Liverpool due 6.67.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—Futures eased Tuesday under foreign selling and tired long liquidation probably induced by impression of some crop improvement, although trade continued good buyer and demand seems likely to broaden on further setbacks.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

THOMSON & McKINNON—We believe wheat a purchase around current levels.

COURTS & CO.—The supply and demand factor will in the end determine values and we see nothing in the picture to change our belief that higher levels eventually will be established.

FENNER & BEANE—We look for higher prices later on.

BEER & CO.—Would accumulate contracts of wheat on recessions.

DOBBS & CO.—We are of the belief that our wheat should be bought on such reactions as have occurred.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—Though improved crop prospects in Argentina and Australia have dampened bullish enthusiasm in wheat, it is unlikely that European importers can withhold Canadian purchases until southern hemisphere crops mature.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Wheat prices averaged slightly higher today, helped by some improvement of milling demand here.

For the most part, however, the wheat trade was virtually just marking time, with no decided movement of values either up or down. There was only a light volume of business, and the extremes of fluctuations kept within a range of less than a cent a bushel.

It was estimated that export takings of Canadian wheat amounted to but 500,000 bushels.

Wheat futures in Chicago closed irregular, 1-4 lower to 3-8 higher, compared with yesterday's finish. December 114 3-4 to 114 1-2, May 113 1-8 to 113 1-4, July 98 3-8 to 98 7-8, corn unchanged to 1-2 up. December 93 3-8 to 93 1-2, May 89 1-8 to 89 1-4, July 86, oats at 1-8 decline to 3-8 advance. December 40 1-4, and rye unchanged to 1-4 dearer, December 82. Provisions results varied from 10 cents setback to 12 cents bulge.

With no general relief yet from drouth in Australia, slight advances in wheat prices here soon displaced early downturns that were more or less a consequence of Liverpool quotations lower than due. Gains here, however, failed to hold well, traders generally considering Argentine crop conditions to be now quite good, although not indicating any bumper yield.

Pit observers said Chicago December wheat was accumulated persistently today on declines, and at one stage rallied to $1.14 7-8, up 7-8, from the day's low.

Corn, oats and rye displayed relative firmness.

Provisions as a rule were lower, influenced by downtowns of hog values.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Raw sugar was firm today and although the spot price remained unchanged at 3.40, there were sales of 15,000 bags of Puerto Ricos and 13,500 Philippines for early November arrival at an advance of 5 points or at 3.45.

Futures were less active and after recovering early losses of a point, the market reacted again under liquidation and a little selling. Final prices were unchanged on November but 1 to 2 points lower on new-crop positions. Sales 4,150 tons.

The range follows:

	High.	Low.	Last.
November	2.47	2.47	2.47b
January	2.55	2.53	2.53b

CAM DORSEY APPEALS FOR ELECTORS' FUNDS

Many Counties Already Have Reached Quotas, He Tells His Aides.

Calling for the rapid completion of the state organization of Roosevelt electors, Cam D. Dorsey, state financial director, asked for volunteer contributors to the campaign fund of President Roosevelt yesterday.

Dorsey said leaders in many counties throughout the state are reporting they already have reached their quotas and that the people of Georgia are exhibiting great interest in the President's campaign fund.

Meetings of county organizations are being held daily as the leaders map final plans for the drive.

The state director suggested yesterday that the many persons who have derived financial gain as the result of the Roosevelt administration policies send in their contributions to the state headquarters at the Henry Grady hotel without waiting to be solicited.

Meanwhile J. P. Allen, chairman of the Fulton county organization, announced several large donations from Atlantans. He held a meeting of prominent Democrats yesterday at the Henry Grady headquarters and will hold gatherings there at 4 o'clock every afternoon. He warned that only two weeks remain in which to contribute to the fund and to show appreciation for the general business revival which President Roosevelt has brought.

COUNTY CHAIRMEN NAMED FOR GEORGIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The national Democratic executive committee today announced the appointment by James A. Farley, chairman, of nine more county chairmen to the national council of Roosevelt electors in Georgia.

They were Dr. J. M. Sutton, Sylvester, Worth county; Joseph Gibson, Moultrie, Colquitt; Watts Powell, Vienna, Dooly; P. F. Burch Jr., Eastman, Dodge; Emmett Gaskins, Fitzgerald, Ben Hill; P. A. McKenzie, Ashburn, Turner; Mrs. Helen Williams Coxon, Ludowici, Long; J. Howard Ennis, Milledgeville, Baldwin; Frank R. Miles, Augusta, Richmond.

The new appointees, indorsed by Cam D. Dorsey, Atlanta, state treasurer, brought the total of county chairmen to 97.

U. S. JURY INDICTS ELLIS PARKER, SON

Two Are Freed Under Bail Totaling $35,000; Kidnaping Charged.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Ellis H. Parker, famed Burlington county detective chief, and his son, Ellis Jr., were free under heavy bail tonight on federal indictments charging conspiracy in the kidnaping of Paul H. Wendel.

Parker, who has solved some of the country's famous criminal cases and has written a volume of his memoirs, and his son were taken into custody today about 24 hours after a federal grand jury in Newark handed up indictments to Federal Judge Guy Fake. The Parkers surrendered at United States Commissioner Raph W. Haines' office here.

Friends and local merchants supplied bail of $10,000 for the senior Parker and $25,000 for his son, pending a hearing before a federal judge next Tuesday in Trenton. It was learned Judge Philip Forman would hear the case.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS No. 99
By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Never had Tarzan faced a plight so fantastic, so alarming. He dared not stop his whirlwind rotation of the club, and thus lay himself open to attack by the monsters. Yet, eventually, he must stop. Sheer exhaustion would bring him to that terrible extremity.

Had his foes been primitive, excitable tribesmen of his African homeland, they would have piled on him helter-skelter and he might have escaped in the melee; but these wiser descendants of a once mighty race were content to wait stolidly for the inevitable.

Tarzan, however, refused to bow to clutching fate. His agile mind, sharpened by a thousand emergencies, hit upon a desperate stratagem. With him, to think was to act. So, with all the force at his command he flung his club into the circle of sullen monsters.

The club struck broadside, and three of the creatures fell. Tarzan had expected to break through during the confusion. But there was no confusion. His foes merely closed up the gap. Now the circle was as tight as before and Tarzan, clubless, was at their mercy.

OFFICIALS CONFER ON POWER PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Officials of the Federal Power Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Commonwealth & Southern Corporation met here today in the first of a series of conferences to discuss the power situation in the southern area.

Engineers and rate specialists of the three organizations attending the meeting were said to have discussed all available data in connection with the southern power field, looking toward formulation of a report for later submission to the President on possible future policies, rates, etc., in the area.

HOOVER ASSAILED FOR F. D. R. ATTACK

Progressive Republican Body Denounces Charges of Ex-President.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Progressive Republican committee for Franklin D. Roosevelt today sent a protest to former President Herbert Hoover against his "sporadic and misleading phrased attacks upon the President of the United States."

The committee, signed by Roscoe S. Conklin, chairman of the committee, said:

"As enrolled Republicans who helped elect you in 1928, we protest against your sporadic and misleading phrased attacks upon the President of the United States. Both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Landon stand for stalwart Americanism and honesty in government. That is not the issue in this campaign and innuendos from high places to the contrary concerning the Democratic candidate are becoming wearisome and offensive. They should not be tolerated by responsible persons. . . .

"As an ex-president of the United States and in good sportsmanship, why not give the gallant leader of 1932-1936 credit for his unparalleled accomplishments?

"Why carp at them while a nation smiles pathetically at its former chief magistrate singing a hymn of hate in unison with another near president who but yesterday you yourself so decisively defeated?"

THOMAS H. SCOTT JR. PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Thomas Howell Scott Jr., eight-year-old son of Thomas Howell Scott, Atlanta attorney and Mrs. Scott, died yesterday morning at the residence, 3010 Habersham road, N. W.

He was a second-grade pupil at the Rivers school. Besides his parents, surviving are a brother, Frank; a sister, Lois Ann, and his grandmother, Mrs. Calvin Elwood, of Menominee, Michigan.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

News of Gate City Told in Paragraphs

Robert B. House, dean of the University of North Carolina, and J. M. Saunders, secretary of the Alumni Association, both of Chapel Hill, N. C., will be principal speakers at the Atlanta Alumni Association meeting of the University of North Carolina at 1 o'clock tomorrow at the Capitol City Club. J. S. Carr, president, will preside.

Rev. B. Frank Pim, former pastor of the Grant Park Methodist church, will conduct a mass meeting at the church at 11 o'clock Sunday. Special music has been arranged.

Chiseling through the wall, burglars entered a chain grocery store at 361 Peachtree street early yesterday and stole $47 in cash that had been hidden under the counter by L. L. Allen, manager. Police are investigating.

Mayor-elect William Hartsfield and Judge John L. Cone were principal speakers at the West End Businessmen's Association meeting Monday. Seventeen new members were accepted in the organization, Roy Warren, president, said.

T. J. Bryan, local department store credit manager, will be principal speaker at a meeting of the Atlanta Retail Credit Association at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow at the Piedmont hotel.

Brigadier Ernest R. Holz, of the Salvation Army, will be principal speaker at the First Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock tonight. He will speak on "The Greatest Social Principal."

Sixteen members of the Choral Club will sing a program of negro spirituals, both old and modern, at 8:30 o'clock Monday at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Ashby and Palmetto streets. The public has been invited.

Theosophical Society will hear Norman Pollitt speak on "Astrology in Relation to the Path," at 8 o'clock tonight in the lodge room.

Mrs. Helen Douglas Mankin, representative-elect from Fulton county, will address the Agnes Scott Business Girls' Club at Black's Coffee Shop at 6 o'clock today. All former Agnes Scott girls now connected in business circles have been invited to attend.

Open to both men and women qualified for selling, without cost, special classes in salesmanship begin this week at the Atlanta Opportunity school for those who are preparing for sales jobs during the Christmas season.

U. S. marine corps district recruiting office at Macon, serving this area, will accept applications for enlistment in November from young men between the ages of 18-25, and not less than 5 feet 6 inches in height, Major J. M. Tildsley, officer in charge, announced yesterday. Interested persons are asked to write the Macon office, in the Municipal auditorium, for complete information and application blanks.

Dr. Ryland Knight, pastor of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church and state member of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention, is in Richmond, Va., attending the meeting of that body.

Edward Rohman, of Lee's Mill road, was bound over to the state courts yesterday in recorder's court under bond of $300 on a charge of shooting at another. James Clark, driver of Rohman's car, was held under $200 bond as an accessory. Rohman and Clark were arrested after they allegedly had chased another automobile containing two Agnes Scott College girls and two Tech students following a crash.

A. M. Streetman, of Suwanee, informed police yesterday he was robbed of $110 while asleep in his truck yesterday morning on Woodward street.

Sneak thieves secured a purse belonging to Miss Irene Cole, of 1069 Rosedale road, N. E., and containing $47 and valuable papers. The purse was taken from Miss Cole's office in the Healey building.

HERNDON AGAIN GOES TO SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Angelo Herndon, Cincinnati negro Communist organizer, appealed to the supreme court today in an effort to escape an 18 to 20-year chain gang sentence imposed in Georgia under an insurrection law enacted in reconstruction days.

He asked the tribunal to review a ruling by the Georgia supreme court unanimously sustaining the statute, passed in 1871, and upholding his conviction.

Attorneys for Herndon contended in the petition that the law violated the constitutionally guaranteed rights of free speech, free press and free assembly.

Once before he appealed to the supreme court but it dismissed the case on technical grounds that it had no jurisdiction.

NORTHWEST IS SWEPT BY SLEET AND SNOW

ST. PAUL, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Snow and sleet swept into the northwest today with wintry weather that caused one death on the hazardous highways.

Dr. E. G. McKeown, 55, Pipestone physician, was killed when his automobile skidded into a tree.

Freezing weather descended upon much of the northwest for the first time today with snow flurries in its wake. At Marshall, in southwestern Minnesota, four inches of snow fell.

A snowstorm raged at Lake Preston, S. D., where four inches had already fallen. The wind continued early tonight, forcing farmers to house livestock for the first time this season.

Amy Mollison Crashes, Announces Separation

ORPINGTON, England, Oct. 20. (UP)—Mrs. Amy Mollison broke her nose in an airplane mishap today and in a subsequent interview surprised reporters by announcing she and her aviator-husband, James Mollison, were separating.

Britain's best-known woman flyer, overtaken by darkness during a flight from Paris to London, made a forced landing in a field near here and her ship overturned. Her injuries were not serious.

"Jim and I amicably decided to go our own ways in the future," she said. "I intend to continue my flying career under my maiden name of Miss Amy Johnson." The Mollisons have made several spectacular flights, both together and separately.

ALL G. M. C. WORKERS WARNED ON SECURITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(UP)—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, in a letter to all G. M. C. employes today, urged them to examine carefully into the economic foundations of proposals affecting the social welfare of the American people.

The letter did not mention specifically any of the various plans, governmental or otherwise, for social security and old age pensions.

Sloan warned G. M. C. employes that "class strife or economic shackles can break the company up or retard its progress. He appealed to workers to use their own judgment rather than trusting to those who have "no experience in anything but oratory."

G. M. C. had 211,712 employes at the end of 1935.

Sloan said that wages and salaries paid by G. M. C. during 1937 will be the highest ever paid by the corporation.

NEW PACKING PLANT IS OPENED AT ALBANY

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Observing the 100th anniversary of its founding, Albany today paid tribute to its newest industry, the modern Cudahy packing plant, as part of its week-long centennial progam, which was formally opened today.

Hundreds of visitors toured the plant, termed by company officials "the world's most modern packing house," and inspected its equipment, particularly the glass bricks which form an integral part of its windowless construction. The building is air-conditioned.

A testimonial dinner for the packing company officials, headed by E. A Cudahy Jr., of Chicago, president of the company, was the high spot of tonight's program. Cudahy was the principal speaker. Dr. Milton P. Jarnagin, head of animal husbandry department of the State College of Agriculture, also spoke.

Establishment of the packing plant here has been coupled with the increasing livestock movement in most sections of Georgia. The new plant incorporates the latest devices for meat curing and packing.

Dr. Jarnagin in his speech hailed the new Cudahy packing plant as a "symbol of the great benefits" to be derived from livestock.

He said the income from livestock in the state had increased 29.9 per cent in 1935 over 1934, while the gross income of Georgia farmers increased 14.1 per cent and the income from cotton, including the seed and benefit payments, was 4.4 per cent.

He said livestock brought in approximately 75 cents for each dollar derived from cotton, cottonseed and benefit payments.

"COLIC IS A PAIN TO ME"

"Call me a cry baby if you want to. But crying is the only way I have of letting you know I've got colic pains that hurt. Gas and sour stomach almost always give me colic. My mamma has gone to the drug store for TEETHINA, because she knows TEETHINA is a mild, gentle laxative that will cleanse my little stomach of irritating waste. This relieves my pain and relaxes my little body so I can get some good, natural sleep. Another good thing about TEETHINA is that twelve nice-tasting powders cost only 30¢. Mamma also gives me TEETHINA when I'm temporarily constipated and when the wrong kind of food makes me run off my bowels."

BETTE TO APPEAL LONDON VERDICT

Star Says Lots of Other Picture People Will Quit If She Wins.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Bette Davis, blond American film star, today decided to fight back against the court decision barring her from appearing in a prospective British film.

Her counsel notified Warner Brothers, who brought the original action against her because she was under contract to them, of intention to file an appeal in high court tomorrow.

In giving notice of the appeal, the counsel said he would ask a "most speedy" re-hearing of the case on the general legal grounds that the court's decision was unfair to Miss Davis.

Miss Davis went into seclusion in Rottingdean apparently undecided whether to attend the hearing and use her "thought power" at close range in the court or to use it from Rottingdean, 60 miles from London.

Earlier she asserted "If I had won, lots of people in Hollywood would just walk out."

NEW INFLUENZA SERUM IS 100 PCT. EFFECTIVE

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The first vaccine for flu has been tried on 30 human beings with 100 per cent success at the Rockefeller Institute in New York.

One obstacle still puzzling the Rockefeller Institute medical scientists is nearly indisputable proof, recently found, that flu is not one disease but possibly two or three.

Thomas Francis Jr., M. D., of the Rockefeller Institute, described the influenza vaccine. It is made in the laboratory from highly purified flu virus, the "agent" which causes the disease.

How complete this immunity is and how long it lasts in mice or men is still unknown. But in the human being two months after vaccination the immunity indications are both strong and undiminished.

STATE DEATHS

FLETCHER CARTER.

ROME, Ga., Oct. 20.—Flecher Carter, 53, passed away yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. S. A. Brown, on the Cedartown highway. Mr. Carver had been ill for many months. He was born and raised in Floyd county and spent his entire life here. He was a member of the South Lindale Church of God and had been since the founding of the church.

Surviving are his sister, Mrs. Brown three brother, L. N. Carver and W. H. Carver, of Six-Mile Station, and B. F. Carver, of south Georgia.

The funeral was held this morning from the Mispah Methodist church with Rev. P. S. Dowdy officiating and interment was in the Mispah cemetery.

JOHNNIE SUE BRYAN.

ROME, Ga., Oct. 20.—Johnnie Sue Bryan, 21-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bryan, died Sunday morning at the home of her parents, near Rome.

Besides the parents the baby is survived by two brothers, Jack and Bennie Bryan and one sister, Margaret Bryan.

Funeral serices were conducted Sunday afternoon from the graveside in Oakland cemetery with Rev. O. E. Rutland, pastor of the North Broad street Baptist church officiating.

F. B. HINTON.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 20.—Funeral services for F. B. Hinton, soft drink manufacturer, who died yesterday, were held this afternoon with Rev. E. L. Hill, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was in Oconee cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, two grandsons, George S. Williams Jr. and Hinton Williams, and a son-in-law, George A. Williams Sr.

Mr. Hinton was stricken ill as he got into his car at the close of business yesterday preparatory to going home. He was rushed to a hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival. He had been in ill health for some time.

Governor Perry, of Virginia, is one of 10 governors in the United States who has both a bachelor's and advanced degree.

BERRYTON CHILD BURNS TO DEATH

Four-Year-Old Boy Perishes as Shed and Home Are Razed.

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Oct. 20.—The 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Waites was burned to death in a fire which partially destroyed the Waites home and woodshed at Berryton, three miles south of here, late yesterday afternoon.

The child was playing alone in the woodshed in the rear of the home, when, in some manner, the shed caught on fire, the flames quickly igniting the residence. The child was trapped in the burning woodshed and burned to death before being discovered.

The child is survived by its parents and several brothers and sisters.

SUITS AGAINST SON OF F. D. R. SETTLED

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Two civil suits totaling $30,000 against Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr., based on an automobile accident in 1934, have been settled in favor of the plaintiffs for the nominal sum of $1, superior court records showed today.

Mrs. Mary M. O'Leary, knocked down by the car of the President's son as she stepped from a curb, had sought $25,000. Her husband asked $5,000 for medical expenses.

Young Roosevelt, Harvard College student, was fined $20 for operating an unregistered vehicle, but exonerated of blame by the registry of motor vehicles.

He asserted the roadway was slippery but Mrs. O'Leary contended he was "negligent and unskillful."

MILLION-DOLLAR PLANT TO LOCATE AT ALBANY

Hosiery Mill To Employ 250 Operators, Trade Board Announces.

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Negotiations have been successfully terminated with New York manufacturers to place in Albany a large, full-fashioned hosiery mill, the building and equipment of which will represent an investment of $550,000, it was reported today by W. B. Haley, president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, and C. Q. Wright, chairman of the industrial committee of that organization.

Chamber of Commerce officials reported that committees are far enough on their way in solicitation of pledges to guarantee the success of this project.

The new plant will employ from 200 to 250 operators, most of whom will be high school boys and girls. Under the terms of agreement which has been reached, as soon as the first unit, which is hoped will be put into operation in 90 days, attains its maximum capacity, a second unit of like size will be added. The annual pay roll of the completed plant, with an investment of more than a million dollars, will amount to $500,000.

INFORMATION SOUGHT ON HALL COUNTY BOY

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 20.—Aid has been requested in the search for Amos Woody, 21-year-old Hall county youth, who disappeared from this city on August 26. He is believed to have left for Dublin with some cotton pickers.

Woody weighs about 140 pounds, is five feet 6 inches tall, with gray eyes and dark brown curly hair.

Any clues as to his whereabouts are asked to be sent to Mrs. Nora Woody, Talmo, Ga., Route 1.

33D ANNUAL FAIR TO OPEN IN WALKER

Horse Show Will Be Added Feature of LaFayette Exposition.

LAFAYETTE, Ga., Oct. 20.—The Walker county Fair will open the 33d annual session Thursday morning and continue until Saturday night.

A number of new features have been added to the fair this year, the most important one being a horse show, which will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Sixth cavalry of Fort Oglethorpe will bring some horses to the show, which will be used to give demonstrations. Fay B. Murphy, well-known livestock dealer of this county, will be in charge of the horse show.

The breeding of thoroughbred stock is growing more and more in this county and some excellent stock will be exhibited at the fair this year.

HELEN KELLER'S TUTOR, MRS. ANNE MACY, DIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The woman who gave half a century of her life to Helen Keller, brought speech and comparative sight to America's noted deaf mute author and lecturer, died today as she had lived—still holding her famous pupil's hand.

The end of the devotion of Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy for the girl who conquered eternal darkness came early this morning in the home they shared with Miss Polly Thomson. Miss Keller's secretary, at Forest Hills, on Long Island. Mrs. Macy was 70 years old.

Years ago, Mrs. Macy taught Miss Keller to "read" by "writing" words on the blind girl's palm with her finger-tips. A miracle of education and patience later gave Miss Keller the power to speak, even to read, as she became one of the most famous women of the past decades.

SENTENCES OF DEATH COMMUTED FOR TWO

Governor Talmadge commuted to life imprisonment yesterday the death sentences of Sammie Armstrong, [illegible] and F. M. Miles, 18, of Whitfield county, who were scheduled to die in the electric chair October 30.

They were convicted of killing two companions in a woods brawl November 7, 1934, in the north end of Whitfield county. The victims were Herman O'Donald, 19, and Harrison Hesun, 46.

Carlton Mobley, the Governor's executive secretary, said the Governor acted because of "the extreme youth of the defendants and the fact the killing took place during a general drunken brawl."

EX-BANKER BEGINS TERM IN PRISON

R. L. McClain, Former Head of Jasper Institution, Pleads Guilty.

JASPER, Ga., Oct. 20.—(AP)—R. L. McClain, 63, former president of the Pickens County Bank, began serving a sentence of three to five years today after pleading guilty to charges of embezzlement and forgery.

M. E. McWhorter, clerk of court, said there was one charge alleging embezzlement and another charging forgery. McClain, he said, was sentenced to three to five years on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

Sentence was imposed yesterday and McClain was taken to state prison at Milledgeville last night, the clerk said.

The Pickens County Bank was closed by the State Banking Department October 12, 1934. It is now in process of liquidation. McWhorter said. The clerk said the indictment charged embezzlement of "several thousand dollars."

'PRO-DRYS' SCORED BY JAKE RUPERT

Ball Club Head Declares $930,000,000 Paid to U.S. in Beer Taxes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Colonel Jacob Ruppert, head man of the New York Yankees' ball club and president of the United States Brewers' Association, assailed wht he called "professional drys" today.

"With our own house in order we realize that once again our industry is being attacked by a group which finds it profitable to proceed against us with well-organized, highly efficient and well-financed organizations—I refer to the professional dry element.

"Let us not for one moment deceive ourselves. The army of drys is a mercenary army; there is money in prohibition."

Pointing out that since return of legalized beer the brewing industry has paid $930,000,000 in taxes into federal and state treasuries, "or 7 per cent of the total federal income,"

GEORGIA CCC CAMPS HAVE EMPLOYED 38,492

Total of $32,438,000 Spent in State Since 1933, Capital Report Shows.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A summary of emergency conservation activities since April, 1933, showed today the Civilian Conservation Corps had employed 38,492 Georgians and spent $32,438,000 in the state.

Officials of the CCC reported there has been 34,499 workers and 3,993 persons in the non-enrolled personnel. The average enrollment during August was 8,682, although the August 31 total was 11,605.

They estimated dependents of enrolled workers had received $6,715,000 during the 41 months. Of the $30 monthly allowance, each enrollee allots $22 to $25 to dependents.

On October 1, the CCC was operating 40 camps in Georgia—nine in national forests, 10 in private forests, nine of soil conservation projects, one in a national monument, one in a military park, six in state parks, and four on military reservations.
